Societies Officer Foreword

Societies play a vital role in shaping our students as capable, contributing and active citizens able to play key roles in our world's future. Not only do they add to the social, cultural environment of the university. They also provide real, meaningful learning opportunities in the chosen academic fields through workshops, guest speakers and mentor support. They enable their members to fully engage with the university and thereby create an environment in which the students fully participate in campus life, avail of the academic opportunities and achieve academic excellence. Societies enhance the student experience, they aid retention, promote institute loyalty, create communities, challenge ideas, open minds, raise awareness, and foster friendships.

Societies through their partnership with external organisations and communities afford their members an opportunity to volunteer, travel, engage, experientially learn, and understand the power of one, the importance of challenging negative behaviours and stereotyping and an awareness and understanding of global issues. Regarding employability there was a clear correlation between the skills identified as 'shortfalls' by GradIreland in a survey of employers and the skills the students identified that they had learnt through societies as part of their Society Leadership and Alive application. (Leadership Report page 5)

560 Society members completed their ALIVE Certificate, The total number of hours volunteered by society ALIVE participants is 104445 which is the equivalent of 60 full time workers and only represents a percentage of the total number of students on committees. 239 received the society leadership award as part of their Alive Cert.

To appreciate their impact here are some of our statistics which can be seen in full detail in the report. This year 107 societies completed their end of year report. We saw a number of new societies formed. The Societies had an income of €940,948 of this only 19.91% came from the University in direct grants. They raised €222,470 for charity. Societies posted 2290 events on the societies' calendar and including committee meetings held 4051 events. They had a total membership of 55,672 which represents 8,755 individual students.

Societies won numerous national awards including four Awards at the BICS National Society Awards, the two Best Society awards, for Med Soc and Draiocht, Best Intervarsity Potter Fest for Potter Soc and Best Fresher for Ciaran MacChoncarraige. NUI Galway has more awards at BICS than any other college in Ireland and hosted the first BICS train Your Trainer Weekend. In the appendices you will find out more information about the society themed weeks, involvement in orientation, society and BICS awards, their great press coverage and society training.

Read on and hear in their own words in their individual about their year, the goals they set and how they felt they achieved them. You will see their lists of all the events they posted to the society calendar, how they fared financially, membership details and which of them received the ALIVE certificate. Welcome to the societies year 2015/16 happy reading.

Society Leadership Report 2015/16

The Leadership Award

How does the awards work?

The Leadership programme is open to all society committee members.

There are 4 easy steps

Setting the Society Goals and individual goals (step 1)

Fulfilling the requirements to be a society (step 2)

Reflecting (step 3)

Receiving Recognition and accreditation (step 4)

See the link below of how to participate in the programme, please note it is an integral part of being a society and is mandatory to receive funding so be sure to complete step 1 before you budget will be approved. Budget deadline Oct 15th.

Leadership Certificate

Committee members can add 'Society Leadership Award' to their ALIVE Certificate.

Instruction for the Societies:

Step 1

Step 1: Setting your goals (do this now)

Hold a committee meeting

1. Identify any outstanding training needs,
2. All who attended training must fill in the training feedback survey.
3. Create your society mission statement
4. What are your societies goals and objectives for the year
5. Fill in the on line form
6. Each of you committee members identify one or more learning outcomes they hope to achieve this year. Fill in the individual committee members goals for the year.

Step 2

Step 2: Be a Society

Have a great productive year and complete the following:

Your society must:

- Complete the leadership programme
- Submit all events to the society calendar
- Receipt expenditure and balance account on an on-going basis
- Host at least 4 events each semester
- Have over 100 members
- Have an up to date constitution on your profile (appendix 4)
- Have a society safety statement on your profile
- Have at least 4 people on your committee
- Complete your ALIVE application

Use this opportunity to also

- Up-date your constitution as appropriate
- Prepare and submit your budget
- Complete your safety statement and up load a pdf version to your profile.

Step 3 Reflection

Society committee:

At the end of the year hold a final meeting before you AGM, reflect on your year, on what goals and objectives you achieved, what you are most proud of and what the major challenges were.

Complete your society end of year reports and hold an AGM to elect a new committee.

Individual Committee members:

Individuals complete your Alive Application portfolio

Take the short survey

Step 4: Recognition & Accreditation

Leadership Certificate

Your Society must complete all steps of the leadership programme by the ALIVE deadline.

You must attend at least one society training session.

Fill in your Alive Application including completing the survey.

See full details at this link: Leadership Programme

What do our students learn through societies?

The Societies leadership programme is in its second year. 719 committee members participated an 11% increase on participants from last year. 87% stated that in their opinion their society had completely or to a significant degree achieved the goals they set at the beginning of the year.

1. In your opinion, did your society achieve the goals you all set at the start of the year?

	Yes completely	To a significant degree	Somewhat	No, but they were overly ambitious	Not at all	Other
In your opinion, did your society achieve the goals you all set at the start of the year?	287 (39.92%)	336 (46.73%)	78 (10.85%)	6 (0.83%)	8 (1.11%)	4 (0.56%)

The committee members were also asked to set themselves personal goals as part of the society committee and to reflect on these at the end of the end of the year. 82.5% stated that in their opinion they had completely or to a significant degree achieved the goals they set at the beginning of the year.

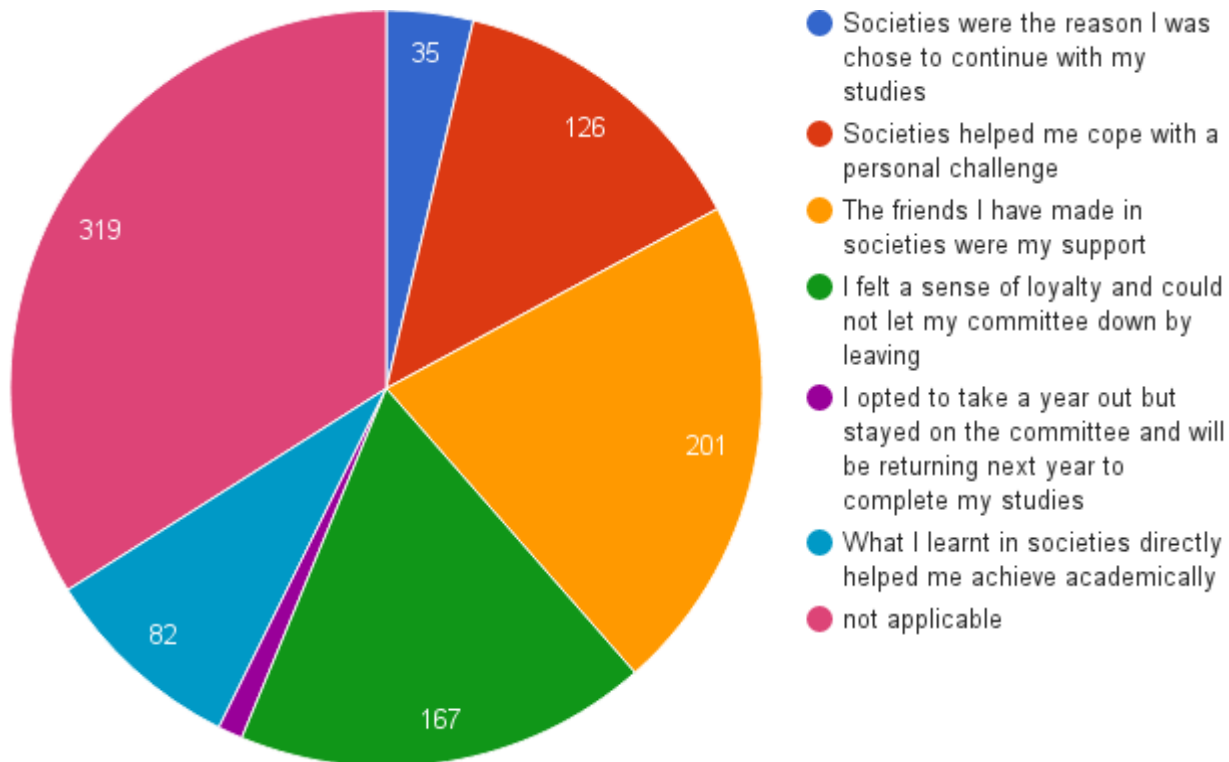

2. Did you achieve your personal goals and objectives?

	Yes, completely	To a significant degree	Somewhat	No, but they were overly ambitious	Not at all	Other
Did you achieve your personal goals and objectives?	303 (42.14%)	291 (40.47%)	100 (13.91%)	9 (1.25%)	11 (1.53%)	5 (0.7%)

The figures below show the % of the total respondents.

3. If at any stage during the year you contemplated leaving the college, or felt yourself under significant pressure personally or academically, to what degree did your involvement in societies help you cope?

If at any stage during the year you contemplated leaving the college, or felt yourself under significant pressure personally or academically, to what degree did your involvement in societies help you cope?	The friends I have made in societies were my support	I felt a sense of loyalty and could not let my committee down by leaving	Societies helped me cope with a personal challenge
	201 (29.47%)	167 (24.49%)	126 (18.48%)
	What I learnt in societies directly helped me achieve academically	Societies were the reason I was chose to continue with my studies	I opted to take a year out but stayed on the committee and will be returning next year to complete my studies
	82 (12.02%)	35 (5.13%)	10 (1.47%)

Employability, Student Experience, Campus Loyalty and Learning.

The next question explored the contribution that societies made to the committee members college experience. A significant number saw the value of societies for providing them with life skills and improving their employability. Of the total number of respondents 56% learnt a new skill, 48% believed it would help them get a job and 52 (7.62%) chose a new career path.

Societies again were seen as a vital component an overall contentment with the college experience, 31% made their best friends, 13% identified themselves as members of a minority group who found a sense of belonging. 48% found societies kept them busy with lots of things to do and this busyness kept 27% of them focused and helped in all aspects of their life.

As far as institutional loyalty and positive fond memories as alumni societies also play a significant role. 46% believe they will have great memories of their time in college and 43% feel a strong sense of belonging to the University because of societies.

6% found that while the society work was fine conflict within the committee made life difficult. As part of training we provide workshops on dealing with conflict and provide meditation and support throughout the year. Dealing with conflict and understanding team dynamics and the leadership skills necessary to motivate people, keep a team focused and productive, while being nurturing and supportive of its members is a core part of the training. For many committee members this will be the first time they have leadership roles and societies provide a vital learning environment to hone these vital skills. That only 6% referred to conflict as a problem given the level of the workload coming up to major events, the inexperience of many of the committee members and the vast array of personalities involved is a treatment of the calibre of our students and the supports we have in place for the societies. The leadership programme expressly asks societies and their committee members to think about and plan their aims and goals at the start of the year which may be a contributing factor in the general level of satisfaction with the experience. Happily only 4.4% if they could start the year over would not take up a committee position again and by looking at the particular circumstances and personalities involved for this particular cohort much can be learnt about team dynamics and leadership skills and what does and does not work.

18% felt the workload interfered with their studies compared with 24% last year. We asked the students at this year's training to think about why this was the perception of almost a quarter of respondents the previous year, A number of committee members, who had said this last year were able to shed some light. One reason was the timing of the survey close to exams where anything extraneous at that particular time was seen as a distraction. To counteract this we encouraged members to complete the survey earlier this year. Part of the leadership programme training is also to encourage time management, delegation and the importance of balance and 42 less committee members this year felt that their studies were interfered with. It is to be noted in the last question 12% felt it had helped them. There is also the question to be asked of the institution, in how we define learning because as we can see from the next question learning opportunities are not only confined to the classroom and it would be a pity that students who are having life changing and enhancing experiences are not perceiving them as valuable but are rather feeling guilty about the time spent away from what they perceive as the real learning. Our next research will need to be looking at how students engaged in positive extracurricular activities with real tangible learning outcomes perform academically and how successful they are in their exams.

What Committee members learn

Societies provide important learning opportunities for their committee members. Most identified Team Work and Communication as a skill they learnt. With the next five top skill being: Organisation, event management, leadership, time management, setting and achieving goals. Over 50% learnt interpersonal skills, self-motivation, Over 40% identified understanding and appreciating difference, public speaking, problem solving, open-mindedness and creativity as skills gained and 42% honed an existing skill. Almost 30% learnt conflict resolution, over 20% learnt financial management. Managing their own learning and an awareness of global issues. One of the themed weeks in the societies' calendar is Global Week. Only .73% felt they had learnt none of the above and one student identified IT skills where was not on the list.

According to Gradireland

'Employers will always say that they want the best graduates for their organisation, although what that means in practice can vary. We surveyed top graduate recruiters for the gradireland Graduate Salary & Graduate Recruitment Trends Survey 2013 and one of the questions we asked was about their selection criteria. It's still true that employers expect high academic achievements, with many specifying either a 2.1 or a 2.2 as a minimum. But equally important was the ability to demonstrate key 'competencies': the skills that are needed for working – rather than academic – life.

What employers say

Graduates today are entering a highly competitive jobs market; as a result it is more important than ever to truly own your own career. Think about the qualifications, skills and attributes you believe are your greatest asset and consider these when researching your career options. At interview, it is essential that you sell your skills and experiences. Don't hold back on showing the interviewer your enthusiasm for pursuing your chosen career path. Rose Mary Hogan, Resourcing Manager, Deloitte.

Employability skills defined

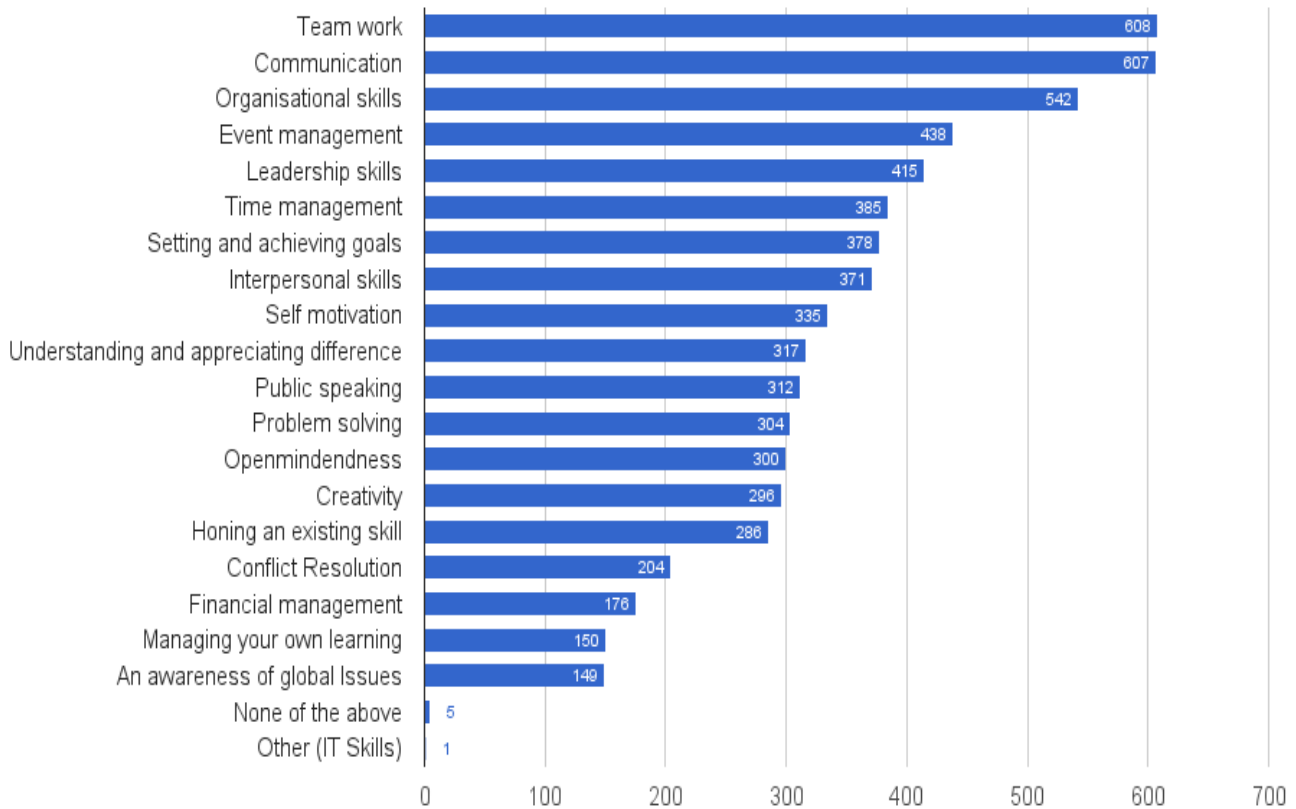

- Soft skills: personal qualities, eg problem solving, communication skills.
- Hard skills: skills that can be taught, eg writing, numeracy.
- Knowledge-based skills: specialist knowledge in areas such as business or science.
- Transferable skills: a skill you have learnt in one context, eg university, that can be used in another, eg work. Particularly important at graduate level where you may not have experience of the job that you are applying for.'

<https://gradireland.com/careers-advice/cvs-and-applications/what-recruiters-want>

According to Gradireland the key competencies recruiters look for are an ability to implement a plan, communication, team player, team working, coping and adaptability, lifelong learning, exploring opportunities, initiative, interpersonal, leadership potential, negotiation, decision making, political awareness, problem-solving, self-awareness, self-confidence, an awareness of own strengths, self-reliant and an ability to transfer these skills to new contexts. These are all skills committee members learn in abundance organising events, motivating teams, promoting their societies, attracting members, operating in an honest transparent manner and ensuring continuity of their society.

This year societies organised 2835 events and posted them to the society calendar. They had a total membership of 48685, over 8000 individual students as members, 1063 people on committees they had an income of almost one million euro and raised over €200,000 for charity.

Do students choose NUI Galway because of Societies?

We know that societies add to campus life and also contribute to the local community and the wider world. They also arrange many outreach programmes and engage with students in second level. For example the Muisical society attend all the second level musicals and hold an award ceremony on campus at the end of the year and was attended by 400 students and hosted in the Bailey Allen Hall. So it is very heartening to discover that for 30 committee members it was the deciding factor in their choice of University, and for 29% it was an influencing factor.

7. Prior to enrolling in NUI Galway, did your knowledge of societies in NUI Galway influence you choice of college in any way? 1 - Not at all, 5 - It was the deciding factor

	1	2	3	4	5

Society Training

We run a weekend of training in September including a day away for Auditors and follow on with on-going training workshops throughout the year plus on going one-to-one training and support. It is encouraging to see that the unhelpful scores are very low it is interesting to note that the highest 'unhelpful' experience was for people who did not avail of any training. The majority of attendees scored 4 and 5 with on-line supports getting the least 4 and 5s. The most successful training identifies were one-to-one with the SocsBox and Societies Officer and an experienced committee member. The feedback is very helpful for reviewing our training and we are launching a new website with new on line training this year and will continue to encourage as many committee memebtrs as possible to avail of the training available to maximise their learning potential.

What they had to say about their society experience

My own interpersonal skills have improved and I'm finding that I am able to express myself and my opinions to others better as a result of being a part of this committee.

I became more organised and my communication with new people became better, I can now talk to complete strangers without as much worry.

I felt that my time on the committee helped me become a more caring and honest person, and I was able to help the society grow over the year.

Maintaining a level head, compromising and keeping everyone happy is a balancing act and I felt I have achieved that to the highest level I could this year.

I have improved my management and leadership skill set, all while assisting my fellow students by improving their educational experience. I have made fantastic friends and thoroughly enjoyed myself.

The thing I have learned that stands out for me personally is the importance of voicing ideas and opinions in a group environment. When everyone can contribute equally to the group, it is a clear success. I have learned the equal importance of being both a leader and a follower - both are essential to harmonious group work. This creates a team that capitalises on the strengths and minimises the weaknesses of each individual member.

Overall, I can honestly say that taking on a leadership role in the society was honestly one of the best decisions I have made during my college years here in NUIG.

I feel as though I have improved my time management skills and organisational skills by having to make time for college work as well as time for the Society. I also feel that my time with the Society will benefit me not just in my everyday life but also in my career when I leave NUIG.

I have developed patience and learn to work as a team. It gave me opportunities to unlock my potential and help me to grow as an all rounded person.

It has been both an enlightening and character building experience. It has taught me to become self-sufficient and to take action on my own initiative rather than to wait for instruction. The Society had a large impact on my life this year and has only made me more determined to continue with my studies.

Since the beginning of the year I have seen a vast improvement in my own confidence speaking and how I conduct myself around others. I believe that my management skills have also vastly improved, dealing with other students it can be hard to motivate them as there can be little incentive to do so. If you don't believe in the event or cause then the team behind you won't.

One of the highlights has been getting to know the people on the committee. I believe that I have learned a lot about myself this year, as well as about being part of running a fairly significantly sized organisation. I have developed my social skills, my time management skills and have learned more about what the types of things I would like to be involved with in the future. I have made some really great friends who I would not have been able to make if it had not been for societies!

Through my involvement in this society I have gained some extremely valuable experiences. I have learned the true value of team work and how important it is to help one another in order to achieve goals. If we had not been able to work as well together as we did, we would never have achieved so much. Whilst working as a committee member I also gained some great friendships that I will have forever and memories that will last me a lifetime. After my experience on the committee I would encourage anyone who goes to college to get involved in a society as it is such an incredible rewarding experience.

Individual Society Reports

African Caribbean Society

The African Caribbean Society built a community for many students this year to express themselves. We were able to accomplish many of our goals as a group to showcase our diverse culture and traditions to the wider community of Galway. We were able to attract other societies such as Dansoc and Art Soc to have collaborations! We aim to build a home for many students of various background to come together and appreciate their diversity.

Mission Statement

The Nuig African Caribbean society aims to enlighten the college community about the customs and to invoke appreciation for the rich culture of African and Caribbean nations. We aim to create a platform for African and Caribbean students at NUIG to come together in educating and encouraging cultural appreciation within the NUIG community, colleagues and staff, through varieties of events

Aims, Objectives & Goals

The aim of the Society is to represent a positive image of Africa and the Caribbean.

To reveal the identity of the various cultures in both Africa and the Caribbean as well as celebrate the diversity of all our cultures.

To embrace histories and be positive ambassadors of our nations.

And, mostly importantly, to develop a community for all nationalities to commune in whilst having tons of fun!

Society Performance Reflection

This year we were able to fulfil all our aims for the year. We did exceptional in having events with many corporations outside of college, like Shoe Muzik, BME, R-Entertainment and various artists. We had a total of 22 events and all went according to plan

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Yes we achieved many of it. Our main aim this year was to communicate with the outside community which we accomplished through sponsorship and having events collaborations with various organisations.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success was bringing all our ideas and aims for AfroFest to completion. I felt that the AfroFest event we held in March was a huge huge milestone for the society! It was one the very first events we had planned to have when the idea of starting the society was first brought up and were so proud to have planned it this year. We were able to accomplish everything we had envisioned for the show with a great turnout and brilliant reviews afterwards.

Greatest Challenge

Our greatest challenge again this year was communication. We lacked somewhat in this area and it affected some of our plans and drew us back in organisation.

Society Performance Reflection

Our society was successful in creating a name for itself by attracting 75 students in its first semester. Our first game has been organised for Saturday April 9th and we intend this game to be the first of many.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

As a brand new society our key aim was to make a name for ourselves and we achieved this goal. Next year we are aiming bigger, to hold more games and potentially create a team that could compete in intervarsities.

Greatest Success

The number of people that joined on par with having our first game in our first semester.

Greatest Challenge

Advertising to attract new players that have not yet played the game.

Individual Committee Members - End of Year Reflection (April 2016)

Completed by 4 committee members.

Other Information

We held 4 committee meetings during the year. We have not held our AGM yet. Our total membership stands at 76 members. 5 committee members have completed the end of year survey.

Mission Statement

Our mission statement is to promote sport of American Football.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

We aim to run a number of American Football themed social events. Our main goal for the year is to attain full society status.

Society Performance Reflection

We would rate our performance around a C grade. We were a social outlet for fans of American football, and met for each Sunday gameday, as well as introduce new players to the sport. We were a little unlucky with some of our plans falling through but in hindsight there wasn't a huge amount we could have done differently. In our rookie season, we laid a good foundation to build on next year and most importantly, learned some good lessons for the future.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We succeeded in

- running weekly meet ups to watch live NFL American Football throughout the NFL season and Playoffs
- being a social outlet for fans of American Football and visiting American students
- introducing new people to the sport as fans and players.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success was our weekly meet ups. They were one of our core objectives and were managed without any financial input on our part.

Greatest Challenge

Our greatest challenge was communication, between committee members and with businesses. Getting a straight answer, accurate information, or even just any reply at all was extremely challenging at times.

Individual Committee Members - Hopes & Aspirations (September 2015)

Completed by 7 committee members

Other Information

We held 6 committee meetings during the year and we have held our AGM. Our total membership stands at 340 members. 3 committee members have completed the end of year survey.

Amnesty Society

Amnesty International is the world's biggest human rights organisation, with more than 2.2 million members. Amnesty International is independent of any government, political party, or religion. Amnesty International wants to see a world in which all people enjoy the rights enshrined in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and other international human rights standards.

Amnesty Society at NUIG contributes aims to achieve this goal in two main ways:

By promoting awareness of human rights: primarily throughout the university. As well as campaigning on the issues of the day we are building a close knit network of students through fun events and activities. This varies from movie nights, discussions led by key activists, twists on traditional movie nights: think corporately responsible monopoly and human rights themed Scrabble!! The areas we have focused on include mental health, the death penalty, LGBTI rights, women's rights, migrants rights, and homelessness.

Mission Statement

To highlight at NUIG the research and activities being undertaken to end rights abuses internationally.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

To establish Amnesty Soc as a prevalent society on campus by creating a strong network of students from a variety of fields and equipping them with knowledge of rights abuses and how to prevent their continuation.

Society Performance Reflection

We think we have established Amnesty from where it was when we took control back at the start of the academic year. We have gotten members from all aspects of the college from arts degrees human rights, law degrees, science degree, Postgraduate/Masters students. We think we have also begun to spread the message of Amnesty and have made contacts/ coordinated with other societies surrounding events within the college.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We think we did achieve our aims. We were successful with organising our own events within the college and also with the Amnesty Galway Group. We think we have begun to spread the message of amnesty but are enthusiastic about our future events.

Greatest Success

We think our greatest success was our first event. The event "Refugee information evening" had a lot of promises made and stuff organised and then cancelled very last minute but we still managed to hold a successful event for a committee that had only been working together for a short period of time.

Greatest Challenge

We think that our greatest challenges involved just the running of a society. We were all new members and were learning a lot. We found that we didn't get to complete some of the events we wanted to do but hopefully with more efficient planning that this can help next year.

Individual Committee Members - Hopes & Aspirations (September 2015)

We held 25 committee meetings during the year and we have held our AGM. Our total membership stands at 354 members. 8 committee members have completed the end of year survey.

Anime and Manga Society

As a society we provide a forum for Anime, Manga, Foreign Film, Cosplay and Japanese Culture. We have anime screenings every Thursday and have other events running throughout the year. This year for the first time we have started an event called Card Games, our members get together and play many different card games that are from Japanese Anime. We have also had various co-op nights with other societies and even a multi-co-op night with many societies. And also for the first time a co-op with a sports club, which was the Kendo Club, they gave us a powerful demonstration of their skills as swordsmen. We also have our sixth year of the convention Akumakon, it went great and we were able to raise more this year for charity, the charity chosen for this year was Cancer West Ireland.

Synopsis: In a faraway future, mankind lives underground in huge caves, unknowing of a world above with a sky and stars. In the small village of Jiha, Simon, a shy boy who works as a digger discovers a strange glowing object during excavation. The enterprising Kamina, a young man with a pair of rakish sunglasses and the passion of a fiery sun, befriends Simon and forms a small band of brothers, the Gurren Brigade, to escape the village and break through the ceiling of the cave to reach the surface, which few believe exist. The village elder won't hear of such foolishness and punishes the Brigade. However, when disaster strikes from the world above and the entire village is in jeopardy, it's up to Simon, Kamina, a girl with a big gun named Yoko, and the small yet sturdy robot, Lagann, to save the day. The new friends journey to the world above and find that the surface is a harsh battlefield, and it's up to them to fight back against the rampaging Beastmen to turn the tide in the humans' favor! Pierce the heavens, Gurren Lagann!

Mission Statement

The mission of the society is to create an environment where people can enjoy Anime and Manga and embrace Japanese culture.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

The aims, objectives and goals of the Society shall be:

- To provide a forum to promote Anime movies, Manga comic books, Japanese games and Japanese culture as a whole
- To hold regular screenings of Anime television shows, movies and animated shorts
- To show Asian cinema as a whole
- To promote the reading of Manga
- To travel to Anime/Manga conventions as well as any other relevant Asian cultural events
- To organize the annual "Akumakon" Anime and Manga Convention

Society Performance Reflection

We did pretty well this year for the most part. We had a very productive year in the society with a number of events and plenty of activity. In our fun and exciting fashion, the Anime and Manga Society were able to get in a number of new members and get our message across to a wider audience in the college. We showed a wider range of new Animes and Japanese shows that many people enjoyed. We also had a Kendo demo given by the Kendo club. This was the first time we had interacted with a club. Overall the society had a busy and excellent year.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We achieved the majority of our aims and objectives over the society year. We were able to spread Japanese culture through a Kendo demonstration. In regards to members we were able to increase our numbers on both society days and at a number of events there was regular attendance. For joint events we were able to join up with a number of NUIG societies and create bigger and better nights.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success would have to be the new regulars that our society have gained through the year from events that interested the student body.

Greatest Challenge

Our greatest challenge was getting the new members of the committee to attend committee meetings and do the duties of their roles on the committee.

Other Information

We held 26 committee meetings during the year and we have held our AGM. Our total membership stands at 455 members. 13 committee members have completed the end of year survey.

Arch Soc

As a whole the committee worked very well through term 1, however coming into term 2, constructive participation and communication issues occasionally hampered the smooth running of the society. This may also be reflected in the dwindling numbers to events, lectures and the field trip organised for semester 2. The Auditor's report commented on the excellent turn out to organised activities during term 1 and noted the dwindling numbers/interest by term 2. It would be in the best interest of the society to brainstorm ideas to keep interest going throughout the year and to establish within the committee clear lines of communication and action regarding roles and 'go to' people. Those of the committee who are the public face of the Arch Soc should be supported by the committee as active liaisons with the college at large to raise the profile of the committee, perhaps electing a first year rep. to assist in peer-to-peer communications. Planning is also a key issue that needs to be addressed in the coming year, especially during term 2 when academic workloads can become demanding and finally to also ensure the effective and enjoyable running of the Archaeology Society.

Revealing the Hidden Archaeology Submerged Beneath the Connemara Coastline: Seminar » AC204 » 20th October 2015

Michael Gibbons will be giving us a talk on “Revealing the Hidden Archaeology Submerged Beneath the Connemara Coastline”, next Tuesday 20th October, at 7pm in AC204. Michael currently works in heritage tourism, specializing in academic and cultural tourism to the Boyne Valley and the West of Ireland. Michael has extensive experience guiding groups both at home and abroad. As well as Ireland, he has led groups in the Sinai Peninsula, SW Turkey, Peru, the Outer Hebrides and has guided for some of the leading international cultural and activity tourism companies including Butterfield and Robinson and Martin Randall Travel. He remains an archaeologist in private practice, and makes regular contributions to archaeological and historical conferences in Ireland as well as delivering lectures to local archaeological and historical societies and contributing to archaeological and maritime programmes on local and national radio. He is a member of the Nautical Archaeology Society and his current research interests include the archaeology of Irish uplands and islands, in particular the maritime pilgrimage tradition. He has carried out detailed research on some of the most important of these including Skellig Michael World Heritage Site, St MacDara's Island and Caher Island. Recent archaeological work has included mapping the intertidal zone of the Galway and North-Burren Coast with a particular focus on the prehistoric midden complexes, vernacular quays, harbours and seaweed farms.

Mission Statement

NUIG Archaeology Society is committed to furthering the interests of students as well as supporting new and diverse voices in literary and academic fields. Arch Soc is interested in the history of Ireland and the so-called Celtic world, and takes advantage of the rich landscapes in Galway and the Republic of Ireland, but it also celebrates and studies archaeologies across the globe. Furthermore, our society recognizes that it is critically important to engage with issues related to preservation, and to threatened or endangered sites and landscapes, as well as the peoples who inhabit them.

Arch Soc is an all-inclusive society, and does not discriminate against sex, gender, age, race, or creed.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

We are currently working on creating events that will bring greater membership diversity to our society -- from first-year archaeology students, to archaeology post-grads, to people who are simply interested in learning more about archaeology as a subject and practice.

Society Performance Reflection

We started off strong, we were ambitious and tenacious and our passion for archaeology was matched by no other. Unfortunately our membership did not receive the uptake we would have hoped and consequently have formed an action plan for beginning of term two to carry us forward into the next academic year 2016/2017.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Yes. We got great names in for lectures and we got the support from the staff we wanted. We maintained a sense of community throughout the year to carry us through the next year. We amended the constitution to better reflect our society and its mission statement and goals. Yes.

Greatest Success

Having a consistent lecture series.

Greatest Challenge

Encouraging undergraduate participation in the society

Art Soc

ArtSoc was an active and collaborative society this year, running frequent classes and events.

Open studio hours: We usually ran a two hour session of open hours in the art room about twice a week. These were very popular and provided a creative environment for members to meet each other and use the society's materials to work on their own artistic projects.

Classes: Many classes were held throughout the year. These included a series of still life classes in semester 1 in which members were taught using a variety of different mediums. An origami workshop was also held, as well as a highly popular pottery class in the second semester.

Events: The society was also involved in some very unique and exciting events, often working with other societies and allowing our members to incorporate different ideas and cultures in their work. We held two henna workshops, the first of which was so successful and popular that we were asked to repeat the event the night prior to Arts Ball so people could attend wearing the designs. We also collaborated with the African Caribbean Society (ACS) to produce art work, based on what Africa means to the members of both societies, that was displayed at their Afrofest event in March. We also held festive events for the holidays such as card making at Christmas and pumpkin carving for Halloween.

Mission Statement

Our mission is to provide an outlet for students and staff at NUIG to explore and express their creativity. To engage with other artists and hopefully gain some further insight into the world of art.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

To provide a space for the artist of the university to practice their art.

To provide opportunities for the exchange of ideas, techniques.

Society Performance Reflection

I think overall our society did very well. The committee got along and communicated well, and so did all the members. The committee was composed entirely of first year students this year with no prior committee experience, so we were very much learning as we went, but we were all learning together. Our lack of experience meant we occasionally met with obstacles, mostly just finding the most effective way of running events and informing our members, but I think we dealt with these things very swiftly and efficiently. The Socbox was certainly a great asset whenever we had questions, but for the most part it felt like smooth sailing.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Our first aim was to provide a space for the artists of the university. We held open studio hours almost every week to facilitate this space, so I would certainly say this aim was met. We tried to change the hours frequently to maximize the number of students who could attend, if only a few times throughout the year. We also aimed to provide opportunities for the exchange of ideas and techniques. I think our frequent classes covered this, as well as the open hours when members could share their personal techniques. Our origami workshop was even ran by our own auditor. I think we were definitely successful in our aim of providing an open, creative environment.

Greatest Success

I think one of our greatest successes was probably the Henna workshops. We just wanted to try something new, and the response was fantastic. That said, all our events, including pumpkin carving and the collaboration with ACS had wonderful turn outs, including people who weren't even members of the society. So really the greatest success was just providing people with unique creative outlets and actually seeing them take advantage of them, be inspired and produce something they may otherwise not have.

Greatest Challenge

Our greatest challenge was certainly trying to plan a trip to Dublin to visit galleries. This was simply a case where our lack of experience with event organising caused us difficulty. We definitely learned from it though, we probably should have contacted the Socs Box earlier to see if we were going about it the right way (organising transport/ funding , etc). But we got some advice in the end, and I think any and all committee members staying on into next year have developed the skills to organise even better events and excursions in the future.

Astronomy Society

This year, Astronomy Society screened a number of documentaries including episodes from Carl Sagen's "Cosmos" and Stephen Hawking's "Into the Universe". These documentaries provided a look at some of the basics as well as some of the more difficult concepts of astronomy and astrophysics through accessible means. Refreshments were provided at each of these events. At the beginning of the year we also hosted Lisa Marie Brown, a PhD student, who gave an introductory talk to astronomy. Tea and biscuits were provided for all attendees. We also had a number of collaborations with other societies. We screened the film "Apollo 13" with Baking Soc, we hosted "An Evening Under the Stars" with French Soc, and we co-hosted a speaker from Trinity College Dublin with Geos Soc. Before Christmas, we also screened episodes one to six of Star Wars before episode seven's release in December.

Astronomy Society Events list (16 Individual Events)

EGM and Cosmos !!: Social » Aras na Mac Leinn - The View » 16th September 2015

Mission Statement

To encourage an interest in astronomy and related sciences in students of the university through the use fun and educational media.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

To promote interest in astronomy, both through the use of educational documentaries and observation nights, as well as through the use of fictional works like Star Wars and Interstellar that could provoke thought about the possibilities of what could exist beyond Earth. Our objectives are to host observation evenings to allow our members to actively study the night sky and learn about it, to host informative talks and documentaries about astronomy, astrophysics and other related sciences, and to host movie nights that might draw in a larger crowd and engage them with the society.

Society Performance Reflection

Our society did quite well this year. We had a very successful first socs day, gaining over 400 new members. We also had a number of collaborations with other societies, which has been rare in previous years. We held a steady attendance at each of our documentary and film screenings throughout the year.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We achieved our aim of hosting documentary nights to educate our members about astronomy and science. We screened several episodes of Carl Sagen's "Cosmos" and Stephen Hawking's "Into the Universe". We also screened Star Wars. While they may not have been scientifically accurate, they were enjoyable and drew in a crowd that normally would not have come to an AstroSoc event, allowing us to talk to them and provoke their interest in our other events.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success this semester would be the number of collaborations with other societies. Not only was this a success because society collaborations have been rare for us before, but some of these were with societies that would not normally be associated with AstroSoc, such as BakingSoc, PotterSoc and FrenchSoc. These events attracted a bigger and more diverse crowd than we would normally reach on our own.

Greatest Challenge

The greatest challenge for this year was working with a mostly new committee to keep the society at an equal or greater level of success to previous years. The new committee worked well together however, and we feel that we maintained AstroSoc and kept its status as a great society

Mission Statement

Baking Soc aims to promote baking on campus and general cooking skills.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

We aim to hold a fun event each week.

We want to teach and improve baking skills, including healthy baking.

We aim to continue our charity work from last year as giving back to the community is a huge part of our society.

Society Performance Reflection

There were many popular events held by the baking society. Though we didn't do as well as we had hoped (we wanted to go to BICS), we inspired new members and now have a strong committee for next year.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We held many popular events during the year. The workshops (truffle making and the mug cakes) were there to teach others simple ways of non-bake baking. The cookbook we produced also provided simple recipes. We held many fundraisers and collected a significant sum of money for various charities.

Greatest Success

I don't believe there was a single greatest success but rather the overall contribution to charity by the society during the year.

Greatest Challenge

The baketastic bash.

Best Buddies

The Best Buddies society aims to create a link with Ability West and work as a liaison, giving students the opportunity to work with young adults with intellectual disabilities. Ability West is a voluntary organisation based in Galway which provides a range of person-centred, high quality, community-based services to people with intellectual disabilities and their families. Ability West will be running a programme labelled 'Best Buddies', which is an American programme founded by Anthony Kennedy Shriver in 1989. This programme will give people a chance to befriend a person with an intellectual disability.

However in relation to the society, it is not obligatory to commit to the programme and become a volunteer with Ability West, as the society's role is two-fold... to direct people who wish to volunteer in the direction of Ability West, and to raise awareness about disability around college through campaigns and events. These events can be undertaken by all members, such as speed-dating in the dark, 'Ban the R-Word' and information evenings among others. There will also be fundraisers for Ability West and other organisations and many social events, all with the ultimate goal of stripping away the connotations that lie on people with intellectual disabilities.

Best Buddies Society Events list (14 Individual Events)

Training Night: Training » ac213 » 09th November 2015

Hey Best Buddies, we have a training night on Monday 9th November for all volunteers!! This training night is only for our members who are being garda vetted and who want to volunteer with the society this year. This training is very important if you wish to continue your application process. Volunteers from last year are welcome to come to for a refresher.

Ban the 'R' Word: Health & Lifestyle » Smokies Table, Concourse » 11th November 2015

Hey everyone! Best Buddies will be hosting a table on the concourse (next to Smokey's) for Social Inclusion Week. We are hoping to get as many signatures as possible on a petition to 'Ban the 'R' Word' around campus. The labels and words we use can have a negative effect on other people's lives. Slurs and derogatory terms can also give a false impression of people with mental disabilities. We're hoping to raise more awareness about this on campus. Please sign our petition on Wednesday 11th Nov.

Best Buddies Bake Sale!: Other » Concourse Table B » 16th November 2015

Mission Statement

Our society aims to create opportunities for people with intellectual disabilities. Our society's main purpose is to allow volunteers to become a companion to a buddy with a disability and provide them with a friend or a mentor. Our main value is friendship and equality for people with intellectual disabilities.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

Our objective is to promote the issues surrounding the discrimination of people with intellectual disabilities. We also aim to create a much stronger community on campus between our volunteers. To achieve these goals we will be hosting events such as: 'Ban the R' word' campaign, training nights for our volunteers, monthly events for our volunteers and fundraisers which will also provide information on our society.

Society Performance Reflection

Our Society did very well this year. We had a very active committee that organised a lot of events for the members, both with and without the Buddies. There were very successful bake sales, table quizzes, mood boards, awareness campaigns like 'Ban the R Word' and bowling and arcade outings. Not to mention the end of year ball involving everyone from NUIG, Ability West and GMIT that volunteers within the Best Buddies program and Ability West.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

The primary focus of the Society is to work with Ability West to bring service users and students together. We achieved this again this year and even had more willing volunteers than Ability West were able to use. As such many of our members volunteered within Ability West in a different capacity to the Best Buddies program. The Society is growing and evolving and will continue to do so in coming years.

Greatest Success

The greatest success of the year has been the impact that each individual volunteer has made in the lives of the service users. The Best Buddies Society liaises with Ability West to bring about friendships that may not otherwise develop. These are small successes that build on each other and improve the lives of everyone involved. The success of the Society lies in the inclusiveness and community created, the understanding and removal of societal taboos and the gratitude and happiness that are experienced by both the volunteers and the Buddies.

Greatest Challenge

Something that the committee wished to tackle this year was creating more of a community within the university for the Society members. It was observed that few of the volunteers outside of the committee knew each other. The committee organised events for members to get to know each other such as table quizzes and bowling. These were outside of the Society's primary focus but proved very helpful in creating a sense of community and support for the members, a vital part of the Best Buddies message.

Other Information

We held 12 committee meetings during the year. We have not held our AGM yet. Our total membership stands at 436 members. 10 committee members have completed the end of year survey.

Bike Gang Society

We are an NUI Galway society for all who love cycling! The aims of the Society are to encourage cycling on campus and in Galway and to utilise The Ecospace to its full potential, as a place where cyclists and bicycle lovers can meet up. Our mission is to raise awareness of the health, social and environmental benefits of cycling. We are also concerned with cycling safety and aim to provide information on this to students. We collaborate with An Mheitheal Rothar, Galway's community bike workshop on a regular basis. Through our collaboration students have the opportunity to become more involved with local community organisations and projects.

Mission Statement

To spread the joy and culture of cycling, in all its forms!

Aims, Objectives & Goals

To raise awareness on the ecologically benefitting, economically sound, health improving and mood uplifting mode of transport that is the human powered, pedal pushed bicycle.

Society Performance Reflection

This year through our relationship with An Mheitheal Rothar a number of students were able to attend their workshops to fix their bikes. We hosted a number of 'Meet, Greet & Eat' events which allowed us to get to know what our members would like to see from us. We also participated in and helped organise the newly revived critical mass which has been great fun and had a movie screening.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Our aims, objectives and goals are fairly abstract but I believe through all our activities we are working towards raising awareness of all the wonderful things our bikes do for us (apart from just getting us from A to B).

Greatest Success

Personally I consider our greatest success as our symbiotic relationship with An Mheitheal Rothar, a number of our members attend their workshops both to fix their bikes and to volunteer and we work with them on a number of projects. I also believe that working on the revival of Critical Mass has been a great success and can't wait to see it continue to grow.

Greatest Challenge

Planning trips and probably the things which seem simplest now, organising emails, calendar and those kinds of things, just finding my feet basically.

Botany Soc

For the academic year 2015-2016 Botany Society as a whole has flourished. The 1st semester was a huge success with so many international students joining the society to the point that we had to create an international student liaison committee member. All our field trips had high numbers attending and were received incredibly well. Within the college grounds events such as our viewings of David Attenborough's Secret Life of Plants and our Grow it Yourself workshop brought lots of diversity to the activities we carried out. Between Society Days and individuals finding the society through posters and word of mouth we added over 200 new members to the society which is a huge boost to a growing society. We are also proud to have gained an affiliation with the botany department as we feel that the growing relationship between students and staff is an important part of making Botany Society stand out in the coming years.

Botany Society Events list (28 Individual Events)

"Meiosis in Cereal Crops: Dreams of a `Cereal` Killer!": Seminar » Mairin de Valera, top floor of Aras de Brun » 06th October 2015

This Tuesday the 6th we are hosting our first guest speaker Dr. Isabelle Colas, coming to us from Dundee, in the Mairin de Valera room (top of Aras de Brun). It will be starting at 6.30pm with refreshments and the talk starting at 7pm. Also, we usually all hang out once the talk is over with the afters in the Sliding Rock bar (previously the Scholars Rest). "Chromosome rearrangement or "crossing over" during meiosis is one of the key drivers of genetic diversity. However, there is still lots to understand about the process! Dr. Isabelle Colas aims to tackle fundamental questions during this process in some of the most important cereal crops in the world, including wheat and barley, in order to help future breeding strategies and boost crop yields for the future!!"We hope to see you all there :)

"The Private Life of Plants" showing + Pizza!: Arts & Culture » Anderson Lecture Theatre » 08th October 2015

This Thursday the 8th in the Cairnes Theatre on the concourse @6pm, during mental health week, we welcome everyone to have a nice chill evening to come watch one of David Attenborough`s documentaries. We will be showing the first episode "Travelling" of the series "The Private Life of Plants". This series was aired in 1995 and is an beautiful presentation of the way in which plants get from one place to the next using time-lapse photography. We hope you will all join us for this relaxing evening with this unusual documentary, Attenborough`s famous soothing voice and some free pizza, for a blooming good time! Bring your friends, everyone is welcome :)

Guest Speaker!! -Securing commercial potato production against the global pathogen Phytophthora infestans: Is genetic engineering (GM) a sustainable option?: Seminar » Mairin de Valera, top floor of Aras de Brun » 24th November 2015

We have our final guest speaker of first semester coming on the 24th of November, and it is going to be a very interesting and topical one!! The topic of GM foods is very popular at the moment so we asked Ewen Mullins to come and speak about GM food in relation to potatoes... Here is a brief description of the talk: "Potatoes are a staple food for Ireland and Europe worth over €6 billion per year however, potato blight infection caused by Phytophthora infestans is a constant threat for farmers. As a result constant fungicide sprays are needed to counteract this blight infection which adds more cost, stress and labour to the average potato farmer. At Oak park in Teagasc, Dr Ewen Mullins is leading a team to assess the agri-environmental impact of the growth of blight resistant GM potatoes in Ireland." Detail as usual: Aras de Brun (to the left of the library) Mairin de Valera seminar room=top floor!! Hippie Night: Social » Galway, Galway City, Seven Bar » 23rd February 2016

We're going down to funky town next Tuesday at the Seven bar in Galway! Slap together your best hippie costumes and get ready to boogie with the botany gang. There's finger food, games, and prizes for the best costumes! New faces always welcome! No plant-smarts needed!

Symmetry Matters in Gynoecium Development: Seminar » Máirín de Valera Seminar Room. Top floor of Áras de Brún » 01st March 2016

Botany Society are delighted to welcome Prof. Lars Østergaard of the John Innes Centre for a talk on his current latest research. The development of the female reproductive tissues is imperative for the survival and evolution of flowering plants. This process is tightly controlled by a number of factors including responses to important plant hormones like Auxin. Prof. Østergaard's work involves unravelling the mechanistic basis of Auxin on female reproductive tissue development as well as identifying key genes involved in this process.

Western Herbal Medicine - Where are we now?: Health & Lifestyle » Máirín de Valera. Áras de Brún » 08th March 2016

We are delighted to welcome Sinead Keane to talk to us about Herbal Medicine. She will tell us the history of herbal medicine, particularly in Ireland, and the relationship between modern medicine and herbal medicine. Sinead will also look at some common hedgerow plants and their medicinal uses. Refreshments will be served at 6:30. Looking forward to seeing some new faces there.

Grow It Yourself: Health & Lifestyle » Aras na Mac Leinn Foyer » 10th March 2016

If you want to learn how to grow your own food or to sustainably manage waste and compost then this is the event for you!!! We will have a stand for Wellness Week advertising our upcoming event called Grow It Yourself in the Bailey Allen Hall! This will be a collaboration of us, CCAFS and Organic Gardening soc with a company called GIY."GIY is an emerging global network of people who grow some of their own food. With the rise of diet-related illness, there has never been a more urgent need for people to grow and eat healthy food. Research has shown that when people grow some of their own food, they gain a deeper understanding of food ("food empathy"), which leads to long term dietary changes and improved mental and physical wellbeing. Founded in Ireland in 2009, each year GIY supports over 65,000 people and 1,500 community food groups and projects, inspiring and supporting people to grow food at home, school, work and in the community. The not-for-profit GIY organisation runs events and campaigns to build awareness and knowledge about food growing. If you buy a ticket you will get to be involved in a workshop on how to grow your own food!!! Along with some talks, materials and emails with tips and advice. We are very excited about this as we hope it will help people to be able to grow organic food wherever you are and get involved in getting NUIG's organic garden full of growing food!! Tickets will be on sale at our stand in the Bailey Allen Hall €10 for students and €15 for staff. They will also be on sale in the Socs Box from Monday 7th on.

IN VIVO RNA STRUCTURE PROFILING: A transformative platform reveals a new way to regulate gene expression:

Seminar » Mairin de Valera, top floor of Aras de Brun » 04th April 2016

RNA processing is an important step in the regulation of proteins. However, trying to identify the structures of these molecules is extremely difficult in vivo. Dr Ding's lab is using novel, transformative platforms to identify the structures of RNA which gives clues to how they regulate protein accumulation in plants.

Mission Statement

Botany society fulfils the role of connecting students, faculty and the public (including guest speakers) via the world of plants.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

The aims of the society this year are to make it more accessible for non-botany students in the college. We want to branch out by networking with other societies and getting in touch with other botany related groups. We want to grow as a society by increasing numbers of members and the frequency of events. This year we plan to embark on a voyage of discovery into the field of botany and become budding botanists through learning from visiting guest lecturers and plant experts within the college.

Society Performance Reflection

The society flourished this year taking on many new member and increasing the number of events carried out including mushroom hunts, guest lectures, gardening workshops and others. The size of the committee also increased with the creation of new positions within the society for international student liaisons and other important roles.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

The Grow It Yourself workshop was one of the biggest goals for society this year and after a lot of work and organisation carried out by Louise and others it was a huge success. The society's aim as a whole to become more accessible to younger students and individuals less familiar with botany was also reached as we had many more individuals from these demographics attending events this year. The new association with the botany department in Aras de Brun was another goal fulfilled for the year.

Greatest Success

GIY was the biggest success of the year with a full booking list and a lot of money changing hands. The fact that the society carried this huge project out in tandem with other societies within the college showed how much Botany Society has grown this year.

Greatest Challenge

Dealing with the costs of travel is very difficult for a society that bases most of its flashy activities in the outdoors. Hiring buses, paying drivers and asking attendees to incur the extra costs associated with travel is at times difficult to deal with.

Business Society

Our society aims to get more students and people in the wider Galway community thinking about business and opening their mind to new ideas. It is really there to help any student that wants to get involved in Business in any form in the future by hearing from and mixing with people outside of the lecture hall, people that have had real life experiences in the workplace. We also feel that it is one of the best social societies in NUI Galway and we are proud to say that if societies are there to bring people of similar minds together, it accomplishes this.

The main events we host are speaker engagements, business trips, accountancy and recruitment skills sessions with KPMG, the NUI Galway International Mystery Trip and of course event of the year The NUI Galway Commerce Ball.

Mission Statement

Biz Soc aims to get more students thinking about business and opening their mind to new ideas. We're really there to help any student that wants to get involved in Business in any form in the future. We want to simply educate those of us that have an interest in any form of commerce and want to hear from people outside the lecture hall, people that have had real life experiences in the workplace. We also feel that it is a very important social society and we are proud to say that if societies are there to bring people of similar minds together, it accomplishes this.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

We aim to continue on the rebuilding of the society from two years ago with a specific focus on business related events, talks and actively attempting to get students involved in business related activities.

Our society aims to get more students and people in the wider Galway community thinking about business and opening their mind to new ideas. It is really there to help any student that wants to get involved in Business in any form in the future by hearing from and mixing with people outside of the lecture hall, people that have had real life experiences in the workplace. We also feel that it is one of the best social societies in NUI Galway and we are proud to say that if societies are there to bring people of similar minds together, it accomplishes this.

Society Performance Reflection

We successfully had a very productive year. The committee as a team all worked very well together. We gained many loyal new ordinary committee members and had many events that generated a lot essential funds that we donated to our chosen charities.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Yes we did. We aimed to increase students' business awareness on campus and we felt that we generated a large interest through our events. We brought many people together of similar mind-sets and had large interest in our meetings and goings on.

Greatest Success

The commerce ball took a serious amount of work that was taken on by the entire committee. Despite the immense work load it was so satisfying to see it all run very smoothly and see so many students desperately seek out tickets for the event. As a committee we were all so proud of our work and its success.

Greatest Challenge

We found our greatest challenge was to get students to integrate with us and our events. We found that a simple fundraiser in college bar simple doesn't do it anymore. We had to get more creative in our events and how we interacted with students. We overcame this by using different marketing techniques such as running Facebook competitions. We found that these reached a larger demographic and reached a larger audience.

Cancer Society

We all know the debilitating effects of cancer, and have in some way been touched by this terrible disease. Our society held regular weekly committee meetings discussing and introducing events that could be held, which ultimately increases cancer awareness and related issues around the campus.

Some fundraising events we organized included Pink Day, FIFA Tournaments, and Relay for Life. Also, we introduced the very first Mini Med School, a student-led project promoting NUI Galway healthcare education and cancer awareness by engaging secondary school students interested in pursuing a medical related career.

Mission Statement

Increase awareness of cancer related issues around campus, and promote cancer prevention and fundraising.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

- Create fundraising events to raise money and awareness for the Irish Cancer Society
- To encourage members of the society to take on advocacy initiatives for different cancer related issues, as proposed by the Irish Cancer Society
- Create a friendly environment where the local community can come together and support the fight against cancer

Society Performance Reflection

Throughout this year, our society lead several fundraising events from Pink Day, FIFA Tournaments, and Relay for Life, which indefinitely increased cancer awareness within the college community. We were able to reach out to the local community through Mini Med School, a friendly environment led by NUI Galway healthcare students promoting not only cancer awareness but also healthcare education by engaging secondary school students interested in pursuing a medical related career.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We successfully conducted our second annual Relay for Life and raised over €10,000 for the Irish Cancer Society.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success was Relay for Life. Every aspect of the event was of a much larger scale compared to last year, including the amount of participants, the venue, the awareness and the enjoyment.

Greatest Challenge

At the same time, our greatest challenge was Relay for Life. Since we decided to increase the scale of the event, there were new complications we had to face and find solutions for.

Other Information

We held 28 committee meetings during the year and we have held our AGM. Our total membership stands at 888 members. 8 committee members have completed the end of year survey.

CCAFS - Climate Change, Agriculture and Food Security

This year was CCAFS societies second year as a society and we made great progress. We had a large committee with undergraduate, postgraduate and international students providing a very diverse and dynamic active group. In first semester we organised many events including potluck dinners, clothes swapping parties, information days and film screenings etc. Potluck dinners promoted vegetarian meals and allowed us to swap recipes making vegetarian cooking easier. This is important as the agriculture industry is one of the largest contributors to CO2 emissions. Clothes swap parties were also a great success and allowed people to get new clothes in a fun and innovative way without spending any money or supporting the fashion industry which also contributes very negatively to the environment. In addition our information days raised awareness about global issues such as toilet/hygiene and gender equality.

In second semester we have been working towards our second Annual Climate Congress 'Climate Change and Ireland' which will take place on April 5th. This is a national conference with 3 keynote Irish speakers as well as short postgraduate presentations. In addition we are working at our Divestment Campaign which aims to have NUIG divest the 3.4 million that they have invested in fossil fuels before 2018. As well as these two main projects we have also continued to promote healthy and ethical eating on campus and arrange smaller events such as information days and film screenings.

We have developed many important links and partnerships over the past year which have greatly added to the impact our society has, as well as potential for future events, collaborations and growth of the society. Within NUIG we have strong links with Botany Society, Organic Gardening Society and Eco society and collaborate with them on many events such as the Grow it Yourself workshop on March 22nd, film screenings etc. We have also collaborated with Style Soc, Fem Soc, MSF Soc, Baking Soc, and Film Soc to raise awareness about global health, gender issues, healthy ethical eating, fashion and climate change etc. As well as our collaborations with NUIG Societies we have partnered with the Students Union who are supporting our Divestment Campaign and have links with the CCAFS Department. Outside of the university we also have many links. Two of our members were representatives for the Irish Global Health Forum, and this responsibility is now being shared with MSF Soc. increasing IGHF outreach at NUIG. We have also met and collaborated with other local and national organisations including Transition Galway, Green Sod and Irish Seed Savers. These links greatly add to our success as a society and our local and national impact.

Mission Statement

We aim to provide a space for people who have concerns about the environment, climate change etc, to discuss their ideas, to organise events and to promote awareness of these issues on campus.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

As a new society we wish to grow our presence on campus and to provide an alternative, more exciting and invigorating way of interacting with these problems. We want to plan our events effectively so that they are successful and reach as many student as possible - while developing our event management skills in the process.

Society Performance Reflection

This year, we certainly reached our aims, objectives and goals as a society. We created a space for any students with concerns about the environment, climate change etc and had weekly meetings which allowed people to discuss ideas. We took everyone's ideas on board leading to the organisation of a diverse range of events and raised awareness about a large number of issues on campus including agriculture industry and vegetarianism, fashion and climate change, divestment campaigns etc.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Yes, we achieved all of our aims, objectives and goals. We greatly grew our presence on campus with a much larger and active committee than last year, and more interaction with members and other students. Our collaborations with many other societies and organisations helped us to become a larger and more recognised society. We provided alternative and exciting ways of interacting with climate change issues for example our clothes swapping parties which were great fun and also has a significant impact by reducing clothes consumption and educating people who attended about the impacts of the fashion industry. Most of our events were planned effectively and were held in places such as Smokeys Cafe with a large turnover of people so that our events could reach as many people as possible. However particularly early on in the year some mistakes were made regarding advertising of events and organising things without enough notice. However we learned from these mistakes and greatly developed our event management skills.

Greatest Success

We would consider our wide range of events and collaborations as our biggest success. Having partnered/developed relationships with so many groups (Organic Gardening Soc, Eco Soc, Botany Soc, Film Soc, Style Soc, Baking Soc, Fem Soc, MSF Soc, the Students Union, CCAFS Department, Transition Galway, Green Sod, Irish Seed Savers, Grow It Yourself, Aramark, Irish Forum for Global Health) we can have a much bigger impact and presence on campus. This will surely add to our future success as a society.

Greatest Challenge

Balancing society commitments with other university demands was certainly a big challenge, particularly around exam time or essay deadlines. Often committee members were unable to fully commit to an event due to time limitations. This meant that we had to be very flexible and often take over each other's roles. Having a committee with a mix of undergrads, postgrads, and international students made this more possible as we had different academic schedules (e.g. PhD students did not have exams and could take over more tasks while undergrads were busy with exams).

Cheerleading Society

This year the cheerleading society created a training environment that was safe, enjoyable, friendly and welcoming. Cheerleading Soc teaches members new skills not only physical skills such as gymnastics, stunts and fitness but it also teaches team work, team spirit, communication skills and friendship building. The society has many involvements with other societies such as sober soc and potter soc, as well as involvement with others outside of the University. We promote cheerleading within the university and nationally competing with other teams from across the country and by participating in parades and events. The Cheerleading Society is a fun unique way of creating new friends, to get fit and to let yourself go from daily life in an energetic enthusiastic way.

Mission Statement

Our mission is to provide high quality cheerleading training in a safe and positive environment and to advance the stature of cheerleading throughout the college and the country at large. We furthermore aim to create a fun and inclusive society which promotes healthy living and teamwork, and aims to instill self-confidence and a sense of belonging to all its members.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

- To provide high quality cheerleading training, in a safe positive environment which promotes teamwork, and self-confidence.
- To promote cheerleading throughout the college and wider community as cheerleading is relatively new to Ireland.
- To connect with other societies and other colleges through collaborative events.
- To have fun and learn new skills.

Society Performance Reflection

This year Cheerleading Society had many achievements and was very involved in the University more than ever. We took part in various events with sober society and potter society. We also participated in the St.Patrick's parade and competed nationally in Castlebar with other cheerleading teams.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We increased our members and advanced in our skills and stunt levels. We had meetings and fun gatherings and events to welcome new members and to build on the friendships in cheerleading. Yes, cheerleading society created a fun positive environment for members to train and relax from their day. We promoted cheerleading as a positive mental health sport around the University and nationally. We got involved with many other societies creating new friends and had many fun events with them. The cheerleading society provided a safe way to learn many stunts and skills amongst friends and to build self esteem. Our society thought not only physical skills such as stunts but other skills such as communication, friendship and teamwork skills.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success was increasing our members and friendships within our society. we also competed nationally in Castlebar and entered 4 stunt teams of different skill levels. Our teams and members won many awards in the competition all of which we were very proud.

Greatest Challenge

The biggest challenge this year was finding the appropriate uniforms. After we agreed on a design it was difficult to find a supplier with the uniforms we were looking for. This was the hardest thing our society had to manage.

Chemistry Soc

The society sought to develop and sustain interest in chemistry among NUI Galway students by providing social events and informal meetings and discussions on the subject.

This was achieved along with one successful charity event in the form of a table quiz, held in aid of Galway Hospice Foundation.

A successful series of seminars was run to provide a forum and means of discussion of various topics within chemistry. These seminars were provided by visiting lecturers from Ireland and around Europe.

He established a protein X-ray crystallography facility at Trinity College Dublin in 2004. During his tenure at Trinity College Dublin, his lab has established expertise in the field of 'membrane trafficking' using structural and biophysical techniques.

Dr. Fabio Cucinotta: Seminar » Dillon Theatre » 07th April 2016

Dr. Cucinotta completed his undergraduate Chemistry degrees at the University of Messina (Italy) in 2006, under the supervision of Prof. Sebastiano Campagna, with a study on the photophysical properties of polypyridine platinum(II) complexes, and then joined the University of Münster (Germany) where he obtained, in 2010, his PhD in the group of Prof. Luisa De Cola, working on the synthesis and the photochemical characterisation of hybrid architectures based on the use of zeolite L crystals as host units for organic and organometallic chromophores. He continued research on host-guest luminescent materials at the University of Eastern Piedmont, in Alessandria (Italy), as postdoctoral fellow within the group of Prof. Leonardo Marchese, broadening his expertise through the study of composite systems based on mesoporous silica, seeking applicative opportunities for the design and fabrication of light-emitting devices and sensors. He joined the School of Chemistry at Newcastle University in March 2014 as Lecturer in Physical Chemistry

Mission Statement

We hope to promote Chemistry in NUIG and encourage everyone to get involved!

Aims, Objectives & Goals

The Goal of our Society is to promote Chemistry through seminars and different outings throughout the year. We hope to encourage students to take an interest in Chemistry and find an area they will like! We hope to show students that Chemistry has many different disciplines and it's not so hard!

Society Performance Reflection

The society did well this year, with everything running smoothly. This was made possible by a strong team in the form of the committee.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

A successful series of seminars was run as set out in our aims. Many interesting discussions were held between students (undergrad and postgrad) and our visiting lecturers from around Ireland and Europe.

Numerous social events bringing together chemistry students were held throughout the year. These included a Halloween and Christmas party, a charity table quiz, a social night welcoming first year postgraduate students and a weekend away in Westport for all chemistry students.

Greatest Success

The seminar series was the greatest success for the society given how much work is involved in running such a programme. It proved the most beneficial part of the society for students from a chemistry point of view.

Greatest Challenge

The society's greatest challenge was bringing people together from separate parts within chemistry to get involved with the events organised by the society.

Mission Statement

Inspire people to play/improve their chess and create a social environment where this is encouraged.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

To promote chess and its variants on campus and provide opportunities for our members to improve their game!

Society Performance Reflection

We found it hard to get the society active at the start of the year as we missed Socs Day 1. Our weekly meetings have had a modest but regular attendance. We were successful at the Galway Chess Congress and are hopeful that we will be more active next year.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Yes, we had regular attendees at our weekly chess games in Smokeys, and passersby joined in when we got our the Giant Chess!

Greatest Success

Our members won three prizes at the Galway Chess Congress.

Greatest Challenge

Getting a full committee.

Mission Statement

The NUI Galway Chinese Society is joined and organized by the students who are interested in Chinese culture and Chinese Language. Chinese Society is aiming at enhancing the friendship among the members and improving the mutual understanding between the Chinese, international and the Irish students in NUI Galway. The committee will provide guidance, assistance and support for all the celebrations, activities and events relating to Chinese Culture.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

- Promote Chinese Culture
- Enhance Friendship among Chinese, International and Irish students
- Provide forum for Mandarin Learning
- Celebrate Traditional Chinese Festivals

Society Performance Reflection

Very Good. In this year, we did the best work we can do, much better than before, we hold the great Chinese New Year Celebration Gala and many other activities, and we make the works processing as a system which can be inherited.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We did achieve all aims we planned, we make the basic foundations, and we have long-term objectives and goals, more projects will be proceeding next semester.

During this year, we hold these activities below:

1. Chinese New Year Celebration Gala. This gala is aiming on letting students and staff to celebrate the Chinese memorable festival. Especially to let Chinese students gather and get homey atmosphere during the most important time during the year.
2. Guiding Chinese Drama Group to perform. This activity helps to distribute Chinese culture to local people and enrich all students' after school life.
3. Assisting Doing Business in China model to perform successfully..)
4. Kildare Village Shopping Tour.

We applied this activity to provide students a convenient and cheap way to enjoy a day off in Kildare.

5. Singing Competition

This competition is held by UL, SCHM and NUIG. This is a good way to communicate with each college/ university to build strong relationship with them. There might have more activities that I have not mentioned above. Feel free to add on if you know anything. I would really appreciate your kindly help. And once again, I apologize for all the inconvenience that I have made.

Greatest Success

The Chinese Spring Festival celebration Gala, and the working system for Chinese Society which can also be used for next generation of committee.

Greatest Challenge

The last generation of Chinese Society left only few information for us, so we need to find what we should do and how we do from the beginning. However, we build a logical management system for Society work, and we have documents to past it to next generation which can make a great connection.

Choice Society

Choice Soc is a pro-choice student society part of the national and global struggle for reproductive and sexual rights and justice, with a particular focus on the island of Ireland due to its restrictive laws and culture of shame and stigma. We advocate that every pregnant person should be free to choose either parenthood, adoption, or abortion. We therefore call for access for free, safe, and legal abortion in Ireland. In addition, we stand for free and accessible contraception for all and mandatory and accurate sex education in schools.

Mission Statement

ChoiceSoc is part of the national struggle to abolish the Irish abortion ban and secure to every woman the right to choose if and when to become a mother. We stand for full reproductive rights for both women and men, for a society that supports and respect those who choose to become parents and those who choose not to. We are a non-hierarchical group working with the national movement for a repeal of the 8th Amendment and for abortion to be free safe and legal.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

We are aiming to highlight the issue of Irish abortion law on campus. There is a huge dearth in information about what the 8th Amendment and Protection of Life During Pregnancy Act 2014 actually mean and so we want to help educate and inform as many students as possible. We also want to help the students become more politically engaged in lobbying for a repeal of the 8th Amendment.

Society Performance Reflection

We did well; we maintained a pro-choice presence on campus, held some events, and counter-acted some "pro-life" campaigns.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Yes, we campaigned for full reproductive rights and for the repeal of the 8th amendment, we attempted to break the stigma, we highlighted the detrimental effects of the criminalisation of abortion, and we confronted some "pro-life" misinformation. We organised a bus to the March for Choice, held an informational workshop, a documentary screening, spoke at events/debates, held a fundraiser for Women Help Women and Abortion Support Network, and collaborated with Galway Pro-Choice on a few occasions.

Greatest Success

We raised over €200 for Women Help Women and Abortion Support Network and simultaneously spread knowledge of these two wonderful organisations.

Greatest Challenge

Countering the "pro-life" campaigns, and reaching new audiences.

Mission Statement

Choral Soc's mission is to foster a strong sense of community through music and encourage our members to learn about singing, reading music, and various styles of music in different cultures and time periods.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

We aim to perform competitively in all the competitions we perform in, and win in at least 2 of said competitions. We also aim to keep numbers high, at a level around 40, to ensure a strong choral group with variety in voices.

Society Performance Reflection

The Choral Society faced a few struggles this year but overall maintained a good presence in the University and provided a positive musical experience for the students involved.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We did manage to keep our numbers high, ranging from 30-60 members most practices.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success was our ability to bring so many people from such a wide variety of places together through music - we had singers from over 10 different countries join our group.

Greatest Challenge

The Choral soc experienced some committee/leadership challenges that made teamwork difficult and affected the ability of the society to perform at its best level.

Classics Soc

The Classics Society has had a very successful year. The society held a number of guest speakers throughout both semesters where the speakers spoke on a broad range of interesting classics related topics. The society also had a movie night, a Christmas Party and the highlight of the year was the trip abroad to both Paris and Nice, France.

Mission Statement

The Classics Society Mission Statement is to provide a place where students of Classics as well as students of all disciplines can come to broaden their knowledge of Classical civilizations and extend their learning outside of the classroom through guest lectures, talks, and trips.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

Ours Aims, Objectives, and Goals for this year are as follows:

To organise and host a prolific lecture series, featuring speakers from across the country as well as from abroad who will come to share their research and opinions on a wide range of Classical topics, providing opportunities for students of Classics as well as those of other disciplines to expand their knowledge and engage with new and interesting ideas

To introduce a new string of events focused on student collaboration, designed to create a friendly and approachable atmosphere where students can come to talk Classics and have a bit of craic as well.

To conduct a successful trip abroad in the second semester, taking a break from Italy this year to hopefully travel to Crete for a better understanding of the ancient Minoan and Mycenaean civilisations.

Society Performance Reflection

Overall the society had a very successful year. There was student engagement with the guest speakers and the trip abroad went well.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Yes, the society hosted five guest speaker events throughout the year with each speaker discussing an interesting topic. These events encouraged student engagement with the society and fulfilled our objective of broadening the scope of classics topics being discussed. The society also held a collaborative Christmas party and a movie night, both of these events were successful in that they offered society members an opportunity to enjoy Classics in a more informal manner. We also achieved our goal of having a trip abroad with this year's destination being France.

Greatest Success

The trip abroad was the greatest success as it was fraught with the most difficulty. Being able to successfully lead a group of students after the challenge of organising a trip that included two destinations was very rewarding.

Greatest Challenge

Planning the trip abroad. This year was more difficult than previous years as the society wanted to travel to a new location while ensuring that it would be centred on antiquity. This proved difficult especially trying to find flights, accommodation and all within a relatively small budget. However, the dedication of those planning the trip ensured that it was successful.

Mission Statement

As the society dedicated to comedy, we will showcase all forms as well as bring people together with a common interest and laughter.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

We aim to put on showings of various comedy shows, set up workshops on how to deliver one's own stand up set and how to write sketch shows, as well as help new members of the society and college make friends through their joined love of comedy and laughing.

Society Performance Reflection

The society could have done better than it had, but it was able to continue.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We at comedy soc believe we achieved our hopes of running successful events and keeping the comedy society running! We hosted stand up workshops and screenings of various forms of comedy.

Greatest Success

Our stand up workshops (which were run by our head of stand up; Conor Duffy) were our best events.

Greatest Challenge

Our greatest challenge was trying to overcome the stigma of our previous committee which we believe had people think that the comedy soc was no longer enjoyable

Comic Book Society

At the outset of the 2015/2016 academic period, the Comic Book Society was inactive; however, the enthusiasm and determination of its committee elevated the society to where it was active once again. Primarily our events consisted of screenings of works adapted from comic books. We held an Emergency General Meeting in each semester, as well as a greater variety of events such as a meet 'n greet and a presentation discussing mental illness in both print and web comics. Overall, the Comic Book Society has been met with a great degree of success this year, and it is hoped that this society shall remain energized come next year.

Mission Statement

The NUI Galway Comic Book Society in 2015/16 is committed to

- growing the society, and bringing it back from an inactive status
- furthering the interest and understanding of the comic book medium.
- developing and maintaining a comic book library, which will be open to all members.
- working with other societies in order to show the versatility of the comic book medium, and to bring many topics to a wider audience.
- providing a free, safe space for members to discuss the medium and share opinions and ideas.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

The aims of the society shall be:

- To provide a year-round open forum, community group and social space for staff and students of NUIG to gather for discussion and appreciation of the Comic Book medium
- To make social a normally solitary pastime and accommodate and promote new interest
- To celebrate the Society members' passion for the medium
- To promote awareness of the medium
- To organise social, extra-curricular activities as a safe and welcome alternative for incoming students and established students & staff alike
- To promote Irish, UK and European comics
- To develop a society comic book library
- To have a relevant and informative website
- To foster and promote the dynamic development of the medium as it evolves

Society Performance Reflection

Though it was a quiet year overall, the Comic Book Society was kept afloat through the proliferation of events. The dedication and ability of its committee, who invested much of their time and enthusiasm into relieving the society of its previously-held dormancy, should be especially noted as being key to the society's improved performance this year. Each event was expertly prepared, with no issues regarding finance or health and safety. In summation, it has been a reasonably productive year for the society, an achievement that both its members and committee can be proud of.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

As the Comic Book Society became active once again it can be said that it largely achieved its aims, objectives and goals this year. Events allowed participants to enjoy and showcase their passion and investment in the medium, and the society itself provided a comfortable space in which to promote the best work the medium has to offer. The society's presence on social media allowed the promotion of these events for those either new to the university or those already established. Overall, the society has achieved what has been outlined for this year.

Greatest Success

Perhaps the most laudable success of the Comic Book Society was it becoming a fully active society once again, as outlined in its mission statement. This was largely due to the proliferation of events, which were always well-organised and met with little-to-no difficulty. The dedication and ability of its committee, who invested much of their time and enthusiasm into relieving the society of its previously-held dormancy, should be especially noted as being key to the society's improved performance this year.

Greatest Challenge

Though there is a large quantity of students who are members of the Comic Book Society, there was a lack of attendance at certain events (despite promotion on social media as well as on campus). This was likely due to a increasingly hectic academic schedule or social scene; hopefully more people will attend events come next year, perhaps through means of collaboration with other societies.

Compsoc

The NUI Galway's Computer Society (CompSoc) is one of the oldest societies in the university. It's also the oldest Computer/Networking Society in Ireland, created in 1977.

CompSoc's main goal is to try and foster a love and passion for all things tech related in the students and staff of the NUIG, as well as anyone who wants to learn. We host a wide variety of events to work towards this goal, including workshops about Linux, hardware, and programming.

We also host our own servers in our own comms room. We give members of compsoc a server account. You can use this server account to host a website, SSH access and your own personal e-mail.

'Synapse//a Tech Carnival', a one-day free event, will take place on Wednesday 23rd September in the Bailey Allen Hall, and is for students and people interested in technology to meet with key Information and Communications Technologies (ICT) stakeholders in a fun and informative exchange of ideas.

CompSoc Screenings: Mr. Robot: Social » Meeting Rooms 1 & 2 » 05th October 2015

We thought since a lot of our members look at computers all day that we would do something a bit different. Starting Monday 5th October 2015 in the Meeting Rooms (Áras na Mac Léinn), CompSoc will be showing the full 10 episode season of Mr. Robot. The series is based on a young, anti-social computer programmer Elliot who works as a cyber security engineer during the day, but at night he is a vigilante hacker. He is recruited by the mysterious leader of an underground group of hackers to join their organization. Elliot's task? Help bring down corporate America, including the company he is paid to protect, which presents him with a moral dilemma. Although he works for a corporation, his personal beliefs make it hard to resist the urge to take down the heads of multinational companies that he believes are running -- and ruining -- the world. To kick the showings off, Mr. Robot will start every Monday starting 5th of October for 5 weeks showing 2 episodes each Monday. An excellent, breath-taking show which will have your eyes glued to the screen and at the edge of your seat! Matching in with Mental Health week, Elliot is afraid and reluctant to ask for help from his friends and the show illustrates how important it is to talk and enjoy life to the full! It is based around Ethical Hacking which matches a major issue worldwide at Global week, which also kicks off the same week. This show is truly awesome and is not to be missed. Whether you are fascinated with technology or not, you will truly enjoy this show. Free pizza and a bit of a laugh for those that come.

CompSoc Screenings: Mr. Robot: Social » McMunn Theatre » 19th October 2015

We thought since a lot of our members look at computers all day that we would do something a bit different. Starting Monday 5th October 2015 in the Meeting Rooms (Áras na Mac Léinn), CompSoc will be showing the full 10 episode season of Mr. Robot. Note: Due to conferrings, Mr Robot will be showed in the McMunn Theatre for the 19th October 2015. All other Mondays will be in the Meeting Rooms. The series is based on a young, anti-social computer programmer Elliot who works as a cybersecurity engineer during the day, but at night he is a vigilante hacker. Game Jam: Other » The View Áras na Mac Léinn » 06th November 2015

Make a game prototype in a weekend. Join a team or work solo. Get to meet other game developers, learn stuff and make stuff. We'll showcase your creations on our website. Bring your own laptop/game making equipment and anyone you know who likes game jams! Rules for the event: Theme: a theme will be announced on event launch on Friday. It's there to help with ideas and it's open to interpretation. Teams: Pre-arranged teams are fine but need approval from organisers so let us know beforehand. Tickets: Public: €5 online registration or €7 on the door. CompSoc members jam for free (€5 paid on registration will be held as a deposit and returned after confirmation of membership). Please bring your NUI Galway Student/Staff ID. Conduct at the event: Be excellent to each other! (Reasonable, not on fire). Should there be any issues during the event, contact one of our organisers (there'll be a few wearing name badges) and we'll do our best to resolve the situation. To be clear, by attending you agree that the organisers will have final say in any dispute between two or more parties at the event. We imagine that this won't be necessary, but it's good to have written here. We want everyone to enjoy their time at the jam! Event run by Galway Game Jam with CompSoc NUIG CompSoc NUIGalway, Galway Gaming Tribes and D'Lovely Game Jam

CompSoc EGM and screenings of The IT Crowd: Social » Meeting Rooms 1 & 2 » 09th November 2015

We will be passing through our new constitution, electing a Treasurer and Webmasters, Server Admins and OCMs if people are interested. Afterwards, we're going to watch our two favourite episodes of The IT Crowd with some pizza and refreshments. We thought since a lot of our members look at computers all day that we would do something a bit different. Since everyone has binged Mr. Robot we're going to watch our two favourite episodes of The IT Crowd from 6-8pm instead next Monday in the Meeting Rooms. There will be pizza and refreshments while watching the screenings.

CompSoc Screenings: The Social Network: Social » Meeting Rooms » 16th November 2015

There will be popcorn, refreshments and pizzas. Not to be missed! In 2003, Harvard undergrad and computer genius Mark Zuckerberg (Jesse Eisenberg) begins work on a new concept that eventually turns into the global social network known as Facebook. Six years later, he is one of the youngest billionaires ever, but Zuckerberg finds that his unprecedented success leads to both personal and legal complications when he ends up on the receiving end of two lawsuits, one involving his former friend (Andrew Garfield). Based on the book "The Accidental Billionaires."

Camara Computer Dropoff Collection Point: Other » 18 Distillery Rd., NUI Galway » 03rd February 2016

Have you an old computer lying around, but you don't want to dump it? Why not donate it to Camara on campus? Camara is an Irish volunteer organisation that uses technology to improve education in Africa. On the first Wednesday of every month (usually), 11am-6pm, we hold a public drop-off for members of the community to drop-off their computer equipment. All computers, laptops, flat screen monitors, and keyboard donations are welcome. Free of charge recycling! *Directions to Drop-off Hub: Drive up Lower Newcastle Road, in the direction of Moycullen. Turn right onto Distillery Rd at the AIB student Bank. This will bring you into the NUIG campus. After about 200m there is a turn-off to the left, towards the Kingfisher Sports Centre. Just before this turn-off, the Camara drop-off hub is situated at number 18; a bungalow on its own, on the left-hand side of the road.

Inter-Computer Society Hackathon: Conference » ENG-G0046 » 04th March 2016

This is the first year that the computer societies of Ireland have come together for one large hackathon. This year, Compsoc in NUI Galway are hosting an Intervarsity event in collaboration with UCC Netsoc, Redbrick (DCU) and TCD Netsoc. It's a great opportunity to network and make new friends in faraway places as we explore the best Galway has to offer and bring to life ideas you might never have thought possible on your own! With things like Arduino Hydroponics, Raspberry Pi mirrors, Home Automation, Emulators, PS1 development and so much more, there's a project for everyone to sink their teeth into. Not your everyday competitive hackathon, we'll be working together on whatever project you feel like, with hardware provided to test on! It won't be just using computers - there will be socialising too. Interested? Sign up here: <https://compsoc.typeform.com/to/y9uLsp>

Mission Statement

To promote an increased awareness of and interest in computing and the beneficial use of computers in NUI Galway and to provide a social environment for its members.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

This year we aim to

- Be fully resurrected and to enter multiple society awards
- See if it's possible to update website and improve server infrastructure setups
- Improve communication with members and external organisations
- Work with other societies for inter-societies events and increase numbers of attendees
- To be a society and aim to have weekly events apart from exams etc

Society Performance Reflection

We did wonderfully, holding a wide range of events and improving upon our own infrastructure.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We achieved all of our goals, except for having weekly events. However, we had an event almost every week, excluding weeks we were aware of inevitable low attendance.

Greatest Success

While it's hard to discern a greatest success, as our successes were numerous and wonderful, we're particularly proud of some of our very engaged society members and the wide range of events we enjoyed together.

Greatest Challenge

Initially it was difficult to avoid a high turn out of people attending our events to avail of our refreshments, however we overcame that bump eventually.

Other Information

We held 10 committee meetings during the year and we have held our AGM. Our total membership stands at 385 members. 2 committee members have completed the end of year survey.

Cumann de Barra

Cumann de Barra had a successful year. On Societies Day in September, we recruited over 500 members continuing our status as NUIG's largest political society and Ogras largest Cumann nationally. We continued to have weekly meetings on various topical issues and encouraged people to attend to share their views. The Cumann hosted a series of events including a talk on the Rural Crime and Criminal Law (Defence and Dwelling) Act, 2011. The Coimisineir Teanga, Ronan O Domhniail gave a talk on Acht na dTeangacha Oifigiula, a lively discussion. Tir gan teanga, tir gan anam! Dr. Shivaun Quinlivan gave a talk on the Separation of Powers which proved to be an educational evening for all in attendance. Joe Kelly also gave a talk on Galway City's Transport and Traffic problems and possible solutions to those problems.

In November 2015, we hosted Hustings for candidates in the Ogra National Youth Conference elections to speak to the Cumann about their policies. A large delegation from the Cumann then attended the NYC in Newry, a historic event and a very enjoyable weekend. In December, the Cumann hosted the Ogra Christmas Party which was heavily attended by members from various Cumanns across the country and was a very enjoyable event. In January, the Cumann attended the NUIG political debate 'Battle of the Parties/Cath na Paitithe' between members of Cumann Caoimhin de Barra, the Social Democrats, Sinn Fein and Fine Gael on various political issues in the run up to the general election. The president of Ogra Fianna Fail, Eoin Neylon was our speaker for the event.

We also canvassed for general election candidates of South Mayo-Galway West, John Connolly and Mary Hoade as well as for Cllr Anne Rabbitte in Galway East who was the elected to represent the 32nd Dail.

Ar aghaidh le Fianna Fail!

Bhí siad ag iarraidh í a athbheochan agus a neartú. Ar an ábhar seo, tá muid ag iarraidh daoine ar Facebook, fud fad na tíre agus thar sáile, a n-ainmneacha a aistriú ó Bhéarla go Gaeilge le haghaidh deireadh seachtaine na Cásca mar chuid den Chomóradh Céad Bliain Éirí Amach na Cásca, agus chun onóir a thabhairt do na fir agus mná 1916. Athraigh do chéadainm nó do sloinne! Is féidir libh <http://www.sloinne.ie/> nó <http://www.irishidentity.com/names.htm> a úsáid. Go raibh maith agaibh! We are calling on people across Ireland and across the world to change their name or surname to Irish for the Easter weekend to mark the Centenary of the 1916 Easter Rising, and to the honour the men and women behind the events of 1916 who had great respect for the Irish language and wanted to restore it as the common language of Ireland. We want to reach 500 people, so if you change your name or have it in Irish already, click Interested or Going so we can keep count! If you're unsure of your Irish name, head over to <http://www.sloinne.ie/> or <http://www.irishidentity.com/names.htm> and find it there. Go raibh maith agaibh!

Cumann Gaelach

Bhain an Cumann Gaelach traidhfil spriocanna amach i mbliana, mar shampla, turas go dtí Oireachtas na Gaeilge, ciorcail comhrá, oícheanta amach agus Bál na Gaeilge. Tá cuid mhór rudaí nár bhain an Cumann Gaelach amach i mbliana agus tá an lucht ar an coiste féin mar gheall ar sin ach caithfidh muid cuimhneamh ar na rudaí maithe fosta.

Dá mbeadh sé á dhéanamh againn arís bheadh muid níos eagraithe agus níos aontaithe mar fhoireann. Tá súil againn go mbeidh bliain gheal fhiúntach ag an Cumann Gaelach ar an bliain seo chugainn.

Mission Statement

*Craic agus comhrá, daoibhse ar fad,
trí himeactaí shóisialta,
le go mairfidh an Ghaeilge i bhfad.*

Aims, Objectives & Goals

Is é príomh-aidhm na coiste ná an Ghaeilge a chur chun cinn ar fud ár gcampas agus go ginearálta. Tá muid ag iarraidh ócaidí bhríomhaire a n-éagrú dár mbaill, le go mbeidh mic léinn na hollscoile in ann sult agus sproí a bhaint as an Ghaeilge i mbealach ré-chúiseach. Chomh maith le seo tá sé d'aidhm againn a bheith ag obair go dlúth leis an Oifigeach Ghaeilge ar an champus, agus achan uile tacaíocht a thabhairt dóibh. Is soléir dúinn go gcaithfidh muid a bheith ag obair le chéile, mar fhoireann, agus scileanna cumarsáide maithe a chleachtadh ionas go bhfaigheadh muid ár gcuid tascanna déanta mar is ceart.

Society Performance Reflection

Ní dhéarna muid ró-mhaith i gcoitinne.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Bhain muid amach cúpla spriocanna, mar shampla, turas go dtí Oireachtas na Gaeilge, Bál na Gaeilge agus cúpla rud eile.

Greatest Success

Bál na Gaeilge.

Greatest Challenge

Obair foirne sa choiste.

Mission Statement

To proudly present an academic and social outlet for members of the student and staff bodies of NUI Galway to interact over a shared interest in historical studies, while maintaining the longstanding reputation of the society over previous generations.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

1. Host a number of academic events to stimulate historical discussion and progression at NUI Galway.
2. Provide a social outlet for students with an interest in history.
3. Exceed our membership count for the 2014/2015 academic year.
4. Exceed our attendance and sales for the 2015 Arts Ball.

5. Host and make successful the 2016 IHSA Conference.
6. Maintain the ongoing reputation of the society and NUI Galway as a whole.

Society Performance Reflection

Overall this was a successful year for the society. We organised 23 events over the course of the academic year. These ranged from social get-togethers to academic events. Social events held included meet-ups, a bowling night, and a Christmas Party.

12 lectures were organised including one Irish language event.

These included:

‘Researching the Great Famine: Much Done, More to Do’; Prof Cormac Ó Gráda (UCD)

‘The Centre Cannot Hold: Revolutions, Counter-Revolutions and the Liberal Order in Europe, 1917-23’; Dr. John Paul Newman (NUIM)

‘The Problem of Religion in French History’; Prof. Joseph Bergin (University of Manchester)

‘The Trial of the Templars’; Prof. Malcolm Barber (University of Reading)

‘Byzantium’s Eleventh Century: An Outsider’s View’; Dr. Dion Smythe (QUB)

‘The Down Survey and the Transformation of Early Modern Ireland’; Dr. Micheál Ó Siochrú (TCD)

‘Republicans Celebrating and Historians’ Headaches: Musings on French Patriotic and Nationalist Culture for the Irish Centenary’; Dr. Sylvie Kleinman (TCD)

‘The International Impact of Daniel O’Connell’; Prof. Maurice Bric (UCD)

‘Glorious Forever?... Is the 1916 Rebellion still relevant in a modern Ireland?’; Dr. Conor McNamara (NUIG)

‘Ways of Knowing: The Historiography and US Collective Memory of the Vietnam Wars’; Prof. David Ryan (UCC)

‘Traidisiún na nAmhrán: Léargas ar Stair Bhéil agus ar Sheanchas na nDaoine/ Tradition of Song: An Insight on the Oral History and Lore of the People’; Dr. Liam Lillis Ó Laoire (NUIG)

An internal society trip to Cork was held between the 13th and 15th of November.

Other events organised included a Silent Disco and a night at the theatre to see Playboy of the Western World.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Yes, the society achieved most of the aims and goals set out at the start of the year.

-All of the academic events organised were met with an enthusiastic response from those who attended. Various different strands of history were covered from Medieval to Modern.

-Many students studying history or those who just had an interest attended events and found a forum for discussion as well as a chance to meet others with the same interest as them. The wine receptions and social gatherings held after events were also useful channels for meeting new people in the university.

Our membership count decreased from 405 in the previous academic year to 393. However this is partly due to some members not renewing their memberships.

Attendance and sales from the 2015 Arts Ball increased from 918 to 1,620.

The IHSA conference was a success overall with 73 papers presented and a great deal of attendees.

Greatest Success

The Arts Ball 2016 was a huge success attracting over 1,600 people. A good deal of money raised from the event was also given to charities such as COPE and Doctors Without Borders. This was even more remarkable considering that attendance had risen from 918 in 2015.

Greatest Challenge

Organisation of the Arts Ball and the IHSA annual conference required a great deal of time and planning. Large scale events such as these required meeting frequently with promoters, sponsors, security, hotel management, etc. There was also a great deal of promotion involved to ensure the success of these events.

Mission Statement

The purpose of our society is to provide NUI Galway with a platform where students can partake in many forms of dance for the first time or develop skills they may be bringing from previous training/experience. By providing this platform, we are aiding students in their demonstrations of human potential and expression while taking into account their needs, concerns and interests, thus enhancing the student experience and the infrastructure for dance creation, distribution and education.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

The main aim of this society shall be to promote all types and genres of dance among the students of NUI Galway.

- The Society will strive to foster a sense of community that is open and indiscriminate to all students, particularly newly registered members of the society
- The society will work to create a friendly relationship with other societies.
- The society should aim to compete in national varsity competitions and form a friendly relationship with other dance societies in Ireland.
- The society shall aim to provide full members of the Society with the opportunity to further develop skills in teaching and choreography.

Society Performance Reflection

Although members of our committee struggled with the resignation of our auditor, it did not take long for the society to band together and get moving on projects throughout the year. The society as a whole held dance classes each week with the only exceptions being for conferring. The society had the ability to use other venues in the college and also external classes (i.e. Pole Dance Workshop) to ensure a class was held every week. We feel that as a society it was one of our best years as we had a full and encouraging committee holding our biggest event (Strictly Come Dansoc) which saw us collaborate with core members from other societies and clubs.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Our main aim was achieved without a doubt, Starting the year with a dance off outside the library during Freshers' Week established our place in the university so that incoming first years, and current students, knew that we existed and knew who to look for on Socs' Day.

We welcomed many new members to our society this year that all fully enjoyed our dance classes. Many of which were part of the crews for the Intervarsity Competition. This year the society reached almost 1000 members.

The society has bonded with other colleges through the Intervarsity event with many invites to visit them during the year or for other colleges to come to us for smaller inter-collegiate events. This relationship has also been seen as we have the great honour of hosting Intervarsities in the coming 2016/2017 academic year.

Greatest Success

We have had so many successes this year that it's hard to pinpoint the best so the following is a list of some of our achievements:

- Placing third in Irish dance at Trinity Intervarsities 2016, we have not placed at inters since 2012, this is something we are incredibly proud of achieving.
- Setting up the intervarsities sub-committee (Varsity Co-Ordinator, Teachers Liaison etc.), who in turn helped run our very first crew auditions for intervarsities teams.
- Holding Strictly Come Dansoc our hugely successful charity event in March 2016, where we raised over €3,000 all for charity.
- Inviting Paul Killoran, Dansoc founder to attend 'Strictly Come Dansoc' to celebrate our tenth birthday as a society. This was a very sentimental moment as all the current '10th committee' took part in the celebration with Paul.

Greatest Challenge

In October 2015, our auditor stepped down from his position. It caused some distress amongst our committee and required everyone to pull together and take on bigger roles than they previously had. However, the committee worked as a team, a new auditor was elected and restored the committee back to a good, working force.

Another challenge our society faced this year was the working relationship between the committee and some of our teachers. Some heads clashed over certain area of running the society, classes and rehearsals for the All Ireland Dance Inter-Varsities Competition. However, all personal feelings were put to the side and the committee acted professionally and responsibly in fixing these problems and these relationships for the good of the society members and a reasonable, agreed alternative was reached that worked for both the committee and the teachers.

For a brief period, some committee members did not see eye to eye on the running of the society, classes or rehearsals. Similarly to the teachers, the committee acted in the best interests of the society members and worked to fix and maintain a healthy relationship amongst the committee members to ensure our society was run to the best of its abilities.

DJ Soc

The DJ Society in NUI Galway's primary objective is to teach people the fine art of mixing music so that they can play in pubs and clubs throughout Galway and further. This year the society reached new heights as we secured a bi-weekly/monthly night in Electric Nightclub, hosted our Christmas Party in the depths of the Kesselraum in Carbon nightclub, started a vinyl only night on Mondays, had record turnouts to Open Decks with complimentary pizza, which took place every Tuesday without fail, co-hosted a night with GMIT DJ Society in Carbon, played at inter varsity level with UL DJ Society in Crush 87, provided the entertainment for SYNAPSE Computer fair, AfroFest, SSDP Table Quiz to name just a few.

Mission Statement

To introduce new members on how to DJ, promote, perform, produce, and everything else that goes along with being a successful DJ. To promote electronic music, DJ Society, nuig, mixing music, music production, techno /house /break beats /funk /soul /disco /hip-hop /salsa /trip-hop/ electro / electronica /dub /tech house /nights out /road trips /music festivals /DJ classes /vinyl lessons / cdj lessons.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

To introduce new members on how to DJ, promote, perform, produce, and everything else that goes along with being a successful DJ. To make DJing fun and accessible to all our members, to have speakers in to explain in depth and share their intimate knowledge of this highly under-rated art form.

To bring members of the society closer together as a group, to take in as many road trips to see how DJs perform in different environments/cities/clubs/festivals

Society Performance Reflection

The society performed spectacularly. We collaborated with other societies, raised money for charity, taught new members how to DJ and gave them their first opportunities in various venues throughout the city. We gained residencies in both of the major nightclubs in the city, played with other DJ societies from all over Ireland in a club in Limerick in February.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Yes we flourished this year and that was due to the colossal effort put in by all the committee members. We held many successful events both on campus and off and secured residencies in two of the biggest nightclubs in the city.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success was being invited down to Limerick to participate in an inter varsity competition in Limerick along with a number of other DJ Societies from all over the country.

Greatest Challenge

The greatest challenge we faced as a society definitely had to be organizing and marketing of the events we organized. Getting a venue sorted, organizing DJs to play and setting up an invite list was the main challenges.

Individual Committee Members - Hopes & Aspirations (September 2015)

Completed by 9 committee members.

Individual Committee Members - End of Year Reflection (April 2016)

Completed by 7 committee members.

Other Information

We held 20 committee meetings during the year. We have not held our AGM yet. Our total membership stands at 449 members. 6 committee members have completed the end of year survey.

Dochas Society

Dochas is a Christian society that welcomes students from all walks of life and from all denominations. We provide a safe place for people to express and grow in their faith, and a place to get to know other Christians and encourage one another. We welcome speakers each week from Galway and further afield - this year we have had speakers come from London, Belfast, Dublin and Co. Clare. We also hold regular prayer meetings and Bible studies to give our members more opportunities to develop friendships with other Christians in college and to give them a support system.

Mission Statement

Our Dochas mission statement is to unite people on campus, both Christians and non-Christians, by sharing the gospel, getting to know other students on campus and reaching out to those who have a desire to learn more about God and Christianity.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

Our aim for Dochas this year is to share Jesus with everyone on campus, both Christians and non-Christians, by building up relationships with people and reaching out to those who don't know God.

Society Performance Reflection

As a society, we held weekly meetings with a local speaker. We also held regular prayer meetings and Bible studies. We held events where we could reach out to other students on campus, who maybe didn't know anything about God.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We achieved our goals of sharing Jesus with people on campus through various events we had. We also provided a place for student to develop relationships with other people, through our weekly meetings and through one-off events we held, such as weekends away with other Christian groups in Ireland.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success would be organising a student survey which we held in February. We gave out short questionnaires to students and gave out free doughnuts once completed. This was a great success as it gave us a chance to reach out to fellow students and talk to them about Dochas and what we believe.

Greatest Challenge

Our greatest challenge as a society was making our name known on campus. We would have liked to have had more people know about Dochas and come along to our meetings.

Individual Committee Members - Hopes & Aspirations (September 2015)

Other Information

We held 10 committee meetings during the year. We have not held our AGM yet. Our total membership stands at 191 members. 5 committee members have completed the end of year survey.

Draiocht

Draiocht is a student run charity. We have established an orphanage home in Talamarang, a small village high in the mountains of Nepal and we send volunteers out to help every year. In 2013, we linked with a charity "The Olive Branch for Children" in Tanzania. The main objective of "The Olive Branch for Children" is to help remote communities in Tanzania assess their primary needs and establish programs that target the most vulnerable.

This year Draiocht won the best Civic and charity Society both in NUI Galway and in Ireland at the BICS Awards. We organised multiple fundraisers for each of these charities. These fundraisers included a visit from a hypnotist (which was very successful in that we sold out all of our tickets and had extra people queuing at the door with the hope of gaining access to his show), Halloween Fancy Dress party (all our volunteers dressed up in their scariest outfits and raised awareness and much needed funds), a Christmas Movie Night (volunteers watched Elf during study week to help calm the nerves before exams) Hell&Back in Wicklow (members and volunteers did this tortuous 12km in aid of Draiocht and fundraised at least 50euro with sponsorship cards), a table quiz (in college bar which brought volunteers together to get to know each other before heading off for the summer), and many many bake sales!!

As well as this, we had a visit from the amazing Deborah McCracken Nangereke. This incredible lady set up our sister charity "The Olive Branch for Children". She gave a truly inspirational talk on her work in Tanzania. We also had a visit from the fantastic Melanie Hennessy. This lady is the wonderful founder of Draiocht society and Team Nepal. She gave a phenomenal talk on her work in Nepal to all of our Nepal volunteers.

This year, our committee put an insane amount of work into promoting and fundraising both of our charities. We were delighted to be recognised on a national level, when we won The Best Society in a Civic and Charity Field at the Board of Irish College Society awards 2016!

Furthermore, we have updated our website. It now allows volunteers to apply online with the application forms and avoids the hassle of paper forms and is now very efficient. This year, we focused a lot of our attention on updating all off our policies, including Health & Safety, Anti-Bullying, Risk Management, Insurance and Financial Policy. We have continued with our Nepali and Tanzanian cultural and language classes which prepare our volunteers before they going abroad.

This year, we have also calibrated with many societies, including Disney Society, Law Society, Enactus NUIG and Feminist Society.

We have had our AGM on the 19th of April this year. This is to ensure that we will have a committee who are ready and experienced in September.

Draíocht Society Events list (18 Individual Events)

International AIDS Awareness Day: Charity » Áras na mac Léinn - Table A at Smokies » 01st December 2015

In aid of International AIDS awareness day, we will be selling beautiful items made by the amazing Massai women of Tanzania. Items including wonderful scarves, key chains and jewellery. All proceeds will go to these Massai women. This money empowers these women to live independently and provide for their children. They can send their daughters to school, and provide medical care for their families.

Watch Elf with Draíocht!: Charity » Galway, Galway, Seven » 02nd December 2015

Yes, that dreaded week we like to call 'study week' is looming. Cramming a whole semester into one week isn't a whole lot of fun so we at Draíocht are granting all of ye some mid-week motivation! We will be showing one of the best loved Christmas movies (Elf) in Seven on Wednesday the 2nd of December. There will be lots of popcorn provided as well as a little bit of pre Christmas cheer! So do come and join us! Tickets are 5 euro and will be available from the committee members and volunteers! All funds delivered straight towards our projects in Nepal and Tanzania!

Volunteer Meeting: Charity » AC202 » 19th January 2016

We are having a mandatory meeting for all volunteers hoping to go to Nepal or Tanzania this summer. We'll be sorting through Garda vetting forms so make sure ye all have a list of all your previous addresses. After the meeting, we will be having an informal group chat with all volunteers. This is a chance for us all to get to know each other and find out where everyone would like to go and during what month (nothing to worry about!) Anyone who is partaking in Hell and Back with us this year must also come to the meeting. We will be organising the bus and giving out sponsorship cards. We will also be collecting the 50 euro fee, so those of you have not paid yet please bring this along.

Comhlamh Meeting: Charity » AM207 » 27th January 2016

We are having a meeting for all volunteers on Wednesday the 27th at 7pm in Arts Millennium room 207. The meeting will be held by the wonderful Lorraine Tansey, the Student Volunteer coordinator of the Community Knowledge Initiative. We will be discussing Comhlamh which is an organisation open to anyone interested in social justice, human rights and global development issues. We strongly advise that all volunteers attend this meeting.

Hell and Back 2016: Charity » Wicklow, Bray, Kilruderry house and gardens » 31st January 2016

"HELL & BACK, Ireland's Toughest Mental & Physical Endurance Challenge, is the country's largest and most popular obstacle course run. 10-15km trail route crossing rivers and lakes, climbing hills and mountains and crawling through bogs and swamps. To survive, you must conquer all the elements thrown at you, whether that is the temperamental weather conditions, the gruelling natural environment or the torturous man-made obstacles." Four years later, the Draíocht crew continue to brave the elements in order to raise the much needed funds! Sponsorship cards, transport and banter all provided! If you think you can brave this challenge for such a good cause, sign up :) 50 euro deposit :) invite friends and such that you also think would also be interested

Mission Statement

Draíocht fundraises for community based projects, spreads awareness and facilitates volunteering abroad to work with charities such as 'Team Nepal' and 'The Olive Branch for Children' (Based in Tanzania).

Aims, Objectives & Goals

This year, Draíocht aims to send 3 groups of volunteers to each of our partner charities during the summer months. These volunteers aim to fundraise at least €300 each to contribute directly to the charity they have chosen to volunteer with.

We hope to organise numerous fundraising events throughout the year such as shows, sponsored races, nights out and bake sales. Members of Draíocht will be involved in these events, for example, through selling tickets, getting sponsorship, or giving time to help organise events. The money will be split between both charities.

We hope to give sufficient help for earthquake relief in Nepal. This was a devastating natural disaster that not only affected the children's home in Talamerang but the whole country. We hope to continue our help with first line relief as well as begin rebuilding homes and schools.

We aim to raise awareness of Draíocht and more importantly, the charities we work with. Inciting interest in people is key to aid progression and improvement of both the society and the charities. In order to do this successfully we continue keep our social media platforms constantly updated, mainly our website.

As a committee, we want to work efficiently together. Throughout the year we hope to improve as leaders, team-workers and in our specific roles within the society. Doing so should allow our society to reach its full potential.

We aim to increase the membership of Draíocht through extensive promotion of the society.

Society Performance Reflection

This year, I feel we have done very well as a committee. We were honoured to receive the award for Best Society in a Civic and Charity Field at the Board of Irish College Societies awards 2016. Here, all of our hard work was recognised and we received huge publicity for Draíocht.

In April of last year, Nepal was hit by an earthquake, destroying our brand new children's home in Talamarang. Through our emergency fundraising events we managed to raise 80,000 euro for our partner TEAM Nepal. Initially, that money has been used to provide emergency healthcare, shelter and food and water to thousands of people. Throughout this year, it has been used for the reconstruction of our children's home. Throughout this year, we have managed to raise over 8000 euro through our many fundraising events. This number will increase as each of our volunteers will raise at least 300euro each before leaving for the summer.

This summer, we are sending out 19 volunteers to Tanzania and 11 volunteers to Nepal. This is definitely the biggest group yet to be sent to Tanzania so we are very proud of that.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We achieved many of our aims and goals this year. we organised numerous fundraising events throughout the years such as shows, sponsored races, nights out and bake sale. Each of these raising awareness and much needed funds for each of our charities. Each of our members got involved in these events, by selling tickets, getting sponsorships and giving up their time. We have also given sufficient help for earthquake relief in Nepal, we raised over 80,000 in emergency funding. This year we used this to rebuild homes and schools.

This year we updated our website and created many facebook events and pages. In this way we were able to raise awareness of Draíocht and more importantly, the charities we work with.

As a committee, I feel we each individually achieved our goals. We worked together as a team and developed many skills along the way. As well as that, we are delighted to say that we each made many new friends.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success this year is winning the award for the Best Society in a Charity and Civic Field at the Board of Irish College Societies Awards 2016. Here, our success as a student run charity was recognised at a national level. Our committee, our members and our volunteers could not be more proud. This event gave us huge publicity and raised a huge amount of awareness for Draíocht.

Greatest Challenge

This year our greatest challenge was promoting volunteering in both Nepal and Tanzania. After the earthquake, many people were sceptical and fearful of travelling abroad in order to volunteer. However, at the end of the year, we can proudly say that we are sending out 19 volunteers to Tanzania and 11 volunteers to Nepal.

Other Information

We held 25 committee meetings during the year and we have held our AGM. Our total membership stands at 234 members. 9 committee members have completed the end of year survey.

Dramsoc

This year has been a big year for Dramsoc culminating in hosting the Irish Student Drama Awards (ISDA's). The Committee spent the year striving to improve the society and in doing so we implemented some new systems as well as put on some terrific events.

New Systems:

This year we implemented 5 new systems. These are: Front of House, live minuting, more defined description of production roles, a new submission form and we implemented more assistant/shadowing roles in order to teach new people the roles. These systems have helped the society to run smoother both in relation to the plays as well on the admin side. They have also helped train new people to be able to be involved with dramsoc next year.

Plays:

This year we put on 7 plays, almost 60 percent were original plays written by students/staff of the college. The plays were: RAG, Beauty Queen of Leenane, Veronica Broderick, Someone Who'll Watch Over Me, Vincent, New Electric Ballroom and The Drowned Calf. Each of these plays were well produced and enjoyed by many. In fact three of the 5 eligible (the last two were not due to timing) have gone on to be in the Irish Student Drama Award festival.

Workshops and Events:

We put on many workshops and events this year, many of which happened during the ISDA fringe. From the Dramsoc version of Socs day to our production roles workshops we held a lot of great workshops which helped people to learn what its like to be involved in Dramsoc. We also held some great events such as the Drums halloween party and the Drag night during the ISDA fringe.

ISDAs:

This year Dramsoc was the host of the national student drama awards festival. It was on from the 14-23 of March and featured 15 plays from colleges around the country. This festival of student drama comes with its own set of problems, mainly how to run a functioning society while also preparing for it. Our solution was to set up a sub-committee in charge of both setting up ISDAs and the fringe. We won Best Production for 'Someone Who'll Watch Over Me' and Best Actor for Dylan McCormack.

Block R

This year we finally got our replacement shed, in the form of Block R. This new facility makes set making a lot easier and with a rehearsal room and a costume room we don't have to worry as much about getting space/losing material due to lack of space. Prop and set storage has remained at the library store.

New Electric Ballroom: Arts & Culture » BOI Theatre » 01st March 2016

Ballroom: Set in an Irish coastal village propped up on it's fishing industry, 'The New Electric Ballroom' shows us the lives of three sisters who live stunted lives, overburdened by memories of their past. Clara and Breda in turn take us through re-tellings of a long-passed teenage night. They bring us through their fervent preparation for the evening ahead and their eventual journey, leaving their dull, small-life village behind and heading to the Ballroom in the next town over, The New Electric. What happens that evening, the fleeting passion and almost romance, leaves the two separately heartbroken and silently humiliated. Decades later they are still so preoccupied by this night that they can do nothing but re-tell their tale and re-live their destruction. Ada, twenty years younger than her sisters, lives under the shadow of her sisters' past tragedy. She cycles daily from her lonely job to their isolated existence at home. Ada joins her older sisters in reliving their past and their mistakes, mistakes which she herself has never had the chance to make. The three are alone except from the occasional interruption from a local fishmonger, Patsy, a man who is haunted not by some horror in his past but by the unbearable prospect of living in the present, and a crippling fear of daring to have a future. All four have conditioned themselves into withdrawal in order to protect themselves and their hearts. In the end a few of them see that exposing themselves to heartbreak might be their only escape. The New Electric Ballroom was first presented in English by Druid in 2008. This production won an Edinburgh Fringe First, Best New Play and Best Supporting Actor at the Irish Times Theatre Awards, as well as praise the world over.

ISDA (Irish Student Drama Association) Festival: Arts & Culture » BOI Theatre » 14th March 2016

It's coming close to that time of year again, the annual ISDA Festival! The Irish Student Drama Association (commonly referred to as ISDA) is the umbrella organisation of Ireland's most prolific third-level drama societies. The highlight of the ISDA year is the association's annual theatre festival and award ceremony – a 10-day-long festival in which all member societies may display their shows and compete. This year the festival will be hosted by NUI Galway with participants from universities in Dublin, Maynooth, Cork, Belfast and more. From the 14th of March ISDA will be occupying some amazing theatres across Galway City, such as The Mick Lally Theatre (Druid Theatre), our very own Bank of Ireland Theatre and An Taibhdhearc to name but a few. If you are interested in volunteering at this year's festival please email isdafest16@gmail.com. We will accept as many volunteers as possible as we'll need help with Front of House, tech, set, postering, events etc. Any NUI Galway student can volunteer at the festival. If alumni wish to lend a hand please do not hesitate to email us! Get ready for a hectic 10 day theatre extravaganza! Be sure to check out the website <http://theisdafestival.com/> for updates!

The Women of the Rising: The Untold Stories: Arts & Culture » Aras ui Cathaill, NUI Galway » 15th March 2016

Hosted by Cumann Staire, Feminist Society and Drama Society NUI Galway with Special Guest: Caitriona Clear a Senior Lecturer in the Department of History NUIG and playwright Gerry Conneely. We all know the story of the 1916 rising and the patriots who gave their lives for Ireland, what many of don't know however is the stories of the women of the rising. In this centenary year we present an evening in praise and recognition of the role of women in the rising. The women who played a significant role in the events which changed our history but whom history forgot. The evening will form part of the NUI Galway ISDA Theatre Fringe Festival panel discussion series. Guest on the evening will be playwright Gerry Conneely whose radio play 'The Gifford Girls' is due to be broadcast on the Keith Finnegan show on Galway Bay FM for Easter Week and is funded by the Broadcasting Authority of Ireland with the television licence fee. The play tells the story of The Gifford sisters from a protestant family in Rathfarnham. According to playwright and Director Gerry Conneely '1916 rising was the seminal event in the establishment of the Irish State. Most of us know the actual events of the rising, itself, and its tragic climax. However little is known of the men themselves and practically nothing is known of the women at the centre of the event. The production sets out to turn the traditional treatments on their head. While dealing accurately with the events it looks in depth at the mood and atmosphere of the city during the years leading up to the rebellion.' The play is produced by Iaro Productions and producer Róna Hughes and members of the cast will be present on the evening to participate in the discussion. The event will feature some extracts from the play, audio and video interviews with women recounting their experiences during the rising. Joining the panel will be Caitriona Clear a Senior Lecturer in the Department of History NUIG. She is a founder member of the Women's History Association of Ireland and the author of several books on nineteenth-century Irish women's history and social history generally.

The Great Push: Arts & Culture » Galway, Druid Lane, Mick Lally Theatre » 16th March 2016

The Great Push by Patrick McGill Mick Lally Theatre Foyer (Druid) 16th March at 6.30pm The Great Push is the original and the greatest anti war classic, written with the clarity and authority of a man who stepped into the abyss and lived to tell the tale. Gerry Conneely's performance captures the humanity and pathos of Magill and his comrades who went over the top on the 25th of Sept 1915. The action takes place over the 24th and 25th of September, the day before and the day of the battle. The story follows the experience of seven young men as they make their way from their billet in the village of Bethune, their night in the trench and their, early morning assault on the German positions. Much of The Great Push was written in situ, in the trenches, immediately before and immediately after the battle. Patrick McGill's writing betrays the deep vulnerability he is feeling. It contains a truth and an authenticity that only the threat of imminent death can produce. This truth is manifest in his sudden reversions to his Glenties vernacular, the extraordinary detail of his descriptions, the tone of his conversations and the vivid character portraits of his fellow soldiers. There is the real sense that none of this is being made up. It simply couldn't be.

RAG an NUIG production for ISDA: Arts & Culture » Galway, Galway City, An Taibhdhearc » 16th March 2016

RAG is an original play written and directed by Kevin Murphy. RAG tells a tale full of drunken debauchery about 5 students over 5 days of Rag week in Galway. Brian is planning on making this the most exciting week ever for his merry band. Tensions arise as the week progresses and the perfect night becomes nothing more than a fantasy for the group. It tackles issues such as: academic life, social status and the effects of alcohol abuse. The play is relatable to all sorts of students. RAG is written by a student, for students. "This city of culture, of art and of music is laying down and begging us to go rampant over the week. A week where college empties and nightclubs burst. We are going to conquer Galway city! CHEERS!" Butterfly Kiss a UCC production for ISDA: Arts & Culture » The Cube, Aras na Mac Leinn » 21st March 2016

Butterfly Kiss is a play about matricide. From her jail cell, Lily summons up her past: a vivid collage of cross-fades and flashbacks, which reveals aspects of her experience cumulatively, not chronologically, thus throughout the play unfolds the story of her life - and her crime - through shifting and mesmeric scenes, her interlaced memories revealing the psychosexual tangle of her childhood and the events that led up to her trial. Scenes change in a matter of seconds, and many a time both the past and present are played on stage at the same time. Her relationships are chronicled in hard-edged scenes, all leading in an impossible multiplicity of ways, to the terrible truth of what she has done to her mother. Mature themes. Strictly over 18's.Tickets 5/8

Mission Statement

Dramsoc is a home for all theatre goers, makers and lovers and a platform for their theatrical experimentation and development.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

For 2015/2016 we aim to push Dramsoc to the limits of professionalism, art, inclusion and enjoyment. Having a new scenic and costume space will allow us to expand on our production skills and get more people involved in the design and construction. We are also hosting ISDAs this year and we are working hard to make it as joyous an experience for all students involved as it has been for us in previous years. We also aim to continue to bring the quality of our productions upwards and gain more recognition for all the hard work we do at ISDAs.

Society Performance Reflection

Our soc did fantastically, we put on many shows, as well as an intervarstiy. Loads of workshops and events and had a enerally very busy year.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We put on many plays, helped people get involved in drama and put on a national drama awrads festival.

Enactus

Enactus NUI Galway is a group of students from a wide variety of disciplines of study, possessing an entrepreneurial spirit and passion for innovation who, alongside the assistance and guidance of our Business and Faculty Advisory Board, develop sustainable projects within the community with the primary aim of benefiting society. There are ten groups nationwide, making up the Enactus Ireland competition, Enactus NUI Galway being one and the other nine groups are made up of third level institutions across Ireland.

The yearlong process finally culminates in a presentation held at the Chartered Accountants of Ireland in Dublin in May, where all groups showcase the projects that they have implemented and developed over the previous months leading up to the presentations in front of leading Business figures in industry. The winning group goes through to the international competition to not only represent their university but represent their country at the international Enactus final which will be held this year in Toronto in October 2016.

Enactus gives students the chance to make a real and sustainable change within society and wider area by utilising the entrepreneurial spirit which they hold while gaining valuable experience and gaining the guidance and expertise of key Business figures within industry.

Mission Statement

Enactus is a community of students committed to using the power of entrepreneurial action to transform lives and shape a better more sustainable world.

Entrepreneurial—initiating business ideas and solutions with passion and innovation.

Action—the experience of sustainable impact, activated with integrity.

Us—student, academic and business leaders collaborating to create a better world.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

To work effectively together as a team, respecting issues of diversity and equality. To develop partnership and co-operation with the community sector and assess community needs To create and promote projects as a means of addressing the social, environmental and economics needs of community. Ultimately put in place structures aimed at achieving social change that will contribute to the creation of a more just, sustainable and equal society.

Society Performance Reflection

Our society achieved a lot this year. 3 successful projects were run this year, CARA, The Wallflower Initiative and Headstarts. More members were recruited than any previous year.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Yes, we achieved the following objectives:

To work effectively together as a team, respecting issues of diversity and equality

To develop partnership and co-operation with the community sector and assess community needs

To create and promote projects as a means of addressing the social, environmental and economic needs of community.

Ultimately put in place structures aimed at achieving social change that will contribute to the creation of a more just, sustainable and equal society.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success to date was to see over 50 active members striving to see real change across our campus and Galway city.

Greatest Challenge

Energy Society

The purpose of the Energy Society is to bring students together who have an interest in all things to do with energy to work together and to arrange events displaying energy in the world and all topics that are current.

This year our society was involved in a number of events. We had the success of the opening soc's day where we collected 414 members to follow with us in the academic year 2015/2016. A lot of interest was shown to the society from all courses which was really positive.

The next event that took place was the Triple E was organised together with the Entrepreneurship and the Engineering Society. This event focused on Entrepreneurship, Engineering and Energy with special guest speakers to talk about these topics on the night. It also allowed students to speak with the guests after and learn about what they do over light refreshments.

This year Energy Society took on a bid to bring the International Student Energy Summit to Galway. This is the largest congregation of students interested in energy in the world. A lot of hard work, and dedication was put into trying to win this bid, and we caught the interest of many major companies and energy leaders in Ireland who wanted to support us. Unfortunately we were unsuccessful in securing the bid but we were short-listed in the top three candidates. That in itself is a credit to all the hard work and help we received from the University and fellow students.

Each year Energy Soc organises a European trip, In early January 2016 the energy society travelled to Amsterdam for the annual society trip. The highlight of this trip was the day visit to TU Delft. The Energy Society were shown the Pr-Loger, an energy neutral house renovation built entirely by students and is modelled on a Dutch row house in the vicinity. Applying a 'skin' over the existing house, the south facing wall is fitted with a greenhouse and solar panels, in contrast to the northern faced wall which is insulated in order to retain heat which is generally lost due to it being the cooler side of the house. Similar to the NUI Galway Engineering Building, this construction is a living laboratory, allowing visiting students to observe these technologies in practise. The main highlight of the tour was the Dream Hall, a concept unthinkable to an Irish Engineering Student, truly like a dream. We walked around the dream hall and were left truly astonished by the students' projects. As well as TU Delft trip, the society did a lot of sightseeing. We walked around the beautiful city of Amsterdam and took a boat trip down the canals. On the second last day of our stay we visited the Heineken museum, this was a great experience. Overall we had an excellent trip to Amsterdam. We thanked the TU Delft Energy Club and in particular Manos Lyrakis, Sjoerd Moorman and Natalia Aleksandrova because they truly made our visit to TU Delft and the Netherlands unforgettable.

Each year Energy Society hosts Ireland's largest and longest-running student-run energy event, Energy Night. This year the event examined Ireland's energy dependency and our future energy mix.

This year we provided an even more topical discussion looking to the future of Irish Energy.

Energy Night 2016, "Ireland's Energy Dependency and our Future Energy Mix" • discussed the current situation of energy in Ireland and what our future will look like. As there is a current shift towards more renewable energy, what will become of our largest CO2 emitter "Moneypoint Power Station in Co. Clare?"

A "Careers in Energy" seminar was held with several speakers from major companies such as Dell, Accenture, ESB, and Medtronic who deliver presentations on their current projects and various employment opportunities in Galway and in Ireland.

A poster competition on the theme of "Engineering, Technology and Science: Shaping our Future" took place in the atrium of the Engineering Building and was open to all undergraduate and postgraduate students.

The evening's main event was a fascinating panel discussion which featured speakers with backgrounds across the spectrum of energy generation including Nuclear, Wind, Electricity and Biofuels.

Mission Statement

To promote energy among the student body of NUIG and to host events that facilitate learning, debating and discussion of energy topics and issues.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

To improve upon the success Energy Night has been for the past few years.

To increase member size and interest.

To host more small scale events throughout the year.

To successfully bid to bring the International Student Energy Summit to Galway in 2017.

Society Performance Reflection

Overall, Our society had a successful year. With a great team working together it allowed us to organise great events and get as involved as possible in the college events throughout the year. With the main event being Energy Night, it was a huge success and we were so glad to receive such good feedback from both students and staff.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Most importantly, Energy Night was one of our main aims to improve its overall standard from the last few years and it was a great success on the night.

Although we failed to bring the International Student Energy Summit to Galway. We worked hard to put together a great bid with loads of collaboration with the college and local businesses but were unfortunately unsuccessful.

The trip to Amsterdam was also a great success both for enjoyment and education.

Greatest Success

Energy Night, This was a great success as we had speakers in from all different industries concerning energy which allowed for an interesting and exciting debate. The careers talk hosted world renowned companies such as ESB, Accenture and Dell. It allowed students to come along and listen to what each company entails and allowed time for the discussion with the guests afterward.

Greatest Challenge

The biggest challenge for the society was ensuring we maintained or surpassed the success of our previous committee members and ensured we represented the Energy Society in the best way possible. Thankfully, as results of having a great team this was achieved and surpassed which was a great accomplishment going forward.

Eng Soc

The Engineering Society acts as a gateway for students to get more involved in college, meet new interesting people, create memories and partake in numerous events throughout the year. It gives students the opportunity to get involved in activities which they would never get the chance to beforehand.

Academically, the society actively promotes engineering and STEM careers by hosting talks within the college. These talks involve inviting Ireland's bright minds to share their journey to becoming successful. Placement talks help students understand what to expect before being integrated into the working world.

Throughout the year we host numerous different events within the college. For example, our annual black-tie ball is one of the largest social events on our university's calendar with upwards of 1,200 people in attendance.

Charitable events throughout the year prove as a great help to local charities, with Console, a suicide awareness charity, benefiting from our work in the previous two academic years.

We also plan educational trips both abroad and within Ireland. These trips are a great way for people to get to know each other. Trips to Limerick and Cork in the previous two years have brought the society as a whole closer together and these trips have proven to improve team spirit and morale. Partaking in activities like Tough Mudder again brings the society closer together and this trip within Ireland again help raise funding for Console.

The society acts as a welcoming path for people to integrate themselves into a society without having any specific hobby and proves as a great source of networking for future work.

Mission Statement

EngSoc, enlightening minds, building social relations and creating timeless memories!

Aims, Objectives & Goals

We aim to promote engineering and technology across the University, as well as provide a fun, engaging and informative society for Engineering students to get involved in!

We expect to enlighten the minds of students. Numerous guest speakers will help guide the students of NUIG towards a career path which fits their every need.

We plan on giving the students of NUIG a chance to feel welcome at all events and get chances to create memories from our events. The most noticeable events being the Mystery Trip abroad and our highly anticipated annual ball with the Nurses.

Society Performance Reflection

The society performed successfully in every event we planned with every event proving a massive success. The two main events the society plan, the Mystery Trip Abroad and the Engineering Ball, proved to be the most successful in recent years. The international DJ Sam Feldt performing at the Engineering and Nursing Ball proved the highlight. Getting such an enormous acts, showed how much work went into the society.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We unfortunately fell short on our initial objectives. While we surpassed what we ever could have hoped in social and charitable events, we wanted to have more speaking events. Our annual EEE event proved successful as always and we had the biggest turnout for our placement talk with 250 people in attendance. While we fell short on the amount of talks, the amount of people attending these displayed that we really understood what students actually wanted. This can be related back with the importance of the social events where we integrated all years together and spoke to students and found out what really needed to be addressed. Improving on the amount of talks however, will be a priority next year.

Greatest Success

The Engineering and Nursing ball is the stand out success. The acts we secured were amazing. The stage production on the night ran smoothly and as an added bonus, these international superstars credited us on how well the ball was ran, saying it was one of the best run events they ever had the chance to play at. The theme fit in nicely with the people attending the ball appreciating the decorations and extra performers. All this coupled with the profits made from the ball makes the Engineering and Nursing Ball the undisputed success for the society.

Greatest Challenge

The greatest challenge was the Ball. With 3rd year committee members gone for 2nd semester we were left with a smaller workforce to pull off our biggest events. This coupled with integrating nurses into the committee who we did not know yet was a challenge. Making them feel welcome had to be achieved quickly so they could voice their opinions comfortably from the offset. Delegating jobs was important as the vast amount of work couldn't have been accomplished by a small group a big team effort was needed. In the end we pulled off, what we believe was our best event in the year.

Other Information

We held 20 committee meetings during the year and we have held our AGM. Our total membership stands at 1483 members. 13 committee members have completed the end of year survey.

Entrepreneurship Society

One of the mission statements of the Entrepreneurship Society is '...the Entrepreneurship Society acts as a discussion group, encouraging entrepreneurship and collective debate, whilst creating an atmosphere of productivity. We want our members to feel part of a larger community of people and know that we support them to follow their dreams'. Supporting Students in their quest to follow their dreams - this year the EntreSoc has done just that. Throughout the year we have been one of the most active societies on campus; by providing practical assistance through seminars and workshops in the many varied areas that entrepreneurship involves, we have helped equip students with invaluable skills that will empower them now and in the future to be the innovators of tomorrow. The EntreSoc successfully initiated three brand new initiatives in the 2015/2016 academic year; Stock School, led by market expert Jason Walsh, gives students the opportunity to learn free of charge how to approach and engage successfully with investment and the Stock markets; Sales School, presented by local entrepreneur Paul Behan, equipped students with invaluable sales techniques which are vital as part of any startup; and Marketing Academy, the brainchild of EntreSoc member Ruairi McNicholas, brought in guest speakers to impart valuable marketing insights to prospective marketing enthusiasts. All in all, this year has been one of growth and activity in the Entrepreneurship Society, and the foundations have been laid for an even more successful year to come.

Entrepreneurship Society Events list (36 Individual Events)

E: Seminar » ENG G-017 » 09th September 2015

Tripple E event from Wednesday 9th September saw the Engineering Society, Entrepreneurship Society and Energy Society team up to bring you the first of many amazing events of the year, "TRIPLE E". The event involved three amazing speakers giving their insight to start-ups, future employment and the ups and downs of being an Entrepreneur. Eugene Greaney (Dough Bros), Michael Champion (Lecturer NUIG) and Joe Smyth (AltoCloud) gave the attendees a real vision into aspects of being your own boss, technology and what students can do now to make them more employable. The event was a huge success and many thanks to Eugene, Michael, and Joe for taking the time to share their expertise, Mr Waffle for proving the food and to Eng Soc and Energy Soc. We look forward to working with you in the future.

Mission Statement

The primary aim of the society is to promote an environment that enables entrepreneurs to develop and expand their ideas into meaningful endeavours. This will be done through a range of innovative and interactive events, applicable to all of our members.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

- The society aims to increase the membership numbers in the society, and in the particular the number of active and engaged members.
- The society wants to broaden the range of events we host, from a mainly technical/startup orientated society, into a broad range of entrepreneurial endeavours including lifestyle businesses and sole traders.
- We hope to diversify in the type of events we run, ranging beyond talks and into competitions and programmes.
- The society wish to become more involved in the community, both through local businesses and nationally through the other entrepreneurial societies in the country.

Society Performance Reflection

I believe the society did very well this year as a whole. We raised our profile among the student body considerably through the various events we hosted throughout the year. A number of new initiatives were launched which proved to be extremely successful and beneficial.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Yes. We were successful in diversifying our range of events, with the EntreSoc running our Stock School Challenge, a competition with a €500 cash prize, and also our co-hosting of the NUI Galway Student Enterprise Awards with Blackstone Launchpad.

We also saw our event range broadened with the successful introduction of Sales School, a series of workshops aimed at developing and improving sales techniques.

Greatest Success

Stock School, run by Jason Walsh, could be considered our greatest success this year. The inaugural event saw a massive turnout and interest and participation continued throughout the academic year. We feel that we have begun something here that has the potential to become one of NUI Galway's most popular and recognised non-academic courses.

Greatest Challenge

Learning to successfully co-ordinate and organise events could be seen as our greatest challenge yet.

ESN NUI Galway

Erasmus Student Network (ESN) is a non-profit international student organisation that is highly active in NUIG. ESN is the key volunteer student organization in international higher education in Europe. Our mission is to represent international students, thus provide opportunities for cultural understanding and self-development under the principle of Students Helping Students. We run trips, social events and lots of other activities while providing support for international students in NUIG. ESN is a great place to make friends both international and Irish and our aim is to ensure you get as much out of your exchange experience in every way possible.

Mission Statement

The Erasmus Student Network Society strives to:

- help all the incoming erasmus as well as international students to have a great international experience in Ireland. We make sure they get to know Irish culture more and travel around the country.
- welcome back the NUIG students who went on their Erasmus abroad and integrate them with like-minded students at NUIG
- allow all the NUIG students to find out more information about the Erasmus programme
- help the students find new friends, have a great time at college and have a cultural understanding

Aims, Objectives & Goals

Our aims and objectives for the year:

- to hold at least one event per week
- to vary our events all the time and be creative with venues
- to organise trips around Ireland and present the Irish culture to the international students
- to provide more information about the Erasmus programme to the NUIG students and thus encourage them to gain experience through studying abroad

Society Performance Reflection

Our society did extremely well, the committee worked well together, the attendance of the members at our events was really high and the we all enjoyed this academic year.

FanSci

This year has been a good one for FanSci, We have continued our traditional events, such as weekly board game and card game night, as well as co-hosting a number of special events with our fellow societies. Our membership has been fairly good, and we have been able to maintain regular attendance from week to week. We successfully hosted Itzacon, our annual gaming convention and made trips across the country to attend conventions hosted by our sister societies in other universities.

Feminist Society

This year, NUIG's Feminist Society was very active and met on a regular basis. In particular, the society's Book Club events were popular and enjoyable. We had great engagement on social media and were approached by groups/organisations to support projects which correspond to the values of our society. To be in a position to help such projects is a real privilege for us. As the end of the year approaches, we are planning our final event, which we hope will be a screening of 'The Mask You Live In' exploring the current crisis in masculinity. As a team, the committee worked really well together and we are very happy with all that was achieved this year.

FemSoc Book Club: Social » Member's House » 22nd September 2015

FemSoc Book Club returns Tuesday September 22nd to discuss Lady Chatterley's Lover by D.H. Lawrence. Even if you haven't finished the book, swing by to chat (book)shop with some rad people and of course, enjoy some wine, beverages and party snacks. Everyone is welcome to attend. We will be meeting at Lydia's House @ 8pm. Email FemSoc at feminist@socs.nuigalway.ie for directions. Bring along a few suggests for our next book choice and we'll put it to a vote. Like us on facebook to check out all our great events, and RSVP to Book Club here:

Feminist Meet and Greet: Social » College Bar, Back room » 24th September 2015

FemSoc will be hosting a meet and greet at the College Bar. Come on down to the back of the bar next Thursday the 24th at 8pm to meet the FemSoc committee, meet your fellow feminists, and generally have some feminist-y fun times. Pizza and finger foods will be provided.

Feminist Fillums: Persepolis!: Arts & Culture » Room 1001, Hardiman Research Building » 08th October 2015

Come join FemSoc for a feminist film night on Thursday 8th October! We'll be watching Persepolis, which is based on Marjane Satrapi's graphic novel of the same name and is a generally a Very Good Film. We'll have popcorn and refreshments so you will feel also suitably refreshed (we're just that good to you), but feel free to bring your own snacks too. So join us at 8pm on Thursday at Room 1001 (The Bridge) in the Hardiman Research Building because what else would you be doing that night? We copied the blurb from IMDB so you don't have to: 'Based on Satrapi's graphic novel about her life in pre and post-revolutionary Iran and then in Europe. The film traces Satrapi's growth from child to rebellious, punk-loving teenager in Iran. In the background are the growing tensions of the political climate in Iran in the 70s and 80s, with members of her liberal-leaning family detained and then executed, and the background of the disastrous Iran/Iraq war.'

Book Club Presents: Fried Green Tomatoes at the Whistle Stop Cafe: Social » Member's House » 27th October 2015

School's back in session and so is Book Club! Join us for feminist-y fun times and food when we discuss our thoughts on Fried Green Tomatoes at the Whistle Stop Café by Fannie Flag. All are welcome to attend! Fried green tomatoes will be provided. RSVP on Facebook here <https://www.facebook.com/events/1472759263031893/1472768603030959/> or email feminist@socs.nuigalway.ie for more information.

FemSoc and PsychSoc Ultimate Team-Up: Table Quiz in aid of commit and act!: Charity » College Bar, Back room » 03rd November 2015

FemSoc and PsychSoc are teaming up to bring you a Really Awesome Table Quiz on Tuesday 3rd November at 8pm at the College Bar. This is in aid of commit and act, which provides psychosocial support to areas of low income countries and areas afflicted by conflict. You can find out more about the charity here: <http://commitandact.com/> It's about twenty euro per table, with maximum four people to one. We'll have prizes for first, second, and third place, and there'll be a RAFFLE because who doesn't love raffles. (Answer: silly people don't love raffles. You don't want to hang out with silly people, do you? Oh wait, hang on) So come on down in support of a very good cause, come with your silliest/feminist-themed/psychology-themed names, get a bit too overly competitive (or maybe that's just me who does that), and have a very good time. We're looking forward to seeing you there!

FemSoc Book Club Presents: Beloved: Social » Galway, Salthill, Amanda's House » 24th November 2015

Book Club continues through November to meet and discuss our next book, Beloved by Toni Morrison. Swing by for food, fun, and a good dose of discourse. As usual, refreshments and snack foods will be provided. All are welcome! If you are interested in attending book club, PM the society on Facebook or email us at feminist@socs.nuigalway.ie for meeting location and more information.

16 Days of Activism Campaign Against Gender Violence: Health & Lifestyle » NUIG » 25th November 2015

T-Shirt Decorating: Arts & Culture » Concourse Table A » 25th November 2015

Feminist Society is hosting The Clothesline Project as one of our many events for the 16 Days of Activism Against Gender Violence, which runs between November 25th and December 10th. The Clothesline Project is an international advocacy movement that allows participants to creatively express their feelings about power-based violence by decorating shirts with phrases of their own choosing and colors that symbolize different types of violence: White T-shirts represent women who died because of violence

Yellow and beige represent battered or assaulted women

Red, pink and orange represent survivors of rape and sexual assault

Blue and green represent survivors of incest and sexual abuse

Purple and lavender represent women attacked because of their sexual orientation

Black for women attacked for political reasons

Stop by Table A on the Concourse by Smokey's to donate or decorate a shirt for this wonderful cause. More information about the project can be found here: <http://www.clotheslineproject.org/history.htm>

The Clothesline Project Visual Display: Arts & Culture » Foyer of Bailey Allen Hall » 30th November 2015

Visit Bailey Allen Hall to check out the Clothesline Project to raise awareness of how gender-based violence affects our campus. The Clothesline Project is an international advocacy movement that allows participants to creatively express their feelings about power-based violence by decorating shirts with phrases of their own choosing and colours that symbolize different types of violence: White T-shirts represent women who died because of violence Yellow and beige represent battered or assaulted women Red, pink and orange represent survivors of rape and sexual assault Blue and green represent survivors of incest and sexual abuse Purple and lavender represent women attacked because of their sexual orientation Black for women attacked for political reasons As this is an on-going project, students, faculty and staff are welcome to donate and/or decorate shirts, which will be put on display in the Bailey Allen Hall foyer. Shirts can be donated to a Drop Box in the Wellness Centre, located in The Hub in Bailey Allen Hall.

Smart Consent Workshop with Elaine Byrnes: Training » THB-G010 Moore Institute Seminar Room, Hardiman Library » 01st December 2015

Smart Consent is a workshop where students can explore what consent means in a fun environment, led by facilitator, Elaine Byrnes, from the School of Psychology. Smart Consent was developed following research conducted with NUI Galway students on the topic on Consent and Sexual Services. The objectives of this Smart Consent Workshop are to: Have improved knowledge of the meaning of Smart Consent Change attitudes toward a positive model of consent Identify links between consent, intimacy and pleasurable sexual experiences Describe how communication about consent could help reduce the possibility of rape or sexual assault Have a LOT of fun exploring Smart Consent in a safe, peer-supported environment! Please note, you will not be asked about your own sexual history or experiences. Fictional scenarios will be presented and you will be invited to engage in activities to raise awareness of what consent means for you. Over 1,500 students have taken part in our surveys and focus groups so far. We use findings on their sexual attitudes and behaviours to help you explore the grey area that is sexual consent.

elsewhere'. We send volunteers out to Tanzania to help The Olive Branch for Children continue their many programs for the most vulnerable.

The Women of the rising: The untold Stories: Seminar » Aras ui Cathaill Lecture Theatre, NUI Galway » 15th March 2016
Hosted by Cumann Staire, Feminist Society and Drama Society NUI Galway with Special Guest: Caitriona Clear a Senior Lecturer in the Department of History NUI Galway and playwright Gerry Conneely. We all know the story of the 1916 rising and the patriots who gave their lives for Ireland, what many of don't know however is the stories of the women of the rising. In this centenary year we present an evening in praise and recognition of the role of women in the rising. The women who played a significant role in the events which changed our history but whom history forgot. The evening will form part of the NUI Galway ISDA Theatre Fringe Festival panel discussion series. Guest on the evening will be playwright Gerry Conneely whose radio play 'The Gifford Girls' is due to be broadcast on the Keith Finnegan show on Galway Bay FM for Easter Week and is funded by the Broadcasting Authority of Ireland with the television licence fee. The play tells the story of The Gifford sisters from a protestant family in Rathfarnham. According to playwright and Director Gerry Conneely '1916 rising was the seminal event in the establishment of the Irish State. Most of us know the actual events of the rising, itself, and its tragic climax. However little is known of the men themselves and practically nothing is known of the women at the centre of the event. The production sets out to turn the traditional treatments on their head. While dealing accurately with the events it looks in depth at the mood and atmosphere of the city during the years leading up to the rebellion.' The play is produced by Iaro Productions and producer Ríona Hughes and members of the cast will be present on the evening to participate in the discussion. The event will feature some extracts from the play, audio and video interviews with women recounting their experiences during the rising. Joining the panel will be Caitriona Clear a Senior Lecturer in the Department of History NUI Galway. She is a founder member of the Women's History Association of Ireland and the author of several books on nineteenth-century Irish women's history and social history generally. The evening promises to bring to life these extraordinary women, members of Inghinidhe na hÉireann, women like Constance Markievicz, Helena Molony and Grace Gifford, who married Joseph Plunkett on the night of his execution, and Muriel who was married to Thomas McDonagh and their sisters Nellie and Sidney (John) Gifford. Women who stood shoulder to shoulder with the men and whose courage and ingenuity set in motion events which led to Irish independence. The NUI Galway Societies invite you to celebrate their memory and reflect on how things have changed and how some things remain the same one hundred years on. See the event on Facebook. FemSoc Book Club Presents: The Country Girls: Social » Galway, Salthill, Member House » 23rd March 2016
This time book club will be reading The Country Girls by Edna O'Brien. According to GoodReads: "Meet Kate and Baba, two young Irish country girls who have spent their childhood together. As they leave the safety of their convent school in search of life and love in the big city, they struggle to maintain their somewhat tumultuous relationship. Kate, dreamy and romantic, yearns for true love, while Baba just wants to experience the life of a single girl. Although they set out to conquer the world together, as their lives take unexpected turns, Kate and Baba must ultimately learn to find their own way. So as always, join us on Wednesday March 23rd for snacks and refreshments. All are welcome! Please email society at feminist.socs@nuigalway.ie or PM us on Facebook for further details. RSVP to Book Club here.

FemSoc Book Club: Half of a Rising Sun: Social » Galway, Salthill, Member House » 25th April 2016 Book Club is back for more! Join us Monday April 25th @ 7:30pm as we discuss our next book, Half of a Yellow Sun by Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie, over snacks, munchies, cheeses and wine (because we're fancy types, don'tcha know). Goodreads description: "With effortless grace, celebrated author Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie illuminates a seminal moment in modern African history: Biafra's impassioned struggle to establish an independent republic in southeastern Nigeria during the late 1960s. We experience this tumultuous decade alongside five unforgettable characters: Ugwu, a thirteen-year-old houseboy who works for Odenigbo, a university professor full of revolutionary zeal; Olanna, the professor's beautiful young mistress who has abandoned her life in Lagos for a dusty town and her lover's charm; and Richard, a shy young Englishman infatuated with Olanna's willful twin sister Kainene. Half of a Yellow Sun is a tremendously evocative novel of the promise, hope, and disappointment of the Biafran war. As per our usual, there will be great bants with some of your friendly neighborhood feminists. All are welcome! Please email society at feminist.socs@nuigalway.ie or PM us on Facebook for further details. See you there!

FemSoc AGM, Elections and Film Night!: Social » G065 Psychology Extension, Arts Millennium Building » 05th May 2016

It's that time of year again! Come to the FemSoc AGM where we'll ratify the new constitution, eat some pizza and snacks, and we'll also be electing NEW COMMITTEE MEMBERS! Have you ever wanted to take a leadership role in a society? Have some great ideas for what we should do next year? Then FemSoc wants YOU! Positions available are: Auditor Vice-Auditor Secretary Treasurer PR Officer Campaigns Officer OCM's...and More! We'll also close the night by watching Whip It, a great film about 'an indie-rock loving misfit who finds a way of dealing with her small-town misery after she discovers a roller derby league in nearby Austin (imdb).' We look forward to seeing you there! Contact us at feminist@socs.nuigalway.ie or follow us on Facebook and Twitter for more info!

FemSoc Book Club: Tipping the Velvet: Social » Galway, Salthill, Member's House » 01st June 2016

Join us on Wednesday June 1st @ 7:30pm for one last FemSoc Book Club, when we'll be discussing Tipping the Velvet by Sarah Waters. As always, there will be delicious snacks, cheeses and wine (because we're fancy types, dontcha know) for everyone to enjoy. All are welcome! Goodreads description: "This delicious, steamy debut novel chronicles the adventures of Nan King, who begins life as an oyster girl in the provincial seaside town of Whitstable and whose fortunes are forever changed when she falls in love with a cross-dressing music-hall singer named Miss Kitty Butler. When Kitty is called up to London for an engagement on "Grease Paint Avenue," Nan follows as her dresser and secret lover, and, soon after, dons trousers herself and joins the act. In time, Kitty breaks her heart, and Nan assumes the guise of butch roue - a sort of Moll Flanders in drag - finally finding friendship and true love in the most unexpected places. Drawing comparison to the work of Jeanette Winterson, Sarah Waters' novel is a feast for the senses - a lushly detailed historical novel that bursts with life and dazzlingly casts the turn of the century in a different light. Email society at feminist.socs@nuigalway.ie or PM us on Facebook for further details and/or directions to the house. See you there!

Mission Statement

Feminism advances the idea that all genders should enjoy equal status in society. It is a collection of movements aimed at defining, establishing and defending equal political, economic and social rights, as well as equal opportunities for all. Though it is an oft misunderstood concept, the Feminist Society believes that feminism is more relevant than ever in contemporary Ireland.

Acknowledging and building on the longstanding history of feminist activism in NUI Galway, which has been revived in recent years by dedicated students and staff, the Feminist Society aims to provide a forum for debate and discussion on issues of equality and human rights. We are open to all students, staff, and alumni of any gender, and anyone interested in coming together with like-minded people or to learn more about what feminism represents.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

1. Create a variety of events to interest all students on campus, including film nights, book club, and meet and greets.
2. Efforts to recruit and retain undergraduate members
3. 16 Days of Activism events
4. International Women's Day and Gender Awareness Week events
5. Charity events for Commit + Act; Galway Crisis Centre
6. Foster inter-club collaborative events

Society Performance Reflection

Our society did really well, considering how busy the committee is given that most of the team are doing PhDs.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Yes. A core aim of the Feminist Society is to ensure a strong feminist presence on campus through the running of our own events and through collaboration with others, both of which we achieved this year.

Greatest Success

We had a speed-friending event off campus in January that was a huge success. There was a really large turnout and a lot of fun was had.

Greatest Challenge

Finding the time to meet and run as many events as we would like. We did very well, considering the demands of our respective courses, jobs etc.

Fifa Society

Introduction

Semester 2 of the 2015/16 academic year brought about a new society around NUI Galway, Fifa Society.

The Fifa Society is now there to service all of your football computer game needs. We provide the games themselves, consoles, controllers and all of the equipment necessary for brilliant Fifa meetups. We gained 129 members in our first semester mainly from Socs day 2 and word of mouth!

Weekly Competitions

We meet for weekly competitions where the most enthusiastic players from all over campus meet up and battle it out for the title of the best Fifa player on campus, for a week anyways.

Society Performance Reflection

The FIFA society was established in Semester 2 of the 2015/2016 academic year. This year we successfully recruited 130 members in total, drafted a constitution and established the foundations of the society. A total of 10 social gaming events were successfully hosted with satisfactory attendance. Our membership consisted of a variety of different students including a large proportion of first years and even some Erasmus students. Overall we believe the society is set to continue growing in the future with the careful management of future committees.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Our targets were simple and straightforward:

- Draft an adequate legible constitution to meet NUIG Society standards.
- Recruit a minimum of 50 members at Socs day 2.
- Host an EGM and AGM.
- Host a minimum of 5 events successfully.
- Elect a provisional committee for next year.

We have been able to meet all our targets and more. We successfully recruited 130 members in total with over 100 signed up on socs day 2. A total of 10 FIFA tournaments were held throughout the semester with at least 16 participants. An EGM was hosted at the beginning, which successfully appointed the current committee members. An AGM was subsequently hosted at the end of the semester, where we received positive feedback from the society members, and filled two positions for next year's committee.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success has got to be the recruitment of over 100 members on Socs day alone. Given that it was semester 2 we did not expect such a relatively large interest.

Greatest Challenge

Our greatest challenge was gaining access to equipment on a regular basis. Although thankfully in most cases we were able to deal with the unexpected unavailability of some equipment i.e. consoles and controllers. We think to tackle this obstacle it is best that the society purchases and own its own consoles, instead on relying on the equipment of the committee members' personal property.

FilmSoc

FilmSoc aims to provide NUIG students with their own free-of-charge student cinema. We aim to bring a mixture of exciting, and intellectual films to the student population. We achieve this by running screenings one or two nights per week, and often collaborate with other societies to have 'movie nights' which often bring societies together and widen the scope of FilmSoc.

We also aim to bring filmmaking opportunities to the NUIG campus. We ran weekly production meetings in the first semester in order to provide incoming members with the skills to help make films, and in the second semester we donated more time to individual scripts for short films and made as many as we could.

FilmSoc EGM: Social » Aras an Mac Leinn - The View » 18th January 2016

FilmSoc's EGM takes place at 5pm in The View. We are looking to fill the positions of Secretary, Co-Public Relations Officer, Events Officer, and Vice-Auditor. If you think you are suited to any of these positions and would like to be more involved in FilmSoc, come along! And there will be snacks/sweets. So enticing.

FilmSoc Screening of 'Enter the Void': Social » Darcy Thompson Theatre, Arts & Science Concourse » 18th January 2016

FilmSoc's first screening of the semester is 'Enter the Void' (2009), an English-language French drama film written and directed by Gaspar Noé. It has been described as provocative, extreme, mad, and outrageous, as well as a "trippy meditation on life and death." Don't miss this film!

FilmSoc Screening of 'The Tribe' (2014): Arts & Culture » D'arcy Thompson Theatre » 25th January 2016

FilmSoc's weekly film is 'The Tribe' (2014). Set in a boarding school for deaf children, this haunting drama's wordless dialogue speaks volumes. This is a story told entirely through sign language and is a bold, innovative interpretation of silent films for contemporary audiences. This film has received fantastic reviews, so if you're looking for something unusual, come along!

FilmSoc's weekly Screening : 'Enemy': Arts & Culture » Darcy Thompson Theatre, Concourse » 08th February 2016

In keeping with FilmSoc's more alternative screenings this semester, 'Enemy' (2013) is a psychological thriller directed by Denis Villeneuve. The film stars Jake Gyllenhaal as two men who are physically identical, but very different in terms of personality. 'Enemy' has received critical acclaim, but has also divided in audiences, while leaving them thinking about the film for a long time after leaving the theatre. Come along and experience this film for yourself!

FilmSoc's weekly screening: Mulholland Drive (2001): Arts & Culture » Darcy Thompson Theatre, » 08th February 2016

Mulholland Drive is a 2001 American neo-noir mystery film written and directed by David Lynch. Along Mulholland Drive nothing is what it seems. You must see this film at least once in your lifetime, so why not see it on the big screen this Monday 8th with FilmSoc. "This is a movie to surrender yourself to." - Roger Ebert "The challenge is exhilarating. You can discover a lot about yourself by getting lost in Mulholland Drive. It grips you like a dream that won't let go." - Rolling Stone

FilmSoc's weekly screening: Martha Marcy May Marlene: Arts & Culture » Darcy Thompson Theatre » 15th February 2016

We'll be screening the ominous psychological thriller Martha Marcy May Marlene (2011), a film that recounts the trauma a woman suffers after escaping a cult. "It's Olsen, as a damaged soul clinging to shifting ground, who makes this spellbinder impossible to shake." - Rolling Stone. Come join us for our weekly screening! This semester we're showing you films that you're not likely to watch anywhere else. All are welcome!

FilmSoc's trip to Dublin International Film Festival (ADIFF): Arts & Culture » Dublin, Dublin, Dublin » 19th February 2016

Come join us for FilmSoc's annual trip to the Dublin International Film Festival. See films that you may not get the chance to see again and meet fellow film-lovers in the society! Check out the amazing programme for ADIFF on www.diff.ie If you'd like to join us, buy your ticket in the Socs Box for only €40. That covers accommodation, travel and 1 ticket to a film at the festival. Get them quickly, as there's a limited number available!

The Perks of Being a Wallflower: Arts & Culture » Darcy Thompson Theatre, Arts & Science Concourse » 29th February 2016

As part of Mental Health Week, FilmSoc and Psych Soc are collaborating to bring you The Perks of Being A Wallflower. The film follows Charlie (Logan Lerman), a freshman who is befriended by a group of seniors at his high school (Emma Watson and Ezra Miller), these new friends help Charlie cope with the many stressful aspects of his life such as the recent suicide of one of his friends and also his mental health. Don't miss this heartfelt and moving film.

FilmSoc's weekly screening: Eyes Wide Shut: Arts & Culture » Darcy Thompson, Concourse » 07th March 2016

This Monday (6th March) at 7pm in D'Arcy Thompson we'll be screening Stanley Kubrick's haunting final masterpiece, Eyes Wide Shut. "A spellbinder: provocatively conceived, gorgeously shot and masterfully executed." - Chicago Tribune. There'll also be free pizza!

FilmSoc presents: Inherent Vice: Arts & Culture » Darcy Thompson Theatre, Arts & Science Concourse » 14th March 2016

Our week 10 screening will be of Paul Thomas Anderson's stoner mystery movie, 'Inherent Vice' (2014). In a California beach community, private detective Larry "Doc" Sportello (Joaquin Phoenix) tends to work his cases through a smoky haze of marijuana. There will also be free pizza!

FilmSoc presents: The Lobster (2014): Arts & Culture » Darcy Thompson, Arts & Science Concourse » 04th April 2016

For our penultimate screening of the year, FilmSoc presents a film by Yorgos Lanthimos, starring Colin Farrell, John C Reilly and Léa Seydoux. 'The Lobster' depicts a dystopian near future where single people, by law, are taken to a hotel where they are obliged to find a romantic partner in 45 days or are transformed into animals and sent off into the woods. The film picked up three prizes at Cannes film festival, including the Jury Prize, Queer Palm and Palm Dog award. This unconventional film is a must-see.

FilmSoc AGM: Other » Art Room Aras na Mac Leinn » 05th April 2016

FilmSoc's Annual General Meeting will take place on Tuesday 5th April. Here, we'll nominate a committee for FilmSoc 2016/17. All members of the society are welcome! All committee positions are open to nominations.

FilmSoc presents: Carol (2015): Arts & Culture » Darcy Thompson Theatre, Arts & Science Concourse » 11th April 2016

Monday at 7 in D'Arcy Thompson we're screening Todd Haynes' award winning romance, Carol. Featuring acclaimed performances from Cate Blanchett and Rooney Mara and stunning cinematography, an opportunity to see it on the big screen shouldn't be missed. "Carol is one of the greatest American screen romances of any era, period." - Salon. "Under Haynes' sure hand, Blanchett and Mara deliver a love story to melt to." - Total Film

Mission Statement

The NUIG Film Society is a community of students and staff dedicated to the art of film, whether it be as an audience member or filmmaker. We provide both a free student cinema and film-making classes so that all aspects of film can be enjoyed. With trips to film festivals and film making competitions the society strives to spread the enjoyment of the art.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

To provide a free Student Cinema for the students and staff of the university.

To create welcoming atmosphere in our film making classes to encourage anyone with an interest to come and learn how to make films.

To create throughout the year a collection of short films or videos.

To provide a helpful service for other societies in the creation of videos, be it either making the film or advice on how to proceed.

Society Performance Reflection

Our student cinema brought a diverse and thought-provoking range of films to the student population, often incorporating foreign cinema or more experimental films. We gauged our audience well, and provided a mixture of interesting films and entertaining ones.

Our production output could certainly have been better this year, and while we made some unique films, the society could certainly have benefitted from better organisation of the production side of things. Fortunately, we have learned a lot this year, and bled in some new filmmakers to the society.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

I believe we achieved most of our goals. We could have made more films over the course of the year, but it can be difficult for students to find the time to be involved with all of the work that a short film takes to make from beginning to end. We most certainly provided an entertaining Student Cinema.

Greatest Success

We took two very interesting films to the OFFline Film Festival this year. Although we did not win/place in the competition, a lot of our members gained valuable experience from the trip. The society has two interesting films to be proud of from that trip, Light Interference and Little Lows, both unique films which the society is proud of.

Greatest Challenge

Because our society is so heavily linked with the BA with Film Studies connect programme, we often have to deal with the situation we faced this year in which a number of committee members must leave the society halfway through the year in order to partake in their ERASMUS programme. This year we lost our first semester Secretary, Events Officer, and co-PRO, along with our Vice-Auditor through unrelated events. Replacing these members, and keeping an air of stability at the society in their absence was our most difficult challenge.

Finance Society

The NUI Galway Finance Society was set up just this year for students with an interest in studying or working in Finance. Finance is an extremely exciting, competitive although sometimes controversial industry to be a part of. And as the finance industry continues to grow in Ireland, the better prepared and informed students are before leaving college the more employable and empowered they will be. Our society aims to help students along their way by hosting topical and engaging seminars, career development events and excursions away for our members.

FLAC Society

FLAC Society provides free legal advice clinics to both members of the public and students. We host one clinic a week which involves either a practicing solicitor or barrister, who, alongside our student volunteers, gives advice regarding legal matters.

From time to time, we also organise other events. For example, this year, in conjunction with the law society, we ran a class on will writing for Zambian students wishing to raise awareness of the importance of the process in Zambia.

Mission Statement

FLAC undertakes to aim to provide free legal advice to any student who may have issues with tenancy law, criminal law, employment law etc.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

Flac aims to:

Run clinics weekly;

Ensure that people are given helpful legal advice; and

Raise awareness among students at NUIG that our facility is available

Society Performance Reflection

FLAC Society was only mildly successful this year.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We achieved all of our aims, but to a limited extent.

We raised awareness, ran clinics, and gave advice- however we did not do any of these things to the extent that we had wanted to.

Greatest Success

The running of a class for Zambian students on will writing in order to raise awareness for the practice in Zambia.

Greatest Challenge

The greatest challenge we faced was raising sufficient awareness of the Clinics in order for demand to be high enough to justify the clinic.

Mission Statement

Our mission promote the sport of foosball. Along the way we hope to make lifelong friendships and unforgettable memories.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

We want to grow the popularity of foosball and show people the immense fun you can have in this unique sport.

This year we hope to have even more tournaments and games than last year, with even better prizes!

Society Performance Reflection

We were very happy with our society over the past year. We were upgraded from a provisional society in first semester to a full society in second semester. We had two very successful Socs Day, in first semester we reached over 300 members. We held numerous tournaments throughout the year. We originally tried practice games on Tuesdays and tournaments on Thursday but we decided to continue throughout the year with just running tournaments on Thursdays. In Semester 1 we had tea/coffee at some of the tournaments and then prizes. During Semester 2 we had prizes for tournament winners and runners up and pizza for any member involved in the tournament.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We feel that we did achieve many of our aims, objective and goals for the society during the year. We grew the popularity of foosball. The amount of members in the society increased to over 300 after Socs Day in Semester 1. We feel that people who took part in the tournaments really enjoyed them. We enjoyed getting to know new people through the tournaments. We continued to provide more prizes for the tournaments. Boojum sponsored us with vouchers which we gave out to the winners of some of the tournaments.

Greatest Success

I think our greatest success was getting over 300 members on socs day in 1st semester. We increased our membership by over 200 members. It was more than we ever thought we could get.

Greatest Challenge

I would regard our greatest challenge during the year in the society was finding ways to have regular attendance at our tournaments and to ensure we had enough participants for fun and competitive tournaments and games. Getting beginners to attend regular events was hard as they may have felt it was for more advanced participants.

French Soc

This year French Soc proved to be an extremely active and diverse society. French Soc promoted French language and culture by hosting French themed events, we have achieved our aim in welcoming visiting French speaking students and creating an environment for non native French students to meet French students and practice their French. We created an environment in which students who have never spoken French before, stood on stage speaking French, immersed themselves in French culture thanks to our Wine and Cheese evenings, our original play Voila, Olivia!, and multiple other events throughout the year.

Mission Statement

'To promote, enhance and encourage the appreciation of French language and culture through an accessible array of activities, suited to a variety of audiences, while providing entertainment and enjoyment'

Aims, Objectives & Goals

We hope to increase our membership from last year, and encourage a more diverse range of participants within the society. We aim to stage a French Week which will draw a large amount of attention to the society. We look forward to our play in second semester, which will be bilingual, again welcoming all levels of acting ability and experience. We would love to win a prize at the Socs Ball, whatever it may be. Overall, we aim to have a fun and successful year full of French culture and experiences

Society Performance Reflection

Our society flourished and became an extremely diverse and active society this year, we increased our active membership drastically, staged our French Themed week, our Auditor wrote and directed a play, we won Most Improved Society at the Society Awards, for which I feel we very much earned.

The French Society fulfilled its aim of promoting French language events by holding weekly language exchange conversation nights (evenings of spoken French attended by native French speakers as well as Irish students, and even some visiting non-francophone students from countries such as Germany, Mexico and the US), French film screenings, conversation classes (hosted by a native French speaker) and staging an original bilingual play - 'Voila, Olivia!.

We fulfilled our aim of promoting French culture by hosting French-themed events such as wine and cheese nights, French breakfast mornings, a French-themed table quiz and a Valentine's-Day-themed 'Night Under the Stars' event (in collaboration with AstroSoc).

Our aim of welcoming visiting French-speaking students and creating an environment for non-native French students to meet French students and practice their French was fulfilled mainly by hosting a meet and greet (at the beginning of the academic year) and weekly language exchange conversation nights. Some visiting French students requested that we also hold a language exchange night in English, which we were delighted to do in an effort to welcome them (the very fact that they felt comfortable enough to ask us for this we regard as a sign that we made them feel comfortable in the society and confident that we would happily listen to their suggestions and oblige them).

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

- We increased our members substantially, had a large and diverse committee who encouraged a range of students to attend events and partake with the society.
- We held our 'French Week' as Themed Week, which proved to be a great success, French Themed events every day that week solidified ourselves as a sound and active society in the University. We saw familiar and new faces this week and continued, and will continue, to see many of them in future.
- We held an extremely successful original play written by our Auditor - Voila, Olivia! it included an extremely diverse cast, with many visiting students from the States, acting and working backstage, students who hadn't either spoken French before and got to learn some, students from podiatry, medicine, engineering, science, commerce were actors in the play which is a feat within a college so highly regarded for drama students. The play was extremely well received by both staff and students and alumni who applauded and laughed for two sold out shows in the BOI.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success has been the diversification and reach of our society due to the hard work and dedication of the committee. The committee were extremely focused in carrying out their given tasks and brought new ideas, talent and enthusiasm, throughout the year we remained very organised and have achieved an immense amount now that we are looking back on the year.

Greatest Challenge

Our greatest challenge within the society was momentary breakdown in communication between the large committee, although I feel the large dedicated committee was the main reason for having such an active society this year. We managed to overcome any communication issues throughout the year and made a group page and used polls, group chats and smaller more regular committee meetings to keep everyone up to date with jobs for whichever events assigned to them.

Friends of MSF

The NUIG Friends of MSF society has improved dramatically since the beginning of the 2015/2016 academic year. As an official student support organisation for Médecins Sans Frontières (MSF) across the Ireland and the UK that is run on a voluntary basis, our society has been able to create outstanding achievements in terms of creating awareness, fundraising and student cooperation for MSF.

In the 2015/2016 academic year, the NUIG Friends of MSF society has managed to hold several events throughout the university, having different aims and objectives for each event. The first event held was a documentary screening on MSF volunteer doctors who works in dire environments throughout the world. The documentary entitled "Living in Emergency - Stories of Doctors Without Borders". This event aimed to promote the amazing humanitarian efforts done by MSF volunteer doctors - whom each comes from different walks of life - in hostile and harsh environments throughout the world, be them conflicts, famine, poverty and much more. The documentary screening also functioned to spread awareness pertaining MSF to NUIG students and staff and to welcome new members into the society.

The second event held was a Table Quiz and Pie-Eating Contest which was held at the College Bar, NUIG. All proceeds were directed to the current refugee crisis through the help of MSF Ireland organisation's help. The event proved to be a success as we received a great turn-up of participants and the activities planned were well-received and enjoyed by everyone. The third event held within the academic year was called TEDMED Live 2015. It was held at the Clinical Science Institute, Galway and was done in collaboration with the NUIG Cancer Society. It was a panel discussion event with short TED Talk video stimuli which functioned as topics for discussion by the panelists. The topics discussed were related to the current environmental, health, psychological and social issues occurring in several locations throughout the world which transcended the boundaries of medicine alone, into the realms of social science, sociology, international health and health promotion. This event were received well by the attendees and proved to be beneficial and informative for all.

Our last event was the most focused event for the year. It was the society's major project that collaborated with other NUIG societies such as IKRAM society, Climate Change, Agriculture and Food Security (CCAFS, MSc) society, Emergency Medical Students Society of Ireland (EMSSI), the Irish Forum of Global Health (IFGH), and MA Gender, Globalisation and Rights class. The event was called as the Refugee Awareness Week (RAW) and it was held from March 7th 2016 to March 10th 2016. Within the week, several activities were outlined such as bake sale and awareness day, fundraising and awareness pertaining the International Women's Day (March 8th 2016) on the second day, interactive panel discussion on the third day, and an outreach day on the last day of RAW.

The Refugee Awareness Week (RAW) turned out to be a major success from the beginning of the event to the end. On day one of RAW, RAW stickers were distributed all over the university for NUIG students to wear as a sign of solidarity and awareness on the ongoing global refugee crisis occurring throughout the world such as Syria, Ethiopia, Afghanistan, Serbia and Burundi, to name a few. A bake sale was also held at the Clinical Science Institute (CSI) to raise funds for the refugees on the same day. On day two of RAW, fundraising was held at the four medical academies throughout Ireland which are Sligo, Castlebar, Portlincula, and Letterkenny. Since this day was also known as the International Women's Day, attention was also given to the sufferings of female refugees and the extra burdens that they have to endure in terms of mental health, sexual abuse, reproductive health concerns and children and family responsibilities. The Interactive Panel Discussion event was held on the third day of RAW at AM250 (Á hEocha) lecture theatre, Arts Millennium building, NUIG. This event discussed on the global refugee crisis from many professional perspectives, thanks to our diverse group of panelists, who impressed the audience with their excellent knowledge and ability to find linkages of ideas among their different specialties. The discussion was well received by the audience and was able to highlight the concerns and pure humanity relating the refugee crisis at individual, society, national and international levels. Lastly, an interactive outreach day was held at the Bailey Allen Hall, Áras na Mac Léinn, NUIG. This event focused primarily on Transition Year (TY) students from a few secondary schools in Galway City. The aim of this event was to create awareness and provide information on the current global refugee crisis to secondary school students to promote the ideas of international concerns and humanitarian acts. Several stations were set up in the venue, all of which provide insights on the predicaments and circumstances in the life of a refugee. Some of the stations designed were refugee rescue boat station, refugee makeshift shelter station, station for a talk by MSF's volunteer doctor, Dr. Eileen Sweeney, station for a presentation by the Irish Navy, and a station comparing the Irish healthcare supply versus a refugee's healthcare supply. In conclusion, the Refugee Awareness Week (RAW) event proved to be an astounding success, thanks to the cooperation and leadership of the society's committee members, and management and cooperation of Socs Box and Buildings office for making this event a reality.

In essence, the 2015/2016 academic year has been a very productive and improved year for the society holistically. The members of the society have gained priceless knowledge from all the meetings, discussions, events and activities done, and we are now more motivated to hold future events than ever! We hope to make the NUIG Friends of MSF society a more successful society in the future due to the motivation that we have in creating awareness on the need to help others in need. Such motivation is the ethos instilled within the foundation of the MSF organisation itself that is; "The World is Our Emergency Room".

Mission Statement

Through educational and fun events NUIG's Friends of MSF society strives to raise awareness and funds for MSF.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

Our aims are to:

- Raise awareness of MSF's work and humanitarian issues
- Raise funds for MSF
- Encourage students to consider working for organisations such as MSF

Society Performance Reflection

The NUIG Friends of MSF society has improved significantly for this year. We managed to have more frequent meetings and hold more events throughout the year. The events held throughout the year were a huge success and were well received by the NUIG public. Some of the events hosted by us were a documentary screening on MSF volunteer doctors, Table Quiz and Pie-Eating Contest, TEDMED Live 2015, and Refugee Awareness Week (RAW). All in all, the success of our events was due to the cooperation and hard work of the committee members who were willing to lend a hand and contribute their skills. We have grown closer in friendship and professionally. In essence, all of us have been committed to the society and everyone seems to enjoy being a part of this society.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We are happy and proud to say that we have achieved all of our aims which are:

- Raise awareness: We managed to raise awareness on MSF and the current global refugee crisis among NUIG students from the events held.
- Raise funds: We managed to raise funds for MSF and the refugee crisis from the events held as well.
- Encourage students to be part of MSF: Due to the event promotions that we have done, we managed to get NUIG students as new members of our society. They are a great addition to our society indeed!

Greatest Success

The society's greatest success will definitely be to make the society more well-known among the NUIG public and to make the society as functional and active society in the university. With all the events done throughout the academic year, the NUIG Friends of MSF society has been able to make itself well-known and to have new members being a part of it. Our major event for this year, the Refugee Awareness Week (RAW) proved to be a huge success with great reception from the NUIG public. Due to this, we managed to promote awareness on the current global refugee crisis, raise funds for MSF and refugee groups, and incorporate new members into the society to continue our strive for humanitarian work. This is a great achievement indeed!

Greatest Challenge

The greatest challenge had would have to be coordinating the Refugee Awareness Week (RAW) event (our biggest project for the year). This is because the project requires proper liaison with lecturers from different departments within the university, secondary schools in Galway City, planning of props and equipments and promotion, all of which require cooperation and hardwork from each committee member. Fortunately, the event turned out to be a great success due to the committee members' full support and cooperation!

G-eos

This year G-EOS brought one of its best society years yet to the students of NUIG. One of the biggest names in modern geology (Dr. Iain Stewart) visited the college and gave a guest lecture hosted by G-EOS. Many more guest lecturers gave interesting lectures during the academic year on topics such as the moon and Antarctic research. Fun movie nights were organised for society members and it was an overall good experience for interaction between members, as students, lecturers and people of the public all had the chance to meet and converse about their common interest in the society. G-EOS this year had the privilege to assist in the 59th Irish Geological Research Meeting (IGRM). This was a great experience as over 250 people from different colleges in Ireland, and internationally, came to NUIG for three days. This was a great year and provided all members with a great experience.

Film evening: Social » Quadrangle » 03rd November 2015

The aim of the event is to play a selected BBC science documentary film produced and narrated by Professor Iain Stewart, Ambassador of Earth Sciences. The event hopes to draw interest to the guest talk given by Professor Stewart hosted by G-eos in the following week as well as to provide a place and time for members to prepare for the big event.

Guest talk given by Professor Iain Stewart, BBC Science Programmes Presenter: Seminar » AM250 » 09th November 2015

The event features a guest talk delivered by Professor Iain Stewart, Professor of Geoscience Communication, University of Plymouth known to the public as BBC Science programme Presenter. He is geology's "rock star" and many student studying Earth science hope to follow his pioneering footsteps and achieve similar successes. Geos and the Discipline of Earth and Ocean Sciences feel privileged to host Professor Stewart and hope to further spread the University's excellent reputation. The talk, titled 'Between a Rock and a Hard Place: communicating geology to society aims to provide an insight to geoscientific knowledge and understanding lies at the heart of the most critical societal issues that face us in the 21st century. Venue: Room AM250, Colm O'hEocha Theatre. Date: 9th November, Time: 7pm with reception providing tea, coffee and beverages. Due to the huge interest raised by the event booking seat is unavoidable. Please book your seat at www.eventbrite.ie

G-eos Seminar Series (as part of Earth & Ocean Science Week), Day 2: Seminar » IT125G » 17th November 2015

Come join us in IT 125G for the second day of our seminar series hosted by Marine Soc. and G-eos (Galway Earth & Ocean Soc.) Tonight speakers are Dr Alessandra Costanzo and Prof Martin Feely who give an introduction to the wonderful, colourful world of gemstone and their geological settings, followed by Dr Shane Tyrrell inviting us to participate in detective work and try to find "the origins of sediments". The program of the evening: 7- 7.30 pm: Dr Alessandra Costanzo: Gem minerals: Study methods 7.30- 8 pm: Prof Martin Feely: Gem minerals: Geological case studies. Tea/ coffee break with a little treat (approximately 15 mins) 8.20- 9 pm: Dr Shane Tyrrell: "Burying my head in the sand."-Researching the origins of sediment. Anyone interested to pursue career in Geo-sciences should make sure not to miss the talk series.

The Early Solar System presented by Dr Ian Sanders from Trinity College: Seminar » MRI 201 » 10th February 2016

Geos are privileged to announce a sensational event co-hosted with Astrosoc: Dr. Ian Sanders from Trinity college delivers a guest lecture on the "birth and early years" of the Solar System. Here is a little flavour from the talk: "Common stony meteorites (called chondrites) are conventionally regarded as fragments of asteroids that were formed at the outset of the solar system because they have the same condensed element chemistry as the Sun. I believe instead that chondrites are made from debris left over from collisions between small molten planetary bodies as they merged to make larger ones and eventually planets." (Dr Ian Sanders) If you find the above extract interesting then the seminar is for you where you could hear much more exciting fact of our Solar System :)The event takes place at 7 pm on Wednesday, 10th February in MRI Annexe (MRI 201)The seminar is opened with a reception serving cheese and light refreshments at 6:30 pm front of the lecture hall and to provide time and place for further discussion after the talk, we are planning to relocate in the town where we can converse about interesting facts accompanied with refreshments. Dr Sanders also brings rock samples from the Moon that reside at Trinity College and travels between the universities & colleges in the state for teaching purposes. These specimens are the fraction of the some 22kg rocks, soil and cores collected by Apollo 11 and distributed among universities over the world. We are hoping to see you there whether you study about rocks or the universe or just simply interested in "what is out there".

Mission Statement

GEOS, The Galway Earth and Ocean Society is primarily interested in promoting and supporting the Earth & Ocean sciences and uniting people with similar interests and goals throughout the University and Galway at large.

We also provide students with activities like organising lecture seminars with local - or abroad-based lecturers, fun trips away to places of scientific interest in Ireland or abroad and event evenings throughout the year.

Through the work of our society we strive to create a greater appreciation and understanding of earth science on campus and in the local area.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

GEOS aims to become a bigger society than ever this year. Our primary aims are to enhance the student experience through educational excursions, guest speakers and social event evenings. We aim to unite people interested in our planet; and learn, meet new people and have some fun along the way.

Society Performance Reflection

GEOS done very well this year as we had great speakers come and give talks on interesting topics. We had international speakers who are held in high esteem in the earth science community and this was an extremely high end event and pulled together all of ours members and members of the public as well.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We achieved our goals of becoming a larger society this year as we had larger numbers than previous years join our society. We held guest speaking events and movie nights and got to both educate and have fun with our members. We had fun while bringing educational events and getting to know our society members.

Greatest Success

We would regard our event with Dr Ian Stewart as our greatest success this year as the guest lecture had almost 250 people attend it and this was something extraordinary as we don't think any other society has held a guest lecture of this caliber.

Greatest Challenge

Our greatest challenge was trying to pull everyone together for the IGRM weekend in February. This required a lot of volunteers and coordinated work. I feel we not only accomplished this work but we excelled in it and beat the challenge.

Society Performance Reflection

We were active in engaging with other societies. However, as those on the committee only took over in January, we will more active next year.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Objective 1.1: This continues to be met daily. We have a strong presence through email and have liaised with other societies.

Objective 1.2: Unfortunately did not take place. However, rather than dissertation support we suggest this should be changed to Word & Excel support for Geography students at the start of next year.

Objective 1.3 We did engage with other societies and made some ground but a lot of work remains to be done here.

Greatest Success

The interaction and agreement for future events with the Archeology Society

Greatest Challenge

Getting engagement from those in the society and trying to motivate students.

German Soc

The German Society at NUI Galway is a society set up to promote the German language and culture primarily at the university, but also in the wider community in Galway. As a Society we hope that we can encourage native students to engage more with German Studies, and also for German students (whether on Erasmus or choosing to study here full-time) to become more involved with Irish culture. In essence we would like to foster German-Irish relations. In addition, we would like to extend that cultural exchange to students of all nationalities at the university through the events we organise as a Society.

Mission Statement

To cultivate and promote Germany's culture, customs, language and social activities

Aims, Objectives & Goals

- To help German and Irish students together to improve on their spoken language.
- Introduce German culture to students who would not have experienced it
- To promote German language along with the different university departments
- To share experience of learning a language and ways to constantly improve language skills and culture awareness.

Society Performance Reflection

The German Society ran a number of successful events throughout the academic year 2015/2016. Our first event was the yearly boat trip in September 2015 along the River Corrib. There was huge demand for tickets at the time and they sold very quickly. The boat trip itself was a huge success, with celebrations continuing in the Skeffington Arms afterwards. Many people were coming to me (Isobel Smyth) afterwards, telling me how much they enjoyed it.

Our second event was the Tandem/Quiz night in De Burgo's. We had hoped that, by pairing native German and English speakers together before the event, it would lead to a successful language exchange, but unfortunately people did not follow up on meetings after the event. In spite of this, the night itself was very enjoyable for everyone involved and people did have the opportunity for a language exchange while mingling before the quiz took place.

We also had a small get-together for Oktoberfest, as the festival was being celebrated in Galway at the time, and furthermore another small event at the Galway Christmas Market. We also organised a trip to Berlin, which was an excellent opportunity for current 1st and 2nd Year students of German to get a taste of what it would be like to go on Erasmus, as this is compulsory as a language student. This trip was a challenge to organise as there are many factors to take into consideration (passports, plane tickets, accommodation, student welfare, et cetera) but it turned out to be a success and a memorable trip for everyone involved.

Our third major event was the Karaoke Night in the College Bar at NUI Galway. This was great fun because the whole bar became involved with the singing, not just German society members.

Our upcoming event is another boat trip on the 6th of April and we hope that this will be a good opportunity to enjoy the nice weather!

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

It is first of all important to acknowledge that the German language is not widely spoken in the Galway area and therefore we were presented with a challenge from the very beginning with regard to the promotion of the German language and culture in the university and wider community. However, we had all studied in Germany as part of the Erasmus programme the year previously, and within us was a desire to maintain our own connections with Germany once we had returned to Ireland to finish our studies.

Our first active attempt to make a direct German-Irish connection was the Tandem/Quiz Night. In itself, this event was a success, but it was difficult to try and maintain the cultural and language exchange as we had left it to the individuals themselves to make contact with each other after we had paired them up, and unfortunately many did not make contact with one another after the event.

Nonetheless, we did intend that people bond and have fun at these events, not merely just improve their language skills. We had many Erasmus students come to our events, if not to improve their German, at least to get to know some of the Irish students. In many German universities, there is a tandem programme in which an Exchange/Erasmus student is paired with one of the native students in a bid to get to know the language, culture and the local area. Through organising this event we hoped that we might replicate this idea and thereby allow for students to get to know each other better. While many did not get into direct contact with each other after the event, we saw that the same people often came to events following, such as the Karaoke Night in the College Bar. While things may not have gone exactly according to plan in terms of fostering the German language and culture at the university, we have played an indirect role in the bonding process between Irish and Erasmus students in general.

Greatest Success

The positive experiences have been numerous, however the one, which stands out most is the trip to Berlin in January 2016 with the members of the German Society. There is always a huge demand for such trips within the student body of NUIG, so as anticipated, the forty places available filled up almost immediately. On reflection, every student that went on this trip had a positive experience and enjoyed it thoroughly. In such a diverse city, there is something for everyone and the activities we took part in certainly reflected this. Ideally, the events organised by the university's societies should have the purpose of impacting the university itself, its students and the local, national or international community. The German Society has undoubtedly contributed to most, if not all of these. Both the student body and the University as a whole have been benefited and been enriched through the various events organised by us throughout the academic year 2015/16 and this as a whole has been our greatest achievement.

Greatest Challenge

The success of the German Society did not come without challenges, although these were mostly of an organisational nature and did not result from disputes within the committee. Despite the team working well together, issues arise that are sometimes outside of its control. An example of this is a complication with the booking of the Berlin trip. Our chosen flight was cancelled at the time of the booking, so this resulted in a change of date – an inconvenience for many members. This was, however, quickly resolved. Another 'everyday' challenge of the German Society was the scheduling of Committee meetings. This was at times difficult, with all of the members being in their final year of studies. In the future I would recommend organising these meetings in advance with the help of online tools such as Doodle.com to enable every member to contribute to the Society equally and to ensure that no one misses out.

GiGSoc (Gay In Galway)

GiGSoc is NUI Galway's only LGBTQA+ society which operates on a weekly basis to bring fun and educational events to the student body and staff. The society has been extremely successful the past several years and this year has been no exception. While last year the society's prime focus was on the Marriage Equality Referendum, this year the society re-purposes itself, focusing on mental health, collaborations and themed weeks, these including our first ever Trans* Awareness Week and our classic Rainbow Week, where we saw the society host a variety of events that aimed to educate and bring awareness to a wide spectrum of LGBTQA+ issues. NUI Galway was also the host of this year's Pink Training, which we helped host along with our Students Union. We brought 20 delegates for the full weekend and the committee also gave up their time to volunteer and aid the running of the training event. This year we saw a revival of the society with many new members joining and coming along every week. We provided a variety of events that spanned from Discussion and Film Nights to Sexual Empowerment Workshops which were all enjoyed by our members and brought a new level of fun to the society. We made many worthwhile connections with different LGBT social groups in Galway and have as a result increased the reach of our society and hopefully this will continue to be fruitful into the future. GiGSoc aimed to become that safe and brave space that we include in our aims and objectives, and through our work with the Student Counselling Services, the ALIVE office and other parties this year we have seen our society reach new heights in terms of the space and support that we have offered since our establishment. The committee this year have worked tirelessly to make this objective a reality and we are leaving the new committee a legacy that we hope they will continue on all our behalf.

Mission Statement

GiGSoc's mission is to provide an accepting environment to enhance the personal growth of LGBT staff and students in NUIG. GiGSoc advocates for campus wide awareness and acceptance of people of all sexual orientations and gender identities. GiGSoc champions a campus community where the presence and contributions of Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender and Queer people are welcomed and celebrated, where intolerance is challenged and defeated and where civil rights of all people are valued and respected.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

GiGSoc's main aims are to promote a forum where lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer and allied students and staff can meet in a comfortable and supportive environment and to educate and inform the general university body on various LGBTQ issues through events, publications, advertisements and other such promotions.

This year our main focus would be to help host a successful Pink Training, hold a variety of LGBTQA themed weeks on NUIG's campus, such as Equality Week, Trans* Week and Rainbow Week in accordance with our "Be Brave, Be You Campaign".

Through all of our work, our goal would be to foster a campus free of prejudice, harassment, bigotry and violence by providing a safe and brave space for all members of NUIG communities to explore and increase their understanding of aspects related to sexual orientation, gender identity and expression in an open and nonjudgmental environment.

As a society, we recognize that not everyone will find home in the words and/or identities of gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender or queer. The collective struggles of our communities continues to be inclusive language and inclusive action. We want those who identify as same gender loving, Two Spirit, multisexual, pansexual, asexual, gender fluid, queer, omnisexual, or something else entirely, to know that they are always welcome at GiGSoc and that we encourage your input, voice, and presence in our society.

Society Performance Reflection

The committee have created an extremely close relationship with our members this year and have seen a large amount of them coming back week after week because of the support and friends they find with us. The committee this year also had some new members who are all dedicated to continuing in the society and ensuring that our success continues long into the future, they have attended training and have been learning about the day to day running of the society all year and are ready to take on the challenge and move into their new positions, should they choose to run again. Throughout the year we have made sure to host events that are as inclusive as possible and appeal to wide variety of people, so that new members keep returning and bringing their friends with them. To do this, we hit the balance between holding educational events like workshops or discussion nights with fun and engaging events like our Gaymes and Film Nights. Making sure that all members are participating and enjoying themselves has led to this influx of new members and most of which are with the society to stay. We have also built on our online presence and have made connections with local business' such as Nova Bar and Grill and LGBT groups such as Bi+, G.A.S.S and DTF. We have secured funding and built on our relations with Accenture and Arthur Cox which will ensure the incoming committee can hit the ground running with a good working relationship from the start of next year. Through our events this year we have created a space where all our members can feel safe and accepted. Through our "Be Brave, Be You" Campaign we started a campus wide conversation along with other societies about Mental Health and how it affects students especially. We have attempted to teach not only our own members about LGBT issues but inform and engage with the whole of NUIG's campus as well. We have hosted two themed weeks, both of which were huge successes and were enjoyed massively by our members. We represented the forgotten minorities within the community and ensured everyone's voice was heard. We have endeavoured to develop a safe and most importantly brave campus for the LGBTQA* community in NUIG Galway which consists of both students and staff. Our events have been the focal point of this objective and through the feedback we have received, we can confidently say that we have gone above and beyond what was expected of us in terms of this aim. We didn't just host events, but used these times to build healthy and fruitful relationships with our members and for anyone that took the time to come to our events. We have allowed ourselves to become a place on campus that students can come to, where we help to restore perspective and allow members to share intimately their own personal reflections or aspirations in a brave and safe space.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

The society this year has been even more dedicated to fulfilling our aims and objectives than ever before. We have paid special attention to our membership this year and have successfully hosted a variety of events that pertain to our aims and objectives but also create a fun and engaging space for our members. Coming from a highly politicized year, the committee wanted to build on the after effects of a YES vote and create an inclusive and open community of friends through the society this year. Our events have all been to help realise this aim and we have been complimented on how educational and exciting our events are every week. From the beginning of the year we were excited to take on new challenges and host events that served our purpose of creating a supportive environment for all staff and students that cared to join us each week. The creation of our "Be Brave, be You" Campaign played a huge part in this and saw GiGSoc taking an active role in exploring mental health on campus, especially in relation to the LGBTQA* community. We have aimed to teach and tear down the walls around important issues such as sexual health and have held a variety of events that tackle these issues. Our first ever Trans* week was also a huge success and proved our dedication to representing every aspect of the LGBTQA* community as well as our Bi Social event, Rainbow Week and Discussion Night's. All these events created an atmosphere that allowed our members to feel comfortable and free of judgement and as a result we saw a level of member engagement that has been previously unseen in GiGSoc.

Greatest Success

Our Trans* Officer was a committee position implemented at the start of the year to bring specific committee focus to Trans* issues. Cameron started to plan NUIG's first annual Trans* awareness week which was held November 16th – 20th. This week involved various different events from a wide range of people. We wanted to incorporate many different areas of the trans* community to ensure all voices were heard while remaining true to the essence of the week; Trans* visibility. We picked this particular week as it coincided with the national transgender day of remembrance (November 20th each year). We launched the week by getting the Trans* flag raised outside of Aras Na Mac Leinn, the first Irish college to do so, and holding a Trans* panel discussion. This was an opportunity for Cameron and two other trans* students, from DIT and DCU, to tell their stories and help encourage students to become trans* allies. Following on from this we organised a collaborative talk between Choice Soc, GiGSoc & Amnesty on the topic of 8th amendment and bodily autonomy. Wednesday evening saw the most poignant event, in our opinion. We organised a Trans* remembrance ceremony where we remembered all members of the Trans* community who had passed away in the past year, the students' union president, our Auditor and Cameron gave small speeches and held a minute's silence with a candle lit vigil. Following on from this Cameron gave a Trans* 101 workshop to GiGSoc and anyone else who wanted to come along. This workshop introduced students to the idea of gender identity, trans* issues and how to be a good trans* ally. Thursday concluded the week with a reflective writer's workshop. We invited writer's Soc to come in and get people really engaged with gender identity through the medium of writing. This has set a precedent for the incoming Trans* officer to carry out another Trans* awareness week and we hope that we have set the foundations for this position to truly flourish. This was indisputably our greatest success, as it was our first time running a week of its kind and one that the whole committee was extremely proud of.

Greatest Challenge

The society encountered very few challenges this year. We had events planned well in advance and our finances were always in order. The committee worked well together and this ensured that challenges were kept to a minimum. Building on the buzz of GiGSoc last year and the pressure from this could be seen as a challenge that we faced, but we quickly gained speed and members and have been creating fun events that have been complimented all year. Another challenge that seems to prevail from year to year is our members, we have fluctuating numbers but also must be wary of students that might not be out or are heavily scarred or scared due to bad experiences in the past. Taking these students under our wing is challenging but rewarding, and through working with the SU and Student Counseling Services this year we have tackled this problem well by holding safe spaces and support groups to ensure the wellbeing of our membership.

Mission Statement

GOAL Society is a student society which represents the Global organisation GOAL on campus. We aim to fundraise for GOAL so that they can continue providing much needed aid in some of the poorest countries in the world today.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

We aim to fund raise as much for GOAL as we can as well as growing the society by increasing our membership.

Society Performance Reflection

GOAL Soc did very well -- we gained full society recognition, and held a candy cane sale which raised 100 euro for GOAL.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We raised awareness for the work that GOAL does around the world, and awareness of the society on campus. We also raised a small amount of money for GOAL, developing our key life skills and gaining important experience along the way.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success this year was raising awareness of the society. As a new society with only around 60 members, we found it difficult to spread word of our events. This year at socs day, however, we gained over 450 new members -- giving us a huge potential reach for any future events.

Greatest Challenge

Our greatest challenge faced this year, was that a large portion of our committee undertook placement as part of their courses -- meaning that during the second semester of

Mission Statement

Our mission is to incorporate home away from home for all the Indians in Galway and to give a taste of India to the Irish people. We also hope to give back to the community and we incorporate charitable societies into our events so that we can make a difference in whatever way we can.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

This year we hope to make it a fun year for the students by organising trips and also to incorporate more charitable events into our society activities.

Society Performance Reflection

Our society did pretty well this year. We improved overall as a society from last year.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We were able to fulfil much of the aims we enlisted.

Greatest Success

Our greatest strength is our enthusiastic team and committee that worked hard to make this year a grand success for the society.

Greatest Challenge

Greatest challenge for a society representing a community is to gather attention and appreciation from people belonging to other communities and culture. We believe our society was able to overcome this challenge and got great response from one and all and a good number of participation in all the events.

Islamic Society

The Islamic Society is a gathering of Muslim students working together as a team in ensuring the welfare of Muslim staff and students of NUIG. This year, the society has been actively working to enhance the quality of student interaction among themselves and with the university community as well. An array of activities have been done to foster the bond between members to help them fit in with a new environment. We have also played an active role in the establishment of GMIT's own Islamic Society as a way for us to contribute to other Muslims living in Galway. Besides that, we have collaborated and attended a few events with other societies such as the Malaysian Society in form of management and execution of task.

Discover Islam Week: Social » CONCOURSE » 29th February 2016

Every year Discover Islam Week (DIW) takes place at universities across the UK and it's no different at NUI Galway. Discover Islam Week envelopes a whole bunch of events from NUIG's ISOC where the aim is to act as an eye-opener and to show people the reality of Islam. Not only that, the event aims to reach as many staffs and students possible be it muslims or non-muslims as to raise awareness and interest among them about how it feels like to practise Islam for example fasting and wearing the hijab. So many events and activities will take place throughout the week so keep your eyes peeled for leaflets about the event of the day. There's always something for everyone so make sure you try to attend all the events. Hope to see you there.

Mission Statement

The Islamic Society of NUI Galway provides a unique atmosphere to campus life socially and educationally.

We consider our mission statement a commitment to a friendly and lively campus atmosphere between members of our society and other students of NUI Galway. We deliver on that commitment by creating an understanding of our religion - while enjoying the work in progress and realising our full potential.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

Our Aims, Objectives and Goals for the year include: To -

- create a point of reference of the muslims community in Galway, especially to NUIG students
- educate people about the teachings of Islam
- unite members of our society
- promote social and educational events for members of the society
- represent Islam (as ambassadors)
- hold charitable events
- establish relations with NUIG (Socs Box) and the Student Union
- make a good sociable community in NUIG and Galway
- provide religious services to Muslims in Galway

Society Performance Reflection

A number of events have been held throughout the year and we have done exceptionally well this year from the first semester up till the end of the academic year. Several talks have been given by members of the society that range around a variety of topics from the story of Prophets in the Quran to the views of Islam on the Monetary System which has gained much interest from members and non-members of the society.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Yes, we were able to achieve most of it. The year had been busy with a number of bake sales that we hold and we participate with other societies. Other tasks and responsibilities we take very dear to heart would be the charity of the Muslim students coming in for their academic year as we help them to find a place to live and attend to their enquiries as to all the necessities a Muslim should know to adapt in living in Galway.

Greatest Success

The Discover Islam Week was our greatest success as this was the first time an event on that scale has been done and executed by the society. For almost a week we were able to show what Islam is all about by opening booths and an information table to allow people the opportunity to ask us questions, clearing any misconceptions and allowing a better understanding of what Islam really brings.

Greatest Challenge

The greatest challenge would be to hold a proper meeting with all members present as many of the committee members are also active members of other societies and have a number of other obligations as well to be fulfilled. It was also a challenge to execute the Discover Islam Week as we were short of volunteers and many of our members had their own class schedules to attend. Nevertheless, it was a great opportunity for us to learn the value of teamwork and management skills in conducting future activities.

Italian Soc

Our aim is to help promote the Italian language and culture to students at NUI Galway by celebrating everything that is Italian! We welcome Italian students to Galway and encourage them to practice their English with Irish NUIG students, while also encouraging our members who are studying Italian to practice the language with real Italians. However, you don't have to speak Italian to join. Everyone is welcome to our events, once you have an interest in the Italian culture and in meeting new people. You can even share a thing or two about Ireland with our Italian friends! Italian Society have not completed their end of year report.

Mission Statement

We are hoping to promote Italy in general. We want to share our love and passion towards the language, culture. We are hoping to increase the number of people of our society and also provide many Italian themed events such as Italian language classes, pizza nights, masquerade ball and many more!

Aims, Objectives & Goals

Our aim is to promote Italian society proudly and as best as we can.

We are hoping to make as many successful events as possible and end the year as the most improved society.

Our objective is to work together as a team and fix any issue may arise.

Our goal is to have a successful year, have our budget put together and look after the society from day one.

We held 24 committee meetings during the year. We have not held our AGM yet. Our total membership stands at 261 members. We have yet to complete the end of year survey.

Journalism Society

Our society this year really struggled to get off the ground. We are still a very new society and finding our feet has taken longer than expected. Our problems also stem from a lack of time. Everyone on the committee were all very busy and this particular society requires considerable time and effort. Our auditor Mark was wonderful though and he really put in most of the work this year.

We did succeed in some of our goals however, namely our weekly meetings. The society was much more consistent in holding meetings and producing work. The new video aspect worked really well but the blog took a bit of a dive due to poor input from members. We did get a lot of interested parties at our meetings however, and they helped when they were present.

Journalism Society Events list (7 Individual Events)

General Meeting: Social » AM205 » 30th September 2015

A social, relaxed gathering for those interested in Journalism, and sharing their thoughts and experiences. Tea, Coffee and Biscuits available. If you have any connection or interest in Student Journalism, please feel free to come along.

News-writing Workshop, and Global "Equality" broadcast: Seminar » AM205 » 07th October 2015

This week, we are please to announce that Jessica Thompson, Editor of SIN, will be hosting a workshop at AM205, on writing News stories. For anyone interested in getting involved with Journalism, this is one workshop you cannot afford to miss! After this workshop, we will also be doing our bit for the #NUIGGlobalWeek, by recording a News broadcast highlighting different examples of Equality - or lack thereof - in the world today. Anyone willing to be involved with this would be encouraged to bring in a news piece (preferably accompanied by a reputable source or article) that they can talk about (in front of a camera), relating to the theme of the status of Equality around the world today. As always, Tea, Coffee and Biscuits will be provided.

Journalism Society Meeting: Other » AM205 » 11th November 2015

Meeting weekly at AM205, Journalism Soc aims to provide an open, supportive environment for student journalists to discuss and share their experiences - as well as to film footage for Galway Student News. Free tea, coffee and biscuits for all!

Workshop on Journalistic Skills with Michael McCaughan: Seminar » AM205 » 18th November 2015

Michael McCaughan has worked widely in Latin America, writing for the Irish Times, Guardian and Sunday Telegraph. In this workshop he will draw on his personal experiences as a journalist, and will also allow for questions to be asked.

Journo Soc. EGM: Other » Aras na Mac Leinn - The View » 20th November 2015

We are having a brief EGM on Friday to elect members for our vacant Vice-Auditor role. OCM positions are also still possible to go for, should your fancy take you to our EGM.

Collab. Night with Writers' Soc.: Social » AM205 » 25th November 2015

There's a collaboration evening with Writers' Soc. this Wednesday at 7-8PM for everyone who is interested in journalism and writing. We'll have some fun games, writing challenges and you'll get to meet your fellow student journalists/budding authors. We're in the Arts Millennium Building..all the way upstairs kind of tucked away behind heavy doors. If you can't find it don't worry, we'll be on the lookout.

Movie Night: Social » AM205 » 03rd March 2016

We'll be watching 'Veronica Guerin' starring Cate Blanchett, a movie based on a true story. An Irish journalist investigates the drug trade in Dublin, but she and her family become targets of the criminal underworld. The event is on in AM205, which is upstairs in the Arts Millennium Building.

Mission Statement

The NUI Galway Journalism Society aims to foster a social space for Student Journalists in NUI Galway, to provide workshops to teach people skills that would help them in their ambition to work in the media industry, to support freelancers, prolific writers, and people with ideas for ways to get student Journalists involved with each other. The society not only aims to give Student Journalists morale, but also to equip them with the skills necessary to break into an increasingly competitive vocational choice - and one which this society views as of vital importance for holding the powerful of our society to account, and to facilitate a collective discourse about the lives and problems of society in general.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

We aim to organise workshops to teach relevant Journalism Skills.

We aim to publish content on our Blog, <http://seeouruniverse.weebly.com/>

We aim to produce a Student-based news series, "Galway Student News", or GSN.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success was the launch of our Galway Student News channel. We produced a number of bitsized videos about society events around the college that really generated some interest online. Our following on Facebook grows almost weekly and after the blog was redesigned, we garnered a on of interest on wordpress.

Greatest Challenge

Time and committee members.

Juggling Soc

Our society this year was a small one. We did not have a lot of people showing up to our sessions. However, we did become a very close-knit group of friends who look out for each other. We had a very enjoyable year as a committee and we hope our members did too. We made some mistakes but we also made some progress for the society as a whole. We hope that future committees can build upon what we have made and bring Juggling Soc to new heights.

Mission Statement

The aim of the Juggling society is to promote and encourage juggling and other creative and performing arts in NUI Galway.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

For the coming year, we have the following aims:

- To increase our presence on campus
- To attend as many conventions as possible
- To get people more invested in the society and its committee
- To host a number of different workshops for the society

Society Performance Reflection

This year, I felt that we succeeded in following our constitution and to our aims and objectives. We gained new passionate members and brought people together on our various trips we had such as the National Circus Festival of Ireland, Belfast Juggling Convention and Dublin Circus Festival. We made many new friendships along the way and had fun through our common interest for juggling and the performing arts. We intend on keeping our current momentum and building an even better society next year.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

- We increased our presence on campus by performing at many events for other societies.
- We attended all the conventions in Ireland this year.
- We have formed a group of people who are interested and passionate about juggling and who have volunteered to be on next year's committee
- We hosted a range of different workshops to cater for all people

Greatest Success

I believe our biggest success was changing ourselves from a Society into a close-knit Family, particularly as a committee, I feel juggling society has binded over the past year.

Greatest Challenge

Time management was often a challenge for us, too often we left this to the last minute or we would waste time in committee meetings having fun as opposed to discussing what needed to be discussed. This led to things not being finished on time or people leaving committee meetings because they did not have enough time.

Law Soc

This year the NUI Galway Law Society enjoyed an extremely successful year. We arranged many educational and social events which provided a platform for all university students to explore the legal profession in a fun and dynamic environment. We kicked off the year assisting the School of Law with the First Year Induction Day. This gave everyone a chance to meet and find out what Law Soc had to offer.

We had an Evening with the Director of Public Prosecutions Ms Claire Loftus and an Evening with Ms Ursula Connolly who lectured on Online Torts. We organised an evening of information on Chinese Disability Law with Dr. Fu and conducted a panel of solicitors from Galway law firms.

We had a speed networking event with Arthur Cox and a summer internship information session with A&L Goodbody. We assisted the Career Development Centre on Law Firms Fair day. We arranged an internship programme with local firms and students have been given paid employment through this scheme.

We held the Annual Law Ball and an international trip to the Hague. We also had a fun team building committee night out.

We had weekly moot court meetings which culminated in the Annual Moot Court Competition. We attended a talk on Newstalk FM with Pat Kenny on a debate regarding repealing the 8th Amendment. We have rejuvenated the NUIG Law Journal which had been dormant for a number for years.

We are delighted with the work of the society this year and look forward to building on this next year.

Mission Statement

The Law Society of NUI Galway is dedicated to promoting friendly, respectful and enriched relations between students of law and students of all disciplines through law related and non-law related activities. We aim to provide a springboard for students who would like to be further involved in what goes on on the campus outside of the lecture theater. The society will, through collaboration with external bodies and agencies if needed, allow for students to unwind and relax in a welcoming and fully inclusive environment. Unlike the courts, there are no judgments here!

Aims, Objectives & Goals

We aim to increase awareness of the Law Society on a nationwide basis whilst also having a positive impact on students. We aim to assist students with advocacy through moot courts. We are dedicated to getting the NUI Galway Law Journal back up and running. We hope to strengthen the relationship between the Law School and the Society. We hope to bring top class speakers to the university and opening up the society further to students of all disciplines.

Society Performance Reflection

The Law Society had an extremely successful year. Our aims and objectives included the revival of the NUI Galway Law Journal. Following many months of hard work which involved correlation of previous essays we are now ready to go to print on the journal this week. This highlights our dedication to our original aims and ensures students who do well are awarded for their hard work. We aimed to bring top class speakers to the university and once again we have delivered on this objective and we have plans for an especially high profile speaker to come in September. One of the core priorities of the Law Society was to include students from all disciplines. This was particularly successful when we held career events. This includes our evening of Insider Internships. Many arts and commerce students attended this event and they were delighted to be provided with information regarding the recruitment process of law firms.

As regards social events, the Society had a prosperous year. At the beginning of the year we conducted a induction programme for first year law students, this included a buffet reception in the arts millennium. Law Soc were aware that it can be quite daunting starting in college and that some of the lecturers may seem unapproachable. We wanted to dispel that myth by providing students and lecturers an opportunity to talk in an informal setting and break down the barriers that students might think exist. We enjoyed team building activities and worked with a tight budget for the Annual Law Ball. This event went exceptionally well and we were delighted with the feedback we received from both Socs Box and academic staff. We also teamed up with other societies for events such as table quizzes. We had a strong affiliation with both Eng Soc and Biz Soc. This was vital in ensuring we communicated the society's work to as many students as possible.

We also joined forces with Cancer Soc to raise money for Cancer Care West. Everyone knows someone or has been affected by cancer in some way, and we as a society wanted to reach out and use our resources to give back to those helping to fight cancer. We managed to raise a €220 from just a few hours selling baked goods we made at home. All funds raised went directly to Cancer Care West based on the Galway University Hospital campus.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

One of our main objectives was to strengthen the relationship between the Law Society and the NUI School of Law. We did this by beginning the year with a meeting with Professor Donncha O'Connell. We spoke to him about building a working relationship which allows students and the faculty to work closely together and support each other. This was achieved from the outset. The Law Society assisted at the School of Law First Year Induction Day. This gave new students a chance to meet face to face with our committee.

We collaborated once again for the Law Firms Fair day. Fifteen law firms attended and the committee provided one member to assist each firm for the day. All law firms appreciated having a link with the society for the days and made many of the stalls more approachable for students to come and ask questions. We shared many of the School of Law events through our Facebook page and also via email. Faculty members also came to our events such as the Law Ball.

We had an excellent relationship with many lecturers. We have worked with Ursula Connolly for both moot court workshops and informative evenings regarding online torts. We have also achieved this aim through assisting Dr. Brian Tobin in advertising events which provide an insight into surrogacy laws.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success is undoubtedly the organisation of the Law Ball on an extremely tight budget. We were forced to negotiate the best possible deals for our venue, entertainment acts and all other expenditures. Ticket sales were not as rapid as we had expected but by keeping all committee members spirits high and ensuring constant communication and feedback we ran an excellent event in the end. By speaking to staff, students and members of the Socs Box on the night we were delighted to see that everyone had an incredibly positive experience. This success propelled the society for semester two and gave further motivation to our team. We were pleased that our Law Ball was attended by Arts, Engineering and Commerce students. This once again hearkens back to the society's aim of including all disciplines in our work.

Greatest Challenge

Our greatest challenge was ensuring we involved as many students as possible. There had been issues with the inclusion of BA Legal Studies students who had felt left out of the Law Society in previous years. We aimed to eradicate this problem by creating three new positions which were elected well into September. This gave first years in particular a chance to be involved as they were not at the AGM in March. We aimed to include a broad spectrum of students and this was how we tackled the issue at hand. Ensuring constant communication was ensured by focusing on having a dedicated facebook group which included Law Society Ambassadors. All events were updated through this forum as well as keeping our mailing list updated at all times. Texts were sent out and posters distributed for all events. We also conducted shout outs at the beginning of lecturers to ensure the word was spread about activities around the campus. Active participation at both Socs Days meant we extended our membership to well over 800 members.

Other Information

We held 8 committee meetings during the year and we have held our AGM. Our total membership stands at 858 members. All of our committee members have completed the end of year survey.

Life Society

Life Society launched the Yes to Life campaign on campus this year to start a conversation around the university and city about the 8th amendment and how it has protected mothers and babies for more than 30 years. We attended the Rally for Life in Munster and the Celebrate the 8th event in Dublin where we heard from people whose lives have been saved by the 8th amendment. We also followed closely the developments on the abortion giant Planned Parenthood in the States as their grisly practices were exposed by investigators. A poster campaign around campus raised awareness about how the abortion industry was selling the brains, livers, hearts and other body parts of aborted babies.

During the summer, we plan to attend the All Ireland Rally for Life and join the Pro life Roadshow. In addition, we will participate in a documentary film to highlight the importance of the 8th amendment.

Life Soc had a great year and hope to continue our efforts through the summer.

Other Information

We held 6 committee meetings during the year. We have not held our AGM yet. Our total membership stands at 116 members. 1 committee member has completed the end of year survey.

Lit & Deb

The society has gone through many changes this year through committee members leaving, joining and changing roles. There have been many highlights this year despite the changes, with competitive success for our members in the Irish Times and Irish Junior Mace competition, as well as having massive enjoyment and engagement at our Thursday night events. Our biggest event and most successful event was our Evening with Ardal O'Hanlon, where we enjoyed a packed house full of students and members of the public. In addition to our regular events we hosted the annual Irish National Law Debates, which was a large success and very enjoyable for all those involved.

I'll answer that - no, you don't. Come on down! As always, we have Private Members Time beforehand, in which anyone can propose a motion to the floor. It's not really all that private, don't be shy. The main debate will be followed by a social in Murty Rabbit's Pub on Forster Street.

UCC Debating Intersarsity: Conference » Cork, Cork, UCC » 27th November 2015

TP O'Connor: Other » Kirwan Theatre » 14th January 2016

No one really knows who TP O'Connor was or what he did or if he was even real. But what is certain is that, every year, the Lit & Deb gather in his name and give speeches on whatever topic they like, competing for the timeless honour of living up to the glorious name of that man, or maybe woman, since we're not 100% certain on who they are. Just trust us, it'll be great. As usual, there will be a PMT starting from 7 before the main debate.

Workshops: Other » Kirwan Theatre » 19th January 2016

Come along to our public speaking and debating workshops on Tuesday nights in the Kirwan to learn how to talk good, and in front of people. Don't miss out! This week's workshop is an intro to Public Speaking & Debating.

Hangouts: Other » Meeting Rooms 1 & 2 » 20th January 2016

Lit&Deb have our weekly hangouts in the Meeting Rooms in Aras na Mac Leinn! Join us for tea, coffee, biscuits and more than likely interesting conversation.

THW Privatised Healthcare: Other » Kirwan Theatre » 21st January 2016

Healthcare has been a growing issue in Ireland for quite some time, but there has always been arguments on how to best utilise it. Should we let the private businesses decide how it is run, in the hopes it will create a better, more efficient healthcare system? Or should we let the government control and expand it, in order to hopefully have satisfactory health care accessible to everyone? Come down to the Kirwan this Thursday 21st to find out!

Workshops: Other » Kirwan Theatre » 26th January 2016

Spend your Tuesday night in the Kirwan Theatre learning how to speak about things you feel passionately about. What else would you be doing? Honestly. I mean, honestly.

Hangouts: Other » Aras na Mac Leinn Meeting Room 2 » 27th January 2016

Hangouts this week in Meeting Room 2 in Arás na Mac Leinn from 3 until 6. Lit&Deb behind the green curtain, you might say. Seriously though, it'll be good. Coffee, tea, biscuits, crack. Sorry, I meant craic. Or did I? Come find out.

This House Regrets the Demise of Rave Culture: Other » Kirwan Theatre » 28th January 2016

Join us to debate the motion 'This House Regrets the Demise of Rave Culture.' Listen to expert guest speakers discuss the popularity of raves and have your say on the topic. As always a PMT debate precedes the main motion on the night, where anyone can raise a topic for discussion.

Workshops: Other » Kirwan Theatre » 02nd February 2016

Spend your Tuesday night in the Kirwan Theatre learning how to speak about things you feel passionately about. What else would you be doing? Honestly. I mean, honestly.

This House Would Sign Up to TTIP: Other » Kirwan Theatre » 04th February 2016

Do you care about online privacy? Do you want to remain free from large corporate control? Would public services be better if privately controlled? Join us to discuss all this and more in our debate This House Would Sign up to TTIP. As always, followed by a social in Murty Rabbits pub and preceded by a PMT debate!

Mission Statement

The Lit & Deb aims to foster debate, oratory and free speech among all students and staff of the university - we hold weekly debates on the important issues of the day along with workshops where we pass on knowledge and skill to anyone who wants to improve their debating skills or worldly knowledge. As the university's oldest society, we are proud to continue the society's traditions for the modern day.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

We aim to hold a main event every Thursday of teaching time, along with weekly workshops and hangouts.

We want to foster involvement from as many new members as possible to ensure the society has a strong base for its future.

We aim to host a national debating competition in February, with teams coming from universities across Ireland and abroad.

Society Performance Reflection

The Literary and Debating Society, through the last year, has held main business debates, workshops and hangouts on a weekly basis. Our main debates engaged the student body on issues of gender equality, commercial surrogacy, violent protests, our position in the European Union, the potential privatisation of our healthcare system, TTIP, Immigration and the Eighth Amendment. Our workshops introduced first time speakers to public speaking and debating while refining the skills of more experienced members. They also introduced members in many topics such as international relations, important impacts of economics, social justice and international relations.

The society also hosted several debating competitions. The annual Irish National Law Debates were hosted in February. The society hosted a round of the Irish Times Debating Competition. The society also hosted workshops and competitions for debating competitions in the west of Ireland, and will host the upcoming National Final of the Irish Junior Debating Competition.

The society committee met with significant internal difficulties which resulted in multiple positions being changed. This presented the society with challenges in organisation, however the society did succeed in meeting all of its commitments and achieved its aims.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

The society did meet its goals over the last year.

WEEKLY EVENTS

A main event was held every Thursday during term time (except March 17th), and workshops and hangouts were held on a weekly basis as well.

FOSTERING INVOLVEMENT

We have had new or inexperienced members, including first years and exchange students from abroad, be regular voices at our main debates as well as participating in national and international competitions where many of them excelled. There are also now two first years who are part of the committee as OCMs.

IRISH NATIONAL LAW DEBATES

We hosted the Irish National Law Debates, a national debating competition open to international entrants. The event itself was very successful; the society came together to face those challenges which arose. There were two international teams registered from Northern Ireland and the Netherlands, but these ultimately had to cancel their entries.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success was probably our annual President's Medal event where we hosted Ardal O'Hanlon as a guest speaker. This was one of the most successful events in terms of excitement created in the student body and turn out on the night. We were also able to engage attendees in a debate relating to Irish people wearing the Poppy as a memorial as is done in England (the event was in November).

Greatest Challenge

Our greatest challenge was in organising the Irish National Law Debates. This annual event is a national debating competition hosted by the society over Valentine's weekend. Due to a change of roles in the committee late in 2015, those organising the event changed between one semester and the next. While we secured the Bank of Ireland Bursary for this event there were unexpected issues in relation to financing the event. Despite this the event was very successful and the committee and wider society came together to face any and all obstacles during the event.

Individual Committee Members - Hopes & Aspirations (September 2015)

Completed by 15 committee members.

Training in Compassionate / Non-Violent Communication (NVC): Training » The View » 24th October 2015

We may notice that our interactions with others often don't turn out the way we want. Instead of clarity and connection we find all kinds of uncomfortable feelings and even conflict. This foundation training in Compassionate / Non-Violent Communication (NVC), facilitated by Donal Gannon, offers skills, practical tools and insights to show us an alternative; to deepen, enrich and transform our relationships, whether with loved ones, colleagues or ourselves. For more info on NVC see www.cnvc.org. The weekend provides an experiential and interactive exploration of how we communicate, using individual and group processes, games, exercises and meditations to integrate the teachings. Includes: 30 page training workbook, refreshments and lunches. 24th-25th October. 9:30am – 5:30pm, both days. There are a limited number of places left for Society Committee Members. No payment expected from NUIG society members.

Mission Statement

Offering students a variety of affordable yoga classes and connecting students with the yoga community in Galway.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

- To continue to regularly respond to stream of questions and queries on facebook.
- To build and maintain a good relationship between the committee members and our teachers.
- To bring guest speakers in for special classes when they are visiting Galway to teach.
- To organise two retreats; one each semester.
- To ensure there is a strong committee to run the society in the following academic year

Society Performance Reflection

Our society continued to provide most yoga classes to the students and staff of NUIG, whilst staying within our budget, with a turnover in most committee members, yet maintaining committee roles and adequate communication.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Our PRO continued to answer queries and concerns on Facebook and email, allowing for efficient communication with students and the committee, sharing weekly class schedules and new opportunities and updates.

We continued our retreats, though with less popularity than last year.

Our treasurer maintained good relations with all the yoga teachers, as she managed their payment, and communicated the teachers' preferences to the rest of the committee.

Greatest Success

We managed to continue all of our yoga classes and retreats while maintaining the teachers' requests and keeping their availability in mind, all while having most of our committee consisting of new members.

Greatest Challenge

Most of our committee members had varying schedules this year, so meeting times were very difficult to arrange. Thus most of our communication was via email, leaving room for some miscommunication, ambiguity and delay in getting tasks done. We resolved this challenge by making a facebook page for the committee members, but this still does not replace the efficiency of face to face meetings.

Malaysian Society

A society for anyone who is interested in knowing and experiencing Malaysian culture in Galway. We have provided a fabulous social platform for Malaysian students and other communities around the University to meet new people and to exchange cultural experiences. This year, MSOC has also organized a wide range of social events including Malaysian Family Day, Futsal for Charity, and the list goes on. We received a lot of participations from many international students from other universities as well this year.

Cooking Class: Arts & Culture » Galway, Fairlands Park, Sylvan Heights » 24th February 2016

Cooking Class for students of NUI Galway interested to know how to cook simple Malaysian delicacies. A pioneer event, for this month we will be making Spring Rolls, Banana Fritters and Onde-onde. Want to know what onde-onde is? Sign up for this event by emailing us. Open for 20 spots only with a fee of €5.00 per person. First come first serve basis. We will organize some committee members to come and escort students interested from a rendezvous point which will be mentioned in the future so no worries on getting lost to go to the venue. Food made can be brought back home as well!

Bake/Food Sale: Arts & Culture » Smokies Table, Concourse » 26th February 2016

Food Sale to exhibit Malaysia's renowned culture - its cuisine! We're opening up a table near Smokies at the Concourse to allow NUIG students the opportunity to purchase some famous Malaysian delicacies, ranging from simple desserts to other savoury dishes that will not only open horizons to the food we eat, but also the culture within its making. In conjunction with the spirit of cultural exploration, we are inviting other Malaysians who would like to participate and showcase their culinary skills by providing food that we can sell on the days allocated for this sale. Best of all, the profit will go directly back to you! We just intend to provide this platform for Malaysians to be involved without any strings attached (you can come take care of the booth if you are willing in your spare time but we'll have committee members around till the end of the event), and also for non-Malaysians to get comfortable speaking a language we Malaysians are ever so fond of - food! So come along and join us on the 4 dates we have in store for you. More information will be posted from time to time so keep your eyes out for it.

Mission Statement

To become a society that brings the community together as one.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

- Synchronize all the activities between the 2 main societies in Galway (PPIMG, MSOC).
- Encourage the involvement of the non-Malays(Indian, Chinese)
- To promote Malaysia to the local people in Galway/ non-Malaysian.
- To enhance the Malaysian students to think more critically and think more about current issues other than focusing on studies.

- (e) Bridging the gap between senior and junior
- (f) Try to increase more non-Malaysian members in the society.

Society Performance Reflection

We had a couple of good events, however due to time constraints and examination clashes we were not able to carry out a lot of good and exciting activities that we had initially planned at the beginning of our term.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We accomplished some goals such as promoting Malaysia to the local people in Galway and bridging the gap between the upper-classmen and lower-classmen. But despite that, we are unable to come together as a society to form unity and equality among us. There have been no efforts to increase the involvement of non-Malays or non-Malaysians and I personally believe that until we are able to come together as one club without races or religion separating us, MSoc will remain unreachable to many people at NUIG.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success I would say is the strengths of our committee members, despite disagreements, we have been always able to put together a good event, eg the Futsal Tournament. We had a good team and a very understanding and capable president.

Greatest Challenge

My greatest challenge in MSoc would be to enable equality amongst the members of the Malaysian Society and scheduling events with the university was seen to be almost always a reason for us to not be able to carry out an event, eg Bailey Allen Hall availability.

Marine Soc

The society this year aimed to improve on goals and achievements of previous years and to set new goals for this year. We hoped to get people involved in marine related issues and gain an understanding of the importance of our oceans and all the organisms that inhabit them. We also aimed to provide a friendly atmosphere that was welcoming to newcomers and have events where we could all have some fun and maybe learn a thing or two from each other along the way.

Mission Statement

The Marine Society's aims are to promote the awareness of marine issues in the University and in the surrounding Galway area by uniting people with similar interests and goals.

Marine Society advance the knowledge of zoological, botanical and environmental matters in fun, inspirational, active ways, that will allow everyone to understand our impact on our oceans.

Through trips, national and international, seminar series, and high impact documentaries, marine society creates a greater appreciation and understanding of marine matters in the college and local area.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

Our aims are to enrich the lives of the student body through educational trips off campus, as well as guest speakers to educate them on a wide range of marine topics and issues.

One of our main goals this year is to stock and maintain the large fish tank in the Martin Ryan Institute as a collaboration between the Marine Society And the Department in the Martin Ryan.

Society Performance Reflection

Our society did very well this year. With only a small committee we still stuck to our mission statement and tried to promote awareness of marine related issues in the area and especially in the university. While doing this we still had some fun along the way.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Yes we achieved all our goals. We had a whole week of seminars with guest speakers coming from far and wide. Some of the guest speakers we invited to talk were from the university and spoke on a variety of different topics. Other speakers were from outside the university and gave talks on zoological or marine related topics. One such talk was from the former head of the Irish Wildlife Trust. We also began the restoration the 700L marine tank on campus. This involved a huge effort of totally rearranging and aquascaping the rock work and balancing the system. We then stocked and maintained the tank and have made a poster with information on the species that live in the tank. We also organised a trip abroad to Barcelona. Here we did many activities such as visiting the Barcelona Aquarium and the Barcelona Zoo.

Greatest Success

I would regard the marine tank on campus as our greatest success this year as it took not only a huge initial effort and planning but weekly maintenance and cleaning and daily feeding.

Greatest Challenge

Our greatest challenge was trying to get people to show up to events we planned. Despite sending emails, texts and notifications it was very disheartening sometimes if members couldn't be bothered to show up.

Mature Students

The NUI Galway Mature Students Society is open to both undergraduates and postgraduates who entered their courses as mature students. The purpose of the mature students society is to provide individual students with a support network of like-minded peers on campus. Events are aimed to cater for a wide range of interests, both on and off campus. Examples of events held were coffee mornings, trips to the cinema, weekend on the Aran Islands and finally an international trip to Poland. These were valuable experiences that gave students a feeling of community and belonging on campus. The diverse focus of the society's events means that new members are welcome to contribute in ways to enhance the experience of the society.

Cinema Trip: Social » Galway, Galway City, IMC cinema » 25th February 2016

The chosen film for this outing is Sacha Baron Cohen's latest production 'Grimsby'. Storyline MI6's top assassin (Mark Strong) has a brother. Unfortunately for him, he's an English football supporter (Sacha Baron Cohen) from the town of Grimsby. Nobby has everything a man from the poor English fishing town of Grimsby could want - 9 children and the most attractive girlfriend in northern England (Rebel Wilson). There's only one thing missing in his life: his little brother, Sebastian. After they were adopted by different families as children, Nobby spent 28 years searching for him. Upon hearing of his location, Nobby sets off to reunite with his brother, unaware that not only is his brother an MI6 agent, but he's just uncovered a plot that puts the world in danger. On the run and wrongfully accused, Sebastian realizes that if he is going to save the world, he will need the help of its biggest idiot. Starring - Sacha Baron Cohen, Penélope Cruz, Johnny Vagas, Mark Strong. Pay €3 at the Socs Box anytime until 5pm next Wednesday and leave your student ID number. We meet up in the College Bar from 6pm next Thursday where you'll get your cinema ticket and we'll tip over to the IMC on Headford road at 6.35 for the 7.05 screening time!

Mission Statement

To enhance the overall university experience for all our members, and establish a solid focal point for the wide diversity of mature students to meet, exchange ideas, share experiences and have fun.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

To build upon the foundations of the existing society and leave a stronger structure in place for those who join and administer it in the future.

Society Performance Reflection

The society improved a great deal once a core committee was formed, with actively engaged members. During semester 1 there were some startup issues, due to the change-over of committee members. There were many ideas, yet there were not realized. From the start of semester 2, there was a big shift and more activity and ideas being put into action. There was an interest and enthusiasm amongst members to become active.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

By the end of semester 2, we achieved the goal of organizing the trip abroad. We also managed to hold at least one event per week.

Greatest Success

From the start of semester 2, it was great to see new faces turning up at the different activities. Even if there were sometimes only small numbers, still the fact that students reached out the society and connected in some way, was a boost.

Greatest Challenge

The fast pace of the semesters makes it challenging to arrange day trips. Also the fact that general members have busy lives outside of college means members are not always willing to partake. Also responsibilities outside of college and the different schedules and interests of members, made it more challenging to pick activities that are suited to the majority of members.

Other Information

We held 18 committee meetings during the year. We have not held our AGM yet. Our total membership stands at 183 members. 8 committee members have completed the end of year survey.

Medicine Soc

We had multiple successful events this year and a fantastic committee to put these in place. Furthermore, we were fortunate this year to have both the President and the Treasurer of the Association of Medical Students Ireland (AMSI) as part of the MedSoc committee. This meant that the students of NUIG Medicine were well represented throughout the year at a national level, with our interests highly advocated. We also have strengthened our links to the Irish Medical Organisation (IMO) and now have students representatives at that level.

We strove to promote good physical and good mental health among Medical Students and the wider community and we believe that we have achieved this. For example, some of these events include the pre-clinical Surf Trip, the Students vs Staff gaelic football match and we provided treats and tea bags at various locations in the college to help students from every course in NUIG (tying in with the HSE's #LittleThings campaign for better mental health - "Add some friends to your tea").

We facilitated and encouraged philanthropic activities by students of NUIG to benefit the wider community. Such as NUIG's Medical Charity's Day (often shortened to "MedDay"), we co-organised Masquerade Ball in November for our sister charity VSA (which raised close to €4,500), and also hosted the third annual Shave or Dye in the Quay's in aid of the Irish Cancer Society.

We supported the educational and academic needs of the medical students, and again this is something we feel we did to the highest level of our ability. We organised a "Wine and Cheese Welcome Night", a Book Sale, a Specialities Night, a regional semi-final for AMSI's Case Conference competition along with the National Final and a USMLE Information Evening, to name a few.

We organised and encouraged social interaction between our members. Along with the support of the Skeff and Karma (one of our main sponsors), we organised a huge amount of highly attended nights out, from Welcome Back Nights to Day 2 of MedBall. We also organised two balls in Semester 1, both of which were same-day sell-out successes, which we think really speaks for itself!

We won best Society in an Academic/Social/Cultural field both in NUI Galway and at the BICS National Society Awards.

There's no better way to nurse those hungover heads than to head straight to the College Bar at 2 pm SHARP!. The Med Ball veterans will be happy to hear the one and only Buck Taylor will once again grace our beloved ball. DJ Byrno will be back at work in the afternoon getting you in the mood for what's to come! The Skeff will be kindly holding our suffering bones from 8 pm, where they will be providing platters of everything you love most. Then, we will have the entire top floor of Karma to ourselves where yet another champagne reception will keep us going – free entry of course!

MedSoc Welcome Back Party: Social » Galway, Galway City, Skeff Bar » 13th January 2016

Well well well, what do we have here.....THAT'S RIGHT, WE'RE BACK! Come join us in the Skeff on Wednesday night, there'll be free food from 9pm onwards with free into Karma afterwards... FREE. On the night, a group of final meds doing a collection to help send a clinical officer they met while on VSA at Mpongwe Mission Hospital, Brian Kaonga, to medical school in Zambia. Any contributions would be greatly appreciated and they will be holding their own event soon so keep an eye out! See you all there! xoxo Medsoc

Cheese & Wine Reception: Health & Lifestyle » CSI, Lecture Theatre » 26th January 2016

Information evening for the upcoming semester for all Med students, tailored talks for each year.

AMSI Medical Case Conference - NUIG Qualifier: Other » Small Lecture Theatre CSI » 12th February 2016

The Association of Medical Students in Ireland will be holding their annual Student Medical Case Conference on the 11th of March and we, at MedSoc, will be hosting the NUIG Qualifier to find our representative in the CSI on February 12th! Our very own Simon Neary won the national competition last year, so it'd be amazing to make it two years running for NUIG!! We want you to write up an interesting medical case you've encountered in the clinical setting in your usual case report format, to be submitted to Medsoc@socs.nuigalway.ie by 5pm on the 5th of February. The chosen few will then present their case in front of a panel of NUIG adjudicators with a live studio audience on the 12th, and the lucky winner will go on to the national competition. The competition is open to all years, so don't be shy! Get your cases into us!

Final Med Student Event of the Year: Other » Nurses Building GUH » 25th February 2016

Final Meds!! ALERT. BE PREPARED.... The final "Your Event Your Future" night will be held on THIS THURSDAY 25th February at 5pm starting with DINNER in the staff canteen in the nurses' HOME. gasp emoticon "I'm so excited" - quote from YOU/ All students who were based in the academies in 5.1 are invited to attend. This is a UNIQUE opportunity to get EXPERT advice about applying for INTERNSHIP, the practicalities of internship, future career guidance from experts and a limited edition chance to use ADVANCED SIMULATION (not stimulation) EQUIPMENT (omg what is that) in the Saolta Centre for Simulation. The evening is divided into THREE x 60 minute sessions giving all students a chance to participate.

Joseph Browne Memorial Cup: Health & Lifestyle » Dangan Sports Grounds » 27th February 2016

The Joseph Browne Memorial Cup is an annual Gaelic Football match contested between the 1st and 3rd Meds in memory of Joseph Browne, a former NUIG medical student who died tragically in 2006. A bit of friendly sporting competition is a great way to remember Joseph and for the years to get to know each other. MedSoc would like to invite 1st and 3rd meds to come along and battle it out for the memorial cup which currently resides with an amalgamation of last year's 1st Meds and Pre-meds! All genders and all skill levels are encouraged to play. Whether you're here to showcase your skills or give that haughty 1st med a fair shoulder, everyone is welcome! Details: Standard GAA game 2x30min halves. Subs can roll on and off. Boys and girls all welcome to play! Additionally, scores by the fairer sex will be doubled i.e. 1 point = 2 points; a goal = 6 points so mixed teams are encouraged. The Joseph Browne Memorial Cup will be taking place directly before the inaugural Students vs Doctors GAA game and students are encouraged to stay and support the student's team! At the later game, a selection of crepes, wraps and sandwiches in addition to tea and coffee will be supplied by our kind sponsors Mr Waffle. Afterwards we will be getting washed down and glammed up for the afterparty in the Skeff and Karma! Finger food will be provided from 8:30pm and we will be handing out wristbands at the game. All years are welcome to come along and cheer on the students/doctors and celebrate afterwards. See you there! Xoxo MedSoc

NUIG MedSoc's Students vs Doctors GAA Match: Social » Dangan Sports Grounds » 27th February 2016

NUIG Medical Society are proud to present the inaugural Students vs Doctors Gaelic Football Match. Prof O'Brien and Prof Kerin will be team managers on the day, with Dr Sean Dineen leading from the front and captaining the doctors! The Professors would like to invite all doctors in UCHG and all 4th and Final year students to come along and play. Whether you're an All-Star inter-county footballer or you've never kicked a ball before, everyone is welcome! Details: Match will be in 3x20-minute thirds. Subs can roll on and off, and teams will be changed at each interval with 5 minute breaks in between. Boys and girls all welcome to play! Additionally, scores by the fairer sex will be doubled i.e. 1 point = 2 points; a goal = 6 points so mixed teams are encouraged. As always, a selection of crepes, wraps and sandwiches in addition to tea and coffee will be supplied by our kind sponsors Mr Waffle. Afterwards we will be getting washed down and glammed up for the afterparty in the Skeff and Karma! Finger food will be provided from TBC pm and we will be handing out wristbands at the game (to be confirmed) PLEASE NOTE: due to number restrictions, only 4th and Final year students will be permitted to play. Our apologies to the younger years, but this is to ensure that everyone gets some game-time. However 1st and 3rd meds will be able to showcase their skills at the upcoming Joseph Browne Memorial cup. All years are welcome to come along and cheer on the students/doctors and celebrate afterwards. See you there! Xoxo MedSoc

Dr. Gerard Flaherty's "8 Gold Medals for Dummies": Training » Clinical Science Institute » 08th March 2016

Have you ever spotted Ger Fla cruising effortlessly across a crowded room, and thought "How did he do it?.. How did he manage to forage aaaall of the special medicine gold?" ... Legend has it, he was actually born at the end of a special medicine rainbow and, from birth, it was his destiny... Many say that he presented a long case through song while accompanying himself on a tiny keyboard and beating Prof. Kerin in connect 4.... But no one really knows... LUCKY FOR YOU, on Tuesday the 8th of March at 7pm your questions shall be answered, and the secrets to this success unlocked as Dr. Gerard Flaherty presents his award winning "8 Gold Medals for Dummies" talk in the Large Lecture Theatre CSI. Come along, unleash your inner Ger, subsequently win all of the gold medals, and enjoy the yumminess of Mr. Waffle to top it all off! YAY!

NUIG MedSoc's Annual Shave or Dye in Aid of the Irish Cancer Society: Social » Quays Bar Galway » 15th March 2016

After its continued success in raising nearly €5,000 to date for the Irish Cancer Society, NUIG MedSoc's Shave or Dye is back this year for its 3rd year! Although the location has yet to be confirmed we wanted to start reminding people of the event as, like every year, we will need as many volunteers as possible! So if you think your friend needs a good trimming or you think they could rock a shade of pink or blue please volunteer them as tribute! Of course there will be live music from our very talented members such as David Nagle, Des Conroy, Mícheál Ó Braonáin and others! Details to be confirmed! If you'd like to take part or would like further information please don't hesitate to call our Outreach Officer Lorcán Ó Maoileannaigh on 0877687892. This will be a great way to start off your St. Patrick's Day celebrations! Entry: €5 Much thanks!

MedSoc Specialities Night!: Training » Large Lecture Theatre, CSI » 24th March 2016

FREE PIZZA Some people have known they wanted to be a Cardiothoracic Surgeon since they were 5 years old. Others aren't sure what route they want to take when they finish their residency. If you fall into the second category, then our Med Soc Specialities night could be just what you need! This event aims to give everyone a bit more information about various branches of medicine. Hear doctors speak about many different specialties, ranging from Paediatrics to Geriatrics, and everything in between. They explain how they got into their specialty, their typical daily experiences, and their challenges and favourite parts of their jobs. On the night there will be great opportunity to ask questions and get feedback from the doctors and get up close and personal with our guest speaker Papa John! See you there! Xoxo Medsoc

Mission Statement

Our mission is to make a statement.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

We aim to have tons of top-class social events, including Masquerade Ball, Med Ball and Swing Ball.

We aim to continue our current charity and fundraising events, while also adding new ones such as MedDay.

We aim to ensure that every individual in the School of Medicine feels welcome, and we plan on making the integration of both new and international students as easy as possible for them.

We aim to support each students educational needs, by holding events ranging from our Wine and Cheese - Study Tips night to Book Sales.

Society Performance Reflection

We think that our society did brilliantly this year! We increased our numbers, increased our reach in the community, increased our active participation from members, gained more sponsorship and held more events than last years' committee.

Give the massive increase in our numbers from 606 to 869 this year, along with the huge active participation we witnessed from the younger years, we think it's safe to say that we our society did very well this year!!

This year saw us both expand on current areas of communication in new and ingenious ways, while also creating new ones. We saw our Facebook page grow this year from less than 1.2 thousand likes in September to almost 1.6 thousand likes today. Our most recent post on the page has a current engagement of over 11,000 people and it has only been up for several hours, with our top post this year reaching over 17,000 people!

However, aside from Facebook, we utilised every facet available to us to communicate with our members and to promote the society in general. As up to 200 members of the Medical School (and thus the society) can be away from Galway at any one time, it was very important to remember to include them whenever and wherever possible. This inclusion is generally via social media, given the talk-tech age we are in.

We began to generate interest from the beginning of the year, when we met face-to-face with the new members of the Medical School to tell them about us, and what we had in store for them. We had an informative and fun powerpoint presentation to etch in their brains what was to come, and of course used this opportunity to promote our Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, Snapchat and website - the latter three being all brand new ventures for the society!

At the same time, we were also trying to target the older members of the School before we even returned to college by holding a Summer Photo Competition on our newly-created Instagram. This page, despite being only a few months old, now already has over 600 followers.

On top of this online presence, we also launched a new website this year (www.nuigmedicalsociety.com). This site is full of useful information presented in an informal and fun way about what students really want to know. We keep this updated regularly, and have a section for students to submit their own questions for us to answer.

Our Newsletter Editor also continued to develop a bi-semester newsletter that gets emailed to everyone on our mailing list. This publication is again based on requests from the students and staff, and is very engaging as it is full of photos of familiar faces to everyone.

Another innovation from our Newsletter Editor this year was the production of a leaflet at the very start of the year to be handed out to students on Socs Day 1. This leaflet contained links to our various platforms, a small blurb about us, and a timetable of our events in September to make sure that even the newest student who hadn't found their way onto our Facebook page yet would know what was happening.

We also decided to try a few new things when it came to MedBall. Here, we created a promotional video ("We'll Take You to the Candy Shop"), which we premiered at the interval of another hugely popular event in the Medical School, the VSA Christmas Concert. This event was attended by over 350 students, and so it was peak timing for us to launch what the top-secret theme for this year's MedBall was to be. This generated a huge amount of excitement as people immediately started to speculate what was to come. The next creative idea we had to promote the event and to get word of mouth going about it was regards the tickets. Willy

Wonka is famous for his Golden Tickets inside a chocolate bar so we decided - why can't we do the same? So everyone who was purchasing a MedBall ticket got a lovely surprise when inside of just being handed a boring old ticket, they were given an extra-large personally-wrapped customised Galaxy bar, complete with a Golden Ticket inside! This then prompted countless people to Instagram/Snapchat/Tweet/Facebook this very unusual take on a college ball ticket, which again promoted our society to everyone in the college. Ultimately, this ball sold out immediately which we think shows how successful these new endeavours were!

Lastly, something that we really kept in mind when promoting the society and our activities this year was the importance of face-to-face communication. It often gets lost in this day and age but we felt it was so important for the committee to be accessible to younger students in particular. We all had memories of being new to the University, and all of the 4th Meds appearing as these impending figures in the distance that we were too small and unimportant to approach, so we tried to break down this barrier. We went to speak to every year about things such as the Surf Trip, MedDay, Shave or Dye and the Students vs Staff Football Match to really convey our enthusiasm in what we were organising. This, along with all the other creative ways of contacting the students, really paid off as this year was our most successful one to date!

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We believe that Medsoc has not only fulfilled, but also exceeded our aims and objectives this academic year.

Medsoc aims to support the students of the School of Medicine in various different ways, and to provide opportunities for them academically, socially and philanthropically. This year, we continued building upon the success of the Society in previous years by both ensuring the continuity of well-loved and well-received events such as MedBall, while also creating several new ones, including NUIG Medical Charity's Day.

We were fortunate this year to have both the President and the Treasurer of the Association of Medical Students Ireland (AMSI) as part of the MedSoc committee. This meant that the students of NUIG Medicine were well represented throughout the year at a national level, with our interests highly advocated. We also have strengthened our links to the Irish Medical Organisation (IMO) and now have students representatives at that level. Another issue we took a keen interest in was the date of Christmas exams. In 2014, unfortunately the 3rd year Medical students wound up with two exams on the same day as MedBall (the latter of which finished at 6.30pm, with the ball beginning at 6.00pm!) This was obviously something we did not want to see happening again, and so in May both of our Auditors met with the Dean of Medicine to advocate on behalf of the students to ensure this did not happen again.

We strove to promote good physical and good mental health among Medical Students and the wider community. For example, one of our first events of the year was our annual pre-clinical Surf Trip. The aim of this trip was to welcome the new members of the Medical School, and to provide them with the opportunity to get to know their class through the bonding experience of learning how to surf! We also saw teams of students go to the AMSI Medical Intervarsities in UCD in Semester 2, which shows both our promotion of good health, and our association with our Medical Schools in the country. We also organised a Students vs Staff gaelic football match for the first time ever, which allowed everyone to show off our competitive sides. We were incredibly pleased as we had a huge amount of interest both from the students and the doctors - from Interns right up to consultants and Professors! These were only some of the sporting activities we were involved in. In the run up to exams, we also provided treats and tea bags at various locations in the college to help students from every course NUIG offers through their exams, with the idea behind them tying in with the HSE's #LittleThings campaign for better mental health - "Add some friends to your tea", "Problems feel smaller when you share them", "Do things with others - there's strength in numbers" and so on. Exams are a stressful time for every single student, so we wanted to make sure everyone remembered to mind their heads while trying to mind their grades, which is why we provided people with the perfect goodie bag for a tea break (with 2 tea bags in each pack). We also included little motivational quotes in each of the bags too - "Pressure makes diamonds" and the like!

Our next aim as outlined by our Constitution is to facilitate and encourage philanthropic activities by students of NUIG to benefit the wider community. This is one aim in particular that we really feel we have exceeded ourselves in. This year saw the inaugural NUIG Medical Charity's Day (often shortened to "MedDay"), which ended up far surpassing any of our wildest expectations and raised over €10,000 for The Irish Hospice Foundation and Croí. This day saw Galway being taken over by volunteers (mainly from the Medical School) out doing bucket collections, from everywhere from Eyre Square to Salthill. We also organised Blood Pressure Clinics in the Eyre Square Shopping Centre and Galway Shopping Centre, which were free of charge and up to the person having their blood pressure to donate whatever they wanted. Alongside the bucket collectors, we had buskers, Irish dancers and even part of the Medical Orchestra line Shop Street to provide entertainment for the general public. The wider community of NUIG could also get involved by buying sweets and baked goods at our bake sale at Smokey's. We marketed this as "Small Change for Big Change", and it was very clear how much the small change added up! On top of this, we also co-organised Masquerade Ball in November for our sister charity VSA (which raised close to €4,500), and also saw us host the third annual Shave or Dye in the Quay's in aid of the Irish Cancer Society.

Our penultimate objective was to support the educational and academic needs of the medical students, and again this is something we feel we did to the highest level of our ability. At the start of both semesters, we organised a "Wine and Cheese Welcome Night" which in essence was an informal Q&A session between students of one year and a volunteer from the year ahead, who had just completed the modules the current year was about to begin. This allows students to ask questions they may feel uncomfortable asking professors or tutors, and also allows an accurate representation of the workload facing students. We also held a Book Sale at the start of Semester 1 to facilitate students buying the often pricey medical textbooks at a lower price, and of course to sell on ones they no longer need. These are only some examples of how we fulfilled this aim, as we also organised a Specialities Night, a regional semi-final for AMSI's Case Conference competition along with the National Final and a USMLE Information Evening, to name a few.

Our final aim was to organise and encourage social interaction between our members. This is also something I think the committee can all take pride in achieving. Along with the support of the Skeff and Karma (one of our main sponsors), we organised a huge amount of highly attended nights out, from Welcome Back Nights to Day 2 of MedBall. We also organised two balls in Semester 1, both of which were same-day sell-out successes, which we think really speaks for itself!

Greatest Success

NUIG MedBall was our largest event this year and our most successful part of the year. It marked the end of Christmas exams, and similarly to Masquerade Ball it sold out in minutes (leaving us to beg the Radisson to add more tables). The theme this year was Charlie and the Chocolate Factory, and so we did our best to stick to this theme. We launched the theme (a Top Secret) at the VSA Christmas Concert with a promotional video. We then created an event on facebook, which received a huge amount of attention. We also ran several competitions involving one of our sponsors DocLink to generate some more interest. For our ticket sales for this we kept with our theme, and so we purchased 1,200 large Galaxy chocolate bars, unwrapped the outermost layer, inserted a "Golden Ticket" (the ticket for the ball) and re-wrapped them with custom made wrappers saying "MedBall" on the outside. These also generated a huge amount of interest, and again this sold out immediately. We then opened up the opportunity to purchase afters tickets too. The night was a huge success, with the foyer of the Radisson Blu in Galway decorated as the inside of Willy Wonka's chocolate factory (complete with chocolate fountains) and the movie itself being played on several projectors around the room. We had also decorated each table, and for the first time ever had a full drinks reception as part of the afters ticket. A popular Irish band (Hudson Taylor) kept the audience entertained for the night, alongside Galway's own DJ Byrno.

Greatest Challenge

Like any society on campus, we encountered our own challenges over the course of the year, but we think we handled them maturely and professionally, and resolved them accordingly.

The first challenge that MedSoc has always, and will always, face is the fact that the core of our committee (Auditor, Secretary, Treasurer, Entertainment Officer) are always from the 4th year of medicine excluding any preclinical years. This then leads to the problem that during our 4th year of college, we are all on placement and are required to spend one semester in Galway and one semester in an Academy hospital. To combat this, there have always been two Co-Auditors of the society, with one of them present in Galway in each semester. This has always worked quite well, as both can then work as a team. Last year, the committee decided that it was pertinent to introduce the same idea to that of Treasurer, and so this year we had two Co-Treasurers as well. Last year also saw the introduction of the position of Alternate Committee Officer, who were elected to ensure that at least 5 committee members were present in Galway at any one time. Both of these committee members were essential we feel, as having less than that would make the running of a society as large as MedSoc quite difficult. We also feel that it would be too messy to be electing an entire new committee come Semester 2, as a lot of the positions can be performed from afar - for example, our secretary can still send emails when not in Galway, our PRO could still make Facebook events and update our social media etc. When we were slightly lacking in man-power in Semester 2 (as there were only 6 members vs 11 in Semester 1), we utilised the Class Representatives for example to help us with our table on Socs Day 2. We feel that although the changeover could have been quite messy, in modern times with the amount of opportunity we have to contact each other it was very smooth. We have a committee Whatsapp group and Facebook page, which made contact to the group as a whole very quick and easy. We were also able to arrange committee meetings around Skype so everyone could still get their say.

Another challenge that presented us was surrounding the MedBall ticket sales. In planning the sales, we were aware that there was a lot of interest but we could never have had the foresight to see what happened. As the demand for tickets turned out to far exceed the capacity of the Radisson, we were left with a number of very disappointed and angry students who did not get the Golden Ticket they were after. This then turned into an unfortunate backlash for the MedSoc committee, with people claiming that we had no plan in place, that we didn't know what we were doing, that we shouldn't have sold any plus ones to people outside of Medicine etc. However, when we were presented with this problem, we took a very unified approach to dealing with it. We agreed as a group that no one was to reply to any Facebook post or comment regarding the ticket sales until an official statement had been released by us. Fortunately, a whole thought process had gone in behind the scenes and so we were able to rationally explain to students once their anger had abated. This experience was not the most pleasant of ones, but for us as a committee it showed how well we worked together and made us lean on each other a bit more while we were under the firing squad. In order to try and solve this issue somewhat, we approached the Radisson who increased their capacity for a seated dinner for us and so far less students were disappointed than it initially seemed would be.

We held 20 committee meetings during the year and we have held our AGM. Our total membership stands at 886 members. All of our committee members have completed the end of year survey.

Microsoc

MicroSoc is a society in the department of Microbiology, NUI Galway, which is set up and ran by postgraduate and undergraduate students. The society aims to bring everyone within the department and university together through the organisation of social events and guest speakers at seminars. MicroSoc has organised many events this year, which have had great attendance. Included in these events were the 4th year Christmas fancy dress party, charity mulled wine and coffee morning, the postgraduate ball and the surfing/climbing trip to Lahinch, Co. Clare. Overall, MicroSoc have organised entertaining and interesting events which have hopefully brought people from the microbiology department closer together.

MicroSoc Seminar Series: Seminar » Dunican theatre » 16th May 2016

MicroSoc Seminar, Monday 16th May 1pm Dunican Lecture Theatre “Disarming a bacterial pathogen: Targeting the virulence gene regulator PrfA in the intracellular human pathogen Listeria monocytogenes” Prof Jörgen Johansson, Dept. of Molecular Biology, Umeå University, Sweden Prof Johansson’s group is interested in regulatory circuits that control the switch to virulence in the intracellular human pathogen Listeria monocytogenes. He is responsible for elucidating the temperature-dependent mechanism that activates the transcription of PrfA, which is the main regulator of virulence in this pathogen. He studies small non-coding regulatory RNAs that are involved in gene regulation and was the first to identify a trans-acting riboswitch that influences virulence. More recently he has been seeking to characterise the mode of action of inhibitors that block virulence gene expression in L. monocytogenes and this work will form part of his seminar presentation.

Mission Statement

The Microbiology society is a community of students within the microbiology department that share a keen interest in microbiology. The society acts by bringing all its members together, to engage in various activities, both leisure and academic.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

The aims of Microsoc shall be the promotion of microbiology and the development of a sense of community in the department through the organisation of social events. The society is involved in arranging monthly talks given by both visiting speakers and researchers within the university and various courses of relevance for students within the department. In addition, the society also organises social events throughout the year including table quizzes, coffee mornings, the post-graduate ball, seasonal events such as the summer BBQ and the Christmas party to try bring a sense of community within the microbiology department and with people who have an interest in microbiology in general.

Society Performance Reflection

MicroSoc did very well this year, beginning by electing a higher than usual number of 4th year undergrads to the committee (50% of the committee), enabling for greater inclusion and integration of the 4th years in MicroSoc events and the department as a whole.

The year's events began in October with a welcome party for the 4th years, an opportunity for them to meet their classmates and the postgrads in a more relaxed setting with the aim of promoting a sense of community and friendship. The turnout was quite good.

The annual Coffee and Mulled Wine morning in December was a great success, with staff and students contributing baked goods and funds raised going towards the Galway Simon community.

The MicroSoc Fancy Dress Christmas Party was also held in December with great participation! Prizes were given to the best dressed in a number of categories.

The Post Graduate Ball held in March was expertly organised by the postgrads and was a resounding success, a great night was had by all.

In April a group of 18 travelled to Lahinch in Co. Clare for a day of surfing and a visit to the Cliffs of Moher. The trip was a great team-building exercise and everyone had a fantastic time.

Many seminars were hosted throughout the year given by both external speakers and NUIG researchers.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Yes, the level of 4th year participation in the committee and at events was relatively high; seminar attendance was good; and the society held a number of departmental events where students and staff were able to socialise and form good working relationships.

Greatest Success

The Postgraduate Ball is a huge undertaking and the great success of this year's ball is solely down to the hard work and cooperation of the postgrads in MicroSoc.

Greatest Challenge

As above, the Postgraduate Ball. A lot of personal time and effort was dedicated to ensuring a fantastic night was had by all.

Other Information

We held 6 committee meetings during the year. We have not held our AGM yet. Our total membership stands at 153 members. 14 committee members have completed the end of year survey.

Musical Society (GUMS)

This year GUMS had one of their most successful years since its conception over 16 years ago. Our committee began working together last May when we got together to choose the main musical for the 2015/2016 academic year. Together we had chosen the Addams Family to provide the society with a lot more humour and chorus involvement after the dark and lead-central Cabaret last year.

Our year began with our annual Variety Show with DramSoc during orientation week to get first years excited about GUMS and our upcoming production. We then had our table at Socs Day where we plugged the auditions for Addams as well as advertising our EGM for the very vital roles of Sets Assistant and Head of Costumes. At that EGM we filled the positions easily with Eoin Shimizu and Grace Dillon and were finally ready to get started with the year. As well as this on Socs Day GUMS had just over 790 members - the most we've ever had!

Auditions for Addams were very successful with over 200 auditionees - the largest number we've had in years. As always we had our callbacks 2 days later and our show was cast, apart from the character of Lurch where we had to hold a separate day of auditions.

Singing rehearsals began in September but we had a minor setback when our Head of Choreography Charlie Moore informed us she could no longer do the show, so we quickly held an EGM to reelect the position and get started on dance rehearsals as soon as possible. Rory McNamara was elected in that role, but we are still grateful to Charlie for helping us choose the perfect cast we had for Addams.

In October we held auditions for our musical collab with DramSoc, which was to be The Heathers and to take place in November. Unfortunately, after casting and days worth of rehearsals, the show had to be cancelled as the rights could not be obtained and there was absolutely no way around it. That meant this year GUMS has only put on one musical, and we had none in semester one.

The lack of musical collab this year did have some silver lining as we had our first ever Musical Lucky Dip! This entailed the committee choosing three songs from three musicals and splitting people into teams to have a week to come up with a performance. We had songs from Beauty & The Beast, Les Miserables and Chicago, and it led to a very hilarious and entertaining night. Lucky Dips will definitely be apart of GUMS' future!

While rehearsals were going underway, GUMS had their annual NUIG's Got Talent competition organised by our Ents Officer Diarmuid Tierney. We had 3 heats in the College Bar and our grand final in the Bailey Allen Hall where we gave our €1,000 cash prize to the duo Benny & Brid - and GUMS will be sure to lay claim to their fame in the future if they continue with music.

Before Christmas we had a host of other events, including an Open Mic Night with Choral Soc, a trip to see PASG's Addams Family (to see how we could outdo them with our production), and we auditioned the orchestra for Addams during study week.

The beginning of semester 2 is always hectic for GUMS and this year it was no different. We began with our weekend rehearsals, meaning our very dedicated chorus members were now rehearsing for 4 days a week. By the time the week of the show came around we were all exhausted but running completely on adrenaline as we were so excited to finally take to the stage! Another set back we had this year was that Muscailt's dates had been changed so we had lost our only PR platform, but a press launch was kindly organised by the SocsBox where the songs Pulled and Death is Just Around the Corner were performed and we ended up having our most successful show ever! We even added in an extra matinee show for families on the Saturday because sometimes 5 shows just isn't enough.

The show took place in the second week of February and we all basically lived in the Black Box so as to not ruin our hair, make up and costumes done by our Costumes Team of Grace Dillon and Conor Duggan and their team for makeup. Not only did we sell out a night or two, but we oversold a night and had to sell seats we normally never would. The AIMS adjudicator came on the Thursday night and afterwards he spoke of how much he enjoyed our show. In his report he not only praised the production team and lead cast but even the chorus members for having individual characters, even naming the Forlorn Bride (Aisling Bonner) and the Cavewoman (Sive Neary) in his report.

Straight after the successful run we had our annual GUMS Ball in the Galway Bay Hotel, again organised by Diarmuid Tierney, where everybody really enjoyed the nostalgic music and the chocolate fountain. We hosted a Musical Theatre Open Mic Night for Wellness week and we will also be taking part in the first ever Musical Intervarsities in the middle of April, where a team of 30 will be travelling to UCD to showcase just how talented our society is!

In May we will be having our annual trip to the West End in London, where 24 of our members will be seeing at least one musical production.

So while this year GUMS had a number of setbacks we were really able to power through them and allow for a year with more inclusiveness than ever before. Both the Lucky Dip and Intervarsities meant that people only here for one semester could still be an active member of GUMS. Our committee all worked really well together, being lead by the very dedicated Dee Ni C and Neil Delaney as our auditor and vice respectively, and everybody elected has been absolutely perfect in their roles and this allowed for GUMS, along with our very active members, to have one of its best years yet! The positive note we're leaving on only means that next year GUMS is going to get so much better!

As of now GUMS has 795 members so we're really looking forward to the next year and the AGM to see who our new committee will be!

The GUMS Ball!: Social » Galway, Salthill, Galway Bay Hotel » 29th February 2016

To cure the PSD (post-show depression) left over after The Addams Family, GUMS and friends will be having their annual ball! Complete with a chocolate fountain and music that should have been forgotten about 20 years ago (and a looooooooooooooot of songs from musicals) it's sure to be a fun night for all.

GUMS' Health Week Open Mic Night!: Social » Tyndall Theatre » 10th March 2016

For Health Week GUMS are hosting an Open Mic night because open mic nights are good for your health? Of course they are, especially if there's a small hint of a musical theatre theme. (So we'll love you that little bit more if you drop by and sing a song from your fav musical). To make it all that much better, we'll be having it in our old singing rehearsal theatre the Tyndall! If you don't know where that is, go down the red doors next to Smokey's and continue on past the microbiology department and you'll find us there on Thursday at 8pm.

GUMS EGM!: Other » O'Flaherty Theatre » 15th March 2016

Just before our AGM which will take place, GUMS are having a preEGM to go over some constitutional issues. If you, as a member, would like to have a say in how the future of GUMS will run come to O'Flaherty Theatre this Tuesday at 6pm. Check out our facebook event and the poster below

Mission Statement

GUMS aims to create a welcoming, fun, friendly environment where people feel free to express themselves, and have the opportunity to learn and grow while developing their performance skills.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

- To be a united team
- To put on a successful and enjoyable show

- To learn how to apply the skills we have acquired from GUMS to the real world
- To fundraise enough to ensure we do not run into debt

Society Performance Reflection

The 2015/2016 academic year was very successful for GUMS. This year our society seemed to reach new heights with more members, more inclusiveness and a very successful run of our musical The Addams Family. We were able to reach out to the community by donating an enormous sum to charity, we managed to include more people in our society than who were just in the show, and we received very positive responses regarding our show, from peers, professionals and critics alike. Any problem we had, such as no PR platform or no collaborative musical with Dramsoc, we were able to overcome with ease and they only led to more successes.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

This year we managed to achieve all of our goals and then some. Our committee and production team were a united team that worked together all year with very little conflict, and the entire team got on really well. Our show was enjoyed by hundreds of people of all ages, thanks to our matinee show, and was critically acclaimed. Our members and committee learned so many skills that they can apply to the real world, such as presentation skills after being on stage or organisation and time management skills as people learned how to manage their academic life alongside society and committee work. This year we were also fortunate enough to have a diligent treasurer and a production team who came under budget, and an active PR team who managed to find many sponsors, which has meant that GUMS' financial difficulties are lessening.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success would have to be how well The Addams Family performed. Not only did we get a large, dedicated and talented cast who were more than willing to dedicate hundreds of hours to GUMS, but we also got many people to help backstage, with makeup and with front of house, as well as an incredible orchestra. This allowed for more people to get involved with the show than just those on stage. As well as this our PR campaign was extensive but it paid off - Addams not only sold out but over sold a night. Our audience reached new age groups with the family friendly matinee, meaning GUMS reached out to more people than ever before and not just those in NUIG. And to top it all off - the audiences were incredibly receptive, we got more than one standing ovation, and GUMS received a very positive AIMS review meaning the show was critically received! This was also thanks to having a committee that worked so well together as everyone worked hard to achieve the same goals. The entire Addams Family experience was a positive one and allows for GUMS to grow into a more successful society in years to come.

Greatest Challenge

Our greatest challenge perhaps would have been Muscailt changing their dates to be later in the year. GUMS have their show every year in the same week to coincide with Muscailt so we could have a PR platform and be part of a larger festival to bring in more people to see the show. Without Muscailt this year we were left with no festival for the show to run in and no press release guaranteed. However, the Socs Box organised a press release, not only for us but for other societies also, and GUMS had the best run they've ever had with The Addams Family. This showed us that GUMS do not need to depend on another platform to draw in a crowd and has boosted the society's confidence. Another challenge GUMS has had for a number of years is finance, but this year we've begun to reign that in and hopefully next year it will improve further.

MusicSoc

Music Soc has provided a platform for students who are interested in music to pursue this interest with passion and dedication. This does not apply to just musicians however, Music Soc has also appealed to non-musicians through our events and activities. Music Soc has accomplished this while continuing to grow and has become one of the college's most popular societies.

Mission Statement

The Music Society aims to encourage, help develop and influence musicians in NUIG and in Galway as a whole. Providing a nurturing and friendly environment, we hope to design a platform for musicians to collaborate, learn from each other and hone their talents together.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

The Society aims to increase its membership from its level last year, as well as more collaborations with other societies. Our objectives and goals will be to run successful, inspiring events and host the most successful Witless in recent years. We aim to help inspire, nurture and expand the music scene in NUIG and Galway

Society Performance Reflection

The Society grew significantly over the course of the year with major events every week. Our Witless band competition was a huge success and drew large numbers of members to the venue.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

To create and promote a healthy environment for the performance of music for our members across NUI Galway's campus and to the wider world where appropriate.

To promote music to all students

To facilitate the learning of music

To facilitate musical performance, entertainment and enjoyment.

Greatest Success

The Witless Battle of the Bands Competition 2016 along with the consistent growth and success of our weekly open mics.

Greatest Challenge

The promotion and inclusion of non musicians within all of our society events.

Neuro Society

The Neuro Society is a society based on neuroscience. It was started by neuroscience students to meet people outside of their lectures that have an interest in neuroscience. We have an academic side to our society where we have career talks and talks where Ph.D students show off their research. We also did a lot of volunteering workshops in secondary schools on EEG machines, illusions and memory, and in the Aula Maxima during Brain Awareness Week we took part in the Explore Projects contributing the 'Seeing The Light' project about different perceptions among the world. On the social side of things we contributed to many events like Social Inclusion Week along with PsychSoc and the Silent Disco in the ILAS. Along with this, we managed events like our 'Escape The Room' event for Halloween. It is a fun society to be in. People can join our society on Facebook to see what we are doing. <https://www.facebook.com/neurosocnuig>

Mission Statement

Our mission is to support community and academic learning in relation to Neuroscience and the brain both within NUI Galway and the wider community. We hope to achieve this through large scale initiatives and workshops bringing academic and community groups together in addition to symposiums for both academics and laypeople on careers and new topics in neuroscience.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

Our aims involve the spreading of interest in Neuroscience to the wider community and to support academics and prospective students of neuroscience. Our objectives to achieve these aims include improving upon our successful workshop model to visit schools, financed through external funding from the Galway Science and Technology festival. To aid the Galway Neuroscience Centre in their endeavours through helping them organize events and attract students. To focus our efforts on larger projects and initiatives such as our Halloween Escape the Room and the Large Perception project to achieve greater impact.

Society Performance Reflection

Our society was brilliant this year. All of our members volunteered a lot of their time to help out in events around the college. We joined up with a lot of societies this year while also managing a few events on our own. I believe that our society has spread awareness of neuroscience throughout Galway city which is a huge aim of the society.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We achieved all of our aims, objectives and goals. We got to do workshops around the city, we got to include neuroscience in many of the college events which let us interact with a lot of people and to have fun.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success was our project 'Seeing The Light', that we did along with Explore. We united many disciplines around the college in an exhibition where they show off their individual projects on perception. These included colour-blindness, eating disorders, poetry, racial barriers in film and how Galway's night sky changed over time. We aimed to educate and enlighten the visitors on different aspects of perception while being in an area where there is freedom of expression.

Greatest Challenge

I think the biggest challenge for our society was finding a time that suited everybody to meet up. With our members being students of different courses and some being in their final year, it was hard to find a time where we could all meet up at once. To overcome this we scheduled a time later on in the day when most lectures were over and also, the secretary wrote up the minutes of each meeting so that if anyone missed anything, they could easily look at the minutes online.

Occupational Therapy

Our society focused on forming rapport and raising awareness about Occupational Therapy as a profession this year. This included members within the society and also the Speech and Language Therapy society members. The main body of our society efforts were focused in Aras Moyola, as this is where the Health Sciences are based. We consider Occupational Therapy to be largely unheard of although many people within our community may benefit greatly from its uses.

Mission Statement

Occupational Therapy as a career is about enabling people to reach their full potential. in the spirit of this our aim is to promote Occupational Therapy among the campus and to facilitate networking between studies for professional connections which will benefit us in the future.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

This year we aim to run social events to raise money for charity, promote the use of Occupational Therapy in everyday college life such as stress & anxiety coping skills, time management, money management and more efficient management of lifestyle in general.

Society Performance Reflection

Our society did well. Our initial objectives were a bit unrealistic for the size of our society and its provisional status, however we established ourselves within Aras Moyola and built a relationship with the Speech and Language therapy society.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Yes, we ran events which promoted Occupational Therapy as a profession

Greatest Success

Our greatest success was the rapport built within the society members during our events. This promoted relationships between students in different years of the course in the Occupational Therapy program here in NUIG.

Greatest Challenge

Our greatest challenge was our lack of experience and peer guidance I feel. Also as committee members is made primarily of 3rd years it was often not prioritised as we faced a challenging college year.

Orchestra Soc

This year the Orchestra Society had two main concerts in the year, one for charity before Christmas and another concert April. In preparation for these concerts we had weekly practices on Tuesday evening under the conductor Hugh Kelly.

Prior to the Christmas concert we had an excursion to Letterfrack. This serves as a day of practice in Kylemore Abbey to perfect the concert and serves as an excellent social event for orchestra members to get better acquainted with one another. Our Charity Christmas concert took place on the first of December in aid of St Vincent de Paul. We performed with a Galway Adult string Orchestra and the choristers of St Nicholas Schola Cantorum and the Choir of St Mary's College.

During semester two we started to prepare for our Spring concert. To prepare we had our usual weekly practice along with a day away to Esker to practice in Esker monastery with our soloist Pádraig Sebestyén. He proceeded to visit on 3 more occasions prior to the concert to practice. While this took place talks were done through the Lorient twinning committee to create a partnership between the Nuig orchestra and the Phil'Art orchestra in Lorient. For our concert they sent over three players and two representatives of the committee. As the talks progressed there is mention of the Nuig orchestra visiting Lorient next year.

The aforementioned concert took place on the eleventh of April and saw the last performance of conductor Hugh Kelly with the Nuig Orchestra.

Mission Statement

The aim of the Orchestra Society is to create a community where students with a shared interest in music and orchestral playing can enjoy membership of a music group regardless of past level of playing. To create a fun, sociable environment where members can enjoy themselves and continue to learn and play music throughout their time in NUIG.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

- To rehearse and perform several significant works of music chosen at the start of the year
- To hold an annual charity concert at Christmas in conjunction with other music groups in Galway
- To travel away and perform in several other concerts in Ireland, and possibly further afield
- To enhance and increase the presence of the Arts on the college campus
- To inform our members of other musical opportunities in Galway county
- To provide a friendly and approachable group for musicians of NUIG to join

Society Performance Reflection

I feel on a whole the Orchestra did very well this year, accomplishing many of the goals it set out to do. We played significant works such as Bizet's Carmen Suite and Elgar's Cello Concerto in E, we raised €1,000 for charity, we had several functional yet social outings and created a link with a French orchestra, paving the way for a possible trip abroad to Lorient next year. All these things combined would suggest a very good year. This is not to suggest the year was flawless as during the second semester attendance became a little lacking and communication became muddled as a result. Finally the current conductor Hugh Kelly has decided to retire after 13 fantastic years with the orchestra. With the arrival of a new conductor, I see it as a chance for the orchestra to reinvent itself and suit the needs of the current members of the society

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

The Orchestra achieved many of its goals this year. Firstly we had a rehearsal every Tuesday evening during the academic timeframe rehearsing several difficult works such as George Bizet's Carmen Suite and Edward Elgar's Cello concerto. We held our annual Christmas concert in conjunction with Galway Adult string Orchestra, the choristers of St Nicholas Schola Cantorum and the Choir of St Mary's College. We raised €1,000 for Saint Vincent De Paul. We had several rehearsals outside of the city. Such as in Kylemore Abbey in Letterfrack and Esker Monastery and these were very important for members of the society getting to know each other and bonding as a team. There are talks underway with the Lorient Twinning Committee for the Orchestra to go abroad and perform in conjunction to the Phil' art de Bretagne Sud. We most certainly provided at least in my opinion provided a very open and friendly

Greatest Success

I would regard the greatest success of the orchestra from a societal viewpoint as raising €1,000 for Saint Vincent De Paul. Regarding the actual student interaction, I felt the trip to Letterfrack was a phenomenal way for people to get to know each other. From a technical standpoint performing the Elgar Cello Concerto was an immense accomplishment due to the severe difficulty of the piece. Finally regarding the future of the Orchestra the trip to Lorient should be instrumental in providing a platform and selling point for people to join next year.

Greatest Challenge

I feel the greatest challenge of the orchestra came about during the second semester when attendance at rehearsals decreased and varied from week to week. Our attendance rates decline in second semester every year and this is something that we hope to work on in the coming year. For the aforementioned reason of attendance communication in the orchestra became rather difficult, especially regarding availability for concerts.

Mission Statement

The purpose of Organic Gardening is to allow people to get an understanding of what it is like to grow ones own food and how to carry this out. Enabling individuals who may not have a garden at home to plant and take part in a community garden. Organic Gardening is about creating a community that shares food, interests, ideas and an appreciation for the earth and nature. The mission of Organic Gardening Society is to create a community within NUIG that enables all of these aspects.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

As a society we aim to increase awareness of the benefits of spending time in a garden(nature) and growing your own organic food. This year we hope to grow as a society and accumulate more active members. Raising awareness of food ethics and health are also important to us as a society. Becoming more environmentally, health and ethically aware as well as spending time in nature and with a community who share similar interests are the main goals of Organic Gardening society this year.

Society Performance Reflection

Fair. Slow to start due to weather and lack of daylight constraints, particularly in the winter months. Need to improve upon our organizational skills.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We increased awareness by promoting the society with flyers which were put up around the campus. We hoped this would encourage people to join the society and participate as active members.

Greatest Challenge

Irish weather made it difficult to undertake events in the garden.

Individual Committee Members - Hopes & Aspirations (September 2015)

Completed by 4 committee members.

Individual Committee Members - End of Year Reflection (April 2016)

Completed by 4 committee members.

Other Information

We held 2 committee meetings during the year. We have not held our AGM yet. Our total membership stands at 210 members. 1 committee member has completed the end of year survey.

Palestine Solidarity Soc

The society had a relatively dormant year. We held a talk with a speaker from Palestine in September and this was followed by a film screening in October. In February and March we supported a Yes vote in the Students' Union direct provision referendum alongside The Sinn Fein Cumann, Amnesty Soc and the Social Democrats Soc.

RIYA HASSAN on 10 years of the Palestinian BDS Movement Other » AC202, NUIG Concourse. » 21st September 2015

On Monday 21 September in AC202 on the NUI Galway Concourse at 7pm, Riya Hassan of the Palestinian BDS National Committee will give a talk hosted by the Palestine Solidarity Society and NUI Galway Students' Union on the Boycott, Divestment and Sanctions (BDS) campaign against Israeli occupation, colonialism and apartheid. The global movement for a campaign of boycott, divestment and sanctions against Israel until it complies with international law and Palestinian rights was initiated by Palestinian civil society in 2005, and is coordinated internationally by the BDS National Committee (BNC). In 2014, NUI Galway Students' Union became the first Students' Union in Ireland to join the BDS campaign in a student referendum which passed by 64%. About the speaker: Riya Hassan is the Europe campaigns officer for the Palestine Boycott, Divestment and Sanctions National Committee (BNC), the largest coalition of Palestinian civil society organisations that works to lead and support the BDS movement internationally. Riya is a Palestinian activist raised in the southern village of Laquia in the Naqab desert. She holds a degree in International relations and an MSc Middle Eastern politics. The global movement for a campaign of Boycott, Divestment and Sanctions (BDS) against Israel until it complies with international law and Palestinian rights was initiated by Palestinian civil society in 2005, and is coordinated by the Palestinian BDS National Committee (BNC), established in 2007. BDS is a strategy that allows people of conscience to play an effective role in the Palestinian struggle for justice. Palestine Solidarity Society AGM 2015/16: Other » Meeting Room 1, Aras na Mac Leinn » 24th September 2015

Our AGM will take place on Thursday 24 September at 7pm in Meeting Room 1, Aras na Mac Leinn. Here we will be discussing our plans for the year, and electing those interested onto our Committee. Please come along and get involved; those new to NUIG are especially welcome! Most of the current committee are nearing the end of our respective degrees, so new people on the committee are needed to keep the society active! The committee positions involved are: Auditor (basically the Chairperson of the society), Vice-Auditor (the deputy Chairperson), Treasurer: (who runs the society bank account), Secretary: (in charge of correspondence, minute-taking at meetings, etc), and Public Relations Officer: (ensuring society events are advertised through texts, posters, and so on). We can also appoint a number of Ordinary Committee Members, if anyone wants to be on the committee but doesn't want a defined role.

EGM & Film Screening: Social » Ac203 » 20th October 2015

On Tuesday 20th October, the NUIG Palestine Solidarity Society will be hosting its EGM along with a film screening in Room AC203 on the Concourse. We will begin at 6pm with the EGM, all committee positions are up for grabs as well as a couple of OCM places, so if you're up for getting involved in the society this year please come along. Then as soon as we're finished with that we'll move onto a screening of Omar, an Oscar nominated & Cannes film festival award winning film from Palestine. There will also be free pizza available on the night. Bígí Linn! Film Trailer; <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=UuvO65EPWFo>

Mission Statement

The NUIG Palestine Solidarity Society is dedicated to the right to self-determination and freedom of the Palestinian people. We regularly organise talks and hold film screenings to increase awareness of the suffering of the Palestinian people under Israeli's policies of occupation and colonialism.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

To work closely with the Students Union on the BDS (Boycott, Divestment & Sanctions) campaign.

To raise awareness about the Palestinian struggle on campus.

To liaise with groups around the country to strengthen support for the Palestinian cause nationally.

Society Performance Reflection

The society had a relatively quiet year compared to previous ones.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

With the possible exception of raising awareness on campus through our film screening and public talk, we unfortunately did not.

Greatest Success

Working on the Direct provision referendum.

Greatest Challenge

Getting people involved in the society this year as many of us were in final year or doing Phd's and therefore unable to commit a huge amount of time to the society.

Photography Soc

Big emphasis on building a strong committee from the start of the year. We were very bare last year and just about hung in there. The incoming committee now have some experience and I expect good things next year. We also built up some great equipment between the capital allowance, the studio lighting, and some explore funding so thanks for helping us in that regard.

Photography Society Events list (19 Individual Events)

Firewool Long Exposure Photography with Pizza and hot chocolate: Arts & Culture » The White Pedestrian Bridge Behind College Bar » 07th October 2015

Long exposure photography with Firewool. Come along for Photo Socs first event. It's going to be a good one. You should wear long sleeves/trousers if you want to spin the wool. No spinning the wool without safety goggles (provided). You'll need a tripod but don't worry because the society has some that we can share around. You can also put your camera on the ground and use a small bag of rice to point the lens up. Ground level shots get very good results but wear clothes you'll be happy to lie on the ground with. It's forecast very nice this week but wear warm clothes because you'll be standing around outside. Hope to see you there!

Lightpainting/low light photography: Seminar » The Large Acoustic Room, Áras na Mac Léinn » 20th October 2015

Tom Flanagan from the Digital Photography School Galway is going to teach us how to paint with light. Light painting involves handheld lights to selectively illuminate or color parts of the subject, using low shutter speeds. Meeting in Áras na mac Léinn - Large Acoustic room - Tuesday 20 October 2015 at 21.00. We will go out if it's a fine day, so wear warm clothes. Bring tripods if you have them, camera with charged batteries and torches, sparklers or whatever light source you want to experiment with. A contribution of 3€ will be asked to attend the workshop.

Beginner Photography Classes: Training » Aras na Mac Leinn - The View » 09th November 2015

We're giving free beginner photography classes this coming Monday (9th November) in the View, upstairs in Arus Mac Leinn around lunch time. You must register here as places are limited. We need to run this during daytime hours so that we have good light. If you're experienced with manual mode and are happy to assist in teaching these classes you can also visit the above registration link. We'll be hoping to get you up to speed with manual mode and will cover the following: 1. Using the camera's autofocus 2. Adjusting ISO 3. Adjusting shutter speed 4. Adjusting aperture

We're organising a trip to Connemara National Park (hopefully climbing Diamond Hill) and Kylemore Abbey on Saturday the 21st November. Leaving from the Quad at 10am returning 6pm. Spaces are limited and tickets will be available from the Socs Box from approximately Thursday 12th Nov. Only 10 beans too. Cheap as chips....expensive chips. Note that we won't have time to go inside the abbey. Rather we'll spend a little time photographing it from across the lake.

Photo Soc EGM with free Pizza: Other » The Cube, Áras na Mac Léinn » 23rd November 2015

We're going to munch free pizza and elect a couple of outstanding committee positions. We'll take suggestions for events and workshops for next semester.

PhotoSoc AGM with Prizes for Best Photos: Other » Aras Na Mac Leinn Meeting Room 1 » 09th April 2016

The years coming to a close and we hope you all learned something. If you didn't and you think the committee are a bunch of jailhouse turkeys then come to this AGM and get involved on the committee for next year. We need some fresh blood/brains. The positions we need to choose include (auditor, vice-auditor, treasurer, secretary, equipment officer, social media manager, webmaster). No prior experience required. The AGM will be in 'Meeting Room 1', upstairs in Arus Na Mac Leinn at 7.00pm, Saturday the 9th April. We'll arrange for some food and possibly an alcoholic beverage or two (we'll need to check if we're allowed with the powers that be). We're also going to give out prizes for the best photos from the year. We've got prizes to giveaway including a flash, 2 gorilla pods and a 5 in 1 reflector. To enter post your image to our Facebook group. It must have been taken during the 2015/16 academic year and you need to be present at the AGM to claim your prize. We'll probably go somewhere as one big happy family afterwards.

Mission Statement

We hope to teach a broad range of photography to our members throughout the year and share existing knowledge and skill within the society with more junior members. We want to give our members the opportunity to gain experience in a range of photography types such as event photography, food photography, sport photography etc. We believe that the various clubs and societies can provide our members with the opportunities to do so.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

We hope to train our most junior members through workshops and skill sharing events such as photo walks and photo shoots.

We hope to advance our intermediate and advanced members skills through guest speakers and workshops.

We hope to reopen the darkroom and run regular darkroom evenings.

We hope to organise a trip within Ireland and another within Europe.

We want to redesign and update our website.

Society Performance Reflection

Much improved on last and previous years. More workshops, more equipment, more events, a successful trip to Prague.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We trained junior members. We had some more advanced/intermediate workshops. The darkroom saw regular use and training of new members. We organised a trip to Prague. Our website is nearing completion.

Greatest Success

Securing high end lighting equipment which our members would not normally have access to so thank you Riona for making this possible.

Greatest Challenge

Finding the time to organise everything.

Physics Soc

Physics society has had a very eventful year. We have held events almost every week and also organized the Science Ball. Physics society is a great way to meet new people and enjoy events, some social and some academic. The Science ball was a big success this year, as it is every year, and all students had a wonderful time. Our annual foreign trip brought us to Budapest over the Christmas holidays.

There was a big emphasis on charity fundraising in the Physics society this year. By selling raffle tickets at the Ball we managed to raise 622 euros for Croi. Through a bakes sale and our annual charity quiz we also raised 1200 euros for Barretstown and also raised a lot of awareness for them. It was a fun filled year and we hope that next year will be just as good if not better.

Mission Statement

I once heard a little birdy that said that the Physics Society was actually fun. That they go bowling, play laser tag, watch films along, organise a fantastic Ball and even a foreign trip with the usual educational bits. I have been told that everybody is welcome to come along but I don't see how their mix of members across Science, Arts and Engineering as proof of that at all. I certainly will not be attending and will not be availing of complimentary Pizza and refreshments...

This is actually all true (pause for reaction) we are actually cool and do fun stuff. So people don't hesitate and come visit us in RM220 on Tuesday nights at 7pm to get more of an insight :)

Aims, Objectives & Goals

Our aim is to provide a fun, relaxed educational environment that promotes physics. We want to host the science ball, go on a foreign trip and host at least 10 other events this year.

Society Performance Reflection

Our society was very successful this year. We organised a large event, the Science Ball, and also held an event almost every week. We organized a foreign trip for our physics society members to Budapest where we spent three days. We also had a strong emphasis on charity fundraising this year. By selling raffle tickets at the Science Ball we raised 622 euro for Croi. Through a bake sale and our annual charity quiz we raised €1200 for Barretstown.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Yes we achieved many of our aims and objectives. We had an event almost every week. Some which promoted physics, others just for a bit of fun, but all to bring people together socially. We organized the Science Ball and went on a foreign trip to Budapest.

Greatest Success

I would say that our greatest success was the amount of money we raised for charity this year. Between a charity work we raised nearly €2000.

Greatest Challenge

Our greatest challenge was communication. Communicating what was done and what was needed to be done for both big and small events. Unfortunately this took us a few months to get right but with some help from Riona, we resolved internal issues and finished the year off with a excellent committee, who are functioning fantastically as a team and still running great events. We hope we can pass on some of our new 'expertise' to the incoming committee following our AGM in April. Given the success and enjoyment of our participation, all our junior committee members wish to stay on and challenge themselves with new roles. Developing our communication and interpersonal skills has made this possible.

Poker

The NUI Galway poker society held low-value buy-in, Texas Hold em' tournaments once a week in the Bailey Allen. (Mondays at 7pm). Communication was primarily done through an e-mail list and our Facebook page- NUIG Poker Society. After taking 10-15 minutes to set-up the room with tables and chairs, the tournament would usually commence at around 7.30 ish. Our turn out at the start of the year was great. In the first weeks of S1 we got 30-40 players In S2 the numbers got to ~20 players per week (people who developed their skills for the game). In S2, we had the NUIM poker intervarsities (on Mar 19th). In January, we hosted an AGM, electing new members Nathan as secretary, Sean as Auditor and current member Ryan will act as Treasurer next year. We also had a night out at the beginning of S2, our annual party. Students were well behaved. At no time during games were there ever disagreements or arguments (a good result for any society!).

Events

We held weekly poker tournaments every Tuesday from October to March in the View. (20 sessions) (not posted to the calendar)

Mission Statement

The aims of Poker Soc is to grow the game of poker in NUIG, developing quantitative skills and strategic knowledge among students. We want to provide the most positive tournament experience for our students and to develop a sociable setting where people with similar interests may meet. We look to represent NUIG in poker championships and succeed on a national and international stage. We also want to keep things fun!

Aims, Objectives & Goals

Increase our player base.
Improve player satisfaction.
Provide new fun formats.
Play in the National and International Intervarsity's.
Organise one or more non poker social events in the coming year.

Society Performance Reflection

Overall there were no problems with anything. Players seemed to have a good time each week during the tournaments. There was a good sociable aspect to the weekly games. Tournaments were well run with a good format, finishing up at a reasonable time, usually around 11pm.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Our player base increased a lot since last year. We were up to 40 players at the start of the year, a big improvement. The number dropped a bit in S2, even after a socs day on the 13th of Jan. This was to be expected though. New formats were provided. On random weeks, we would change the format of the tournament from re-buy to bounty tournaments (different types of tournaments in Texas Hold em'). Players seemed to enjoy this. The intervarsities were played on the March bank holiday weekend. It was hosted by NUI Maynooth. Finally, we did organise a night out at the beginning of S2. It was a very sociable evening, not focused very much on poker itself.

Greatest Success

The turnout was higher than last year. This was a good goal to achieve. We recruited many new players at each of the semesters socs day.

Greatest Challenge

Sometimes organising the weekly games was a challenge. If a lot of players showed up, it was difficult to delegate playing chips and seating arrangements (logistics of the game). Members would have to spend more time setting up the playing room as players showed up in large groups at different times during the tournament.

This year PotterSoc set goals towards bringing everyone who loves Harry Potter together to celebrate the wonders of the wizarding world. We did this through the events we held this year. We had events such as a sorting ceremony, talks, tea party as well as watching the movies, as well our convention Potterfest brought in both students and the public.

PotterFest was a two day convention that allowed us to bring the magic of Harry Potter to people outside of the university. Over the weekend classes and quidditch as well as a intervarsity open to all students in Ireland were held. This was the perfect opportunity for us to show what the society could do on a much larger scale. 654 of all ages attended and the success of the weekend was a credit to the society.

It was important for us this year to increase our visibility on campus. We did this with our posters weekly for our events as well as for Potterfest. Our weekly emails informed members of our events, as well as this we worked on increasing the members on our Facebook group and we hit 2000 likes on our Potterfest. We also updated our PotterFest accounts on tumblr and twitter ran an advertising campaign during the elections for PotterFest.

Mission Statement

To provide a space for Harry Potter fans to come together and to appreciate the work of JK Rowling and to run fun and exciting events based around our love for Harry Potter.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

- We would like to run successful events and get more people attending our weekly events
- We would like to improve Potter Soc's visibility on campus
- We would like to run a successful PotterFest and a successful publicity campaign for PotterFest.

Society Performance Reflection

We did great as we met our goals and our convention was even more successful than previous years.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We achieved all of our aims.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success was Potterfest as it did extremely well.

Greatest Challenge

Getting everyone involved and communicating effectively in the society, which was achieved as the months went on.

Presidents Award (Gaisce) Soc

This year the gaisce society in NUIG organised a few information nights on what gaisce is and how to get involved. We had a signup day in smokeys and tried to get members to sign up, we also had a table on socs day in January. We had some success in organising a new facebook page as opposed to the group that was in place before, this made it easier for people who were not members to view what was happening and ask questions. Although we had some success overall we felt that there were not enough support for the society in the college and we will not be proceeding with the society next semester although we will still be running the facebook page.

Mission Statement

The Gaisce society aims to promote the President's Award and provide support to all students to complete their four challenge areas. Gaisce offers young people the opportunity to:

- Improve personal skills
- Participate in physical recreation
- Play an active role in the community
- Plan and undertake an adventure journey

We hope to encourage, unite and help NUIG students participating in Gaisce, so that they can complete their awards and meet the NUIG alumnus, Michael D. Higgins!

Aims, Objectives & Goals

This year the Gaisce society aims to:

- Recruit new members and establish a committee

- Have a number of information sessions and raise awareness of Gaisce on campus
- Hold a film screening of 'The Way' for any students interested in walking the Camino as their adventure journey
- Organise a trip during the year

Society Performance Reflection

We organised a few information nights and promoted gaisce in the college, but overall we didn't feel like there was enough interest.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We recruited a few members and had a committee we also were able to raise awareness for Gaisce. however we did not hold the film screening of 'the way' and were unable to organise a trip as only one member showed any interest in going on one.

Now in our second year, the Psychiatry Society of NUI, Galway continues to move from strength to strength as we build on the foundations built last year in destigmatising and raising awareness of good mental health among our students, in our campus and in the local area. This year was a little more disorganised than the last due to four of our members being abroad on Erasmus for the second semester, however despite this we still managed to organise two of our most successful events after Christmas, due to a fantastic display of teamwork from the whole committee.

From Yale to the Claddagh: Seminar » Darcy Thompson Theatre, Arts & Science Concourse » 08th March 2016

Psychiatry Society is delighted to present an evening with Professor Harvey Wasserman, a former Professor of Psychiatry at the Yale University College of Medicine and a director of education and training at one of Yale's teaching hospitals. With over 50 years of experience in the private practice of psychiatry, he will be joining us to speak on his life at Yale and as a clinical psychotherapist, intriguing cases he has encountered and where he believes psychiatry will go in the future. Questions will be welcomed at the end of the evening.

MedFest 2016- Framing Trauma: Seminar » Large Lecture Theatre, Clinical Sciences Institute » 22nd March 2016

Psychiatry Soc are proud to host MedFest for its third year running at NUIG. MedFest is a medically themed film festival organised by a group of UK psychiatry trainees and runs in medical schools across the UK and Ireland. This year's theme is 'Framing Trauma: Conflict and Medicine'. A selection of short film clips and animations will be shown and then discussed by a group of 4 of our most distinguished and witty panelists.

Psychiatry Society AGM: Conference » Meeting Rooms 1 & 2, Áras na Mac Léinn » 05th April 2016

Looking to be a part of the Psychiatry Society? Interested in hearing a re-cap of this year's events? Simply partial to a cup of tea and a biscuit? If so, come along to the Psychiatry Society AGM on Tuesday the 5th of April at 5pm, Meeting Rooms 1 & 2, Áras na Mac Léinn. It's been a successful second year for the Psychiatry Society, with events ranging from fundraising quizzes to guest speakers, movie nights and interactive film festivals. Feel like you want to get involved? Come to the AGM and put yourself forward for a place on the committee. Please note only current members can vote and run in Society elections. If you're not currently a member, you can join online through the link in the description. We hope to see you there!

Mission Statement

The Psychiatry Society of NUI Galway promotes the study and awareness of psychiatry as a medical discipline through education and direct student engagement. The society is open to all students of NUI Galway with an interest in mental health and illness and is not limited to students of medicine or any other health science. In hosting an instructive and diverse array of events throughout the college year, the society hopes to foster an understanding of psychiatry as an evolving and enthralling medical specialty while promoting positive mental health among the general student population.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

The NUIG Psychiatry Society aims to:

1. Reduce stigma surrounding mental illness
2. Promote mental health and wellbeing
3. Change misconceptions surrounding the medical specialty of psychiatry
4. Promote careers and recruitment in mental health services

Society Performance Reflection

Our society continues to grow from strength to strength, clearly showing that there is a keen interest among the students of NUIG to learn more about mental health and psychiatry. Our events have also been very well-attended and have sparked interesting debate among committee members, panellists and attendees alike.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

As a society, I believe that all our aims and objectives were met in some small way this year.

All of the events we held, along with our Facebook campaign for World Mental Health Week and our frequent online updates and posts about relevant topics in the world of mental health, allowed us to positively promote mental health and well-being and reduce stigma surrounding mental illness.

Our table quiz raised over €400 for Jigsaw Galway, a brilliant service for young people in Galway struggling with mental health issues.

Our talk "From Yale to the Claddagh" with Professor Harvey Wasserman, a former Professor of Psychiatry at the Yale University College of Medicine with over fifty years of experience in the private practice of psychiatry, gave us a platform to discuss mental health from a professional perspective in order to dispel rumours and encourage interest in pursuing careers in the field of psychiatry.

Medfest, one of our most attended events last year, returned again to the Clinical Sciences Institute, this year's theme being Framing Trauma: Conflict and Medicine. These short films and the discussions that followed allowed us to give a global perspective on the issue of mental health, and allow a space to destigmatise and debate on how approaches to mental health can be improved worldwide.

Greatest Success

Our greatest achievement as a committee was working through the absence of four of our committee members with a stunning display of teamwork that allowed our final two events of 2015/2016 to be our most successful of the year.

Greatest Challenge

Our greatest challenge this year was the absence of four of our members, including our Vice-Auditor, our Secretary, our PRO and one of our OCMs due to their participation in the ERASMUS programme for the majority of semester 2. This put a lot of pressure on the remaining members of the committee in the day-to-day running of the society as well as most of the organising and presentation of events. As a committee this required good communication and delegation skills, and enabled us to really test ourselves on teamwork. Despite the distance, everyone did their best to stay involved, for example Sabrina drawing up posters and Louise delegating tasks from France.

In future it would be wise to discuss these matters at the beginning of the year and make a plan for when committee members must take a leave of absence, however everyone did a remarkable job in managing without the extra hands and definitely went the extra mile to ensure that this year was as successful as the last.

Psychological Society

The NUIG Psychological Society, also known as Psych Soc, is a society for students of psychology and anyone with an interest in what makes people behave the way they do.

Psych Soc is about introducing people to things they wouldn't ordinarily come across in course readings and lectures. The society frequently holds talks in the university on a variety of topics. Previous talks include new and growing areas in the field, such as: cognitive psychology, forensic psychology; sports psychology and positive psychology. This gives people the opportunity to explore postgraduate and career directions by discovering where their interests lie.

Besides the academic side of things, we also promote mental health on campus, organize get-togethers and trips abroad. The society gives people the chance to get to know their classmates a little better, but also allows people to meet students from other psychological societies, at events such as the Annual Congress of Psychology Students of Ireland. Psych Soc recently secured a bid to bring the PSI Student Congress to Galway for 2017, which was a huge achievement and means an exciting year ahead for the society.

Psych Soc has also visited other psychological societies in Amsterdam and Cardiff, building immensely rewarding international links. With international networking in mind, several members of the society are involved in EFPSA, the European Federation of Psychology Students Association. EFPSA holds several events annually, with the goal of supporting cooperation and networking between students, academics and professionals. By organizing these events, EFPSA promotes European integration and greater standards of research in psychology, as well as providing a strong platform to represent European psychology students. EFPSA also publishes an academic journal, the Journal of European Psychology Students, which gives students the opportunity to publish research findings.

Volunteering and social awareness are important to our society, which works in conjunction with NUIG's ALIVE program. Previous events which support mental health interest groups and charities include: A Mental Health Info fair, where various organisations came to Á • ras na Mac Léinn and displayed stands with the work they do and options for volunteering, A table quiz in aid of Spunout.ie, a website which offers information about mental health and social issues for young people; and an awareness-raising event in Á • ras na Mac Léinn for World Mental Health Day. Psych Soc members are encouraged to volunteer their time while at university, particular in mental health and disability projects.

Psych soc is an open and inclusive society. Anyone with an interest in how the mind works is very welcome to get involved or take part. Find out more at: <http://www.facebook.com/NUIGPsychSoc>

Psych Soc's Five-A-Side for Mental Health Awareness Week: Charity » Kingfisher Gym » 07th October 2015

Psych Soc is proud to host its first Five-A-Side soccer tournament to help raise awareness and funds for Pieta House! The indoor tournament will take place over two days (Wednesday 7th & Thursday 8th) from 14:00-16:00 each day. It is 5-A-Side but we recommend you have 6 to a team in case not every player can play due to lectures or other commitments. There will be 16 teams in the tournament, with the entry fee €20 per team. There will be 4 groups of 4 teams who will all play each other once in the group stage, with 2 teams from each group going through to the quarter finals. The group matches will be completed the Wednesday with each team playing 3 games for 6 mins. The knockout phase will take place on Thursday with the quarter finals up first, the knockout phases will be 12 minute games, with some great prizes to be announced for the winning team! As there is a limited team number, sign ups for the tournament can be completed by coming to the Foyer of the Psychology Building (Arts Millennium Building Extension) between 11 am and 2pm on the 6th of October (a tea and talks event will also be hosted at that time so tea and biscuits will be available while you scout out the competition!). It should be a great two days and we hope to see as many of you there not only playing but supporting the teams! The more you move the better your mood, see you then!

Psych Soc's Five-A-Side for Mental Health Awareness Week: Charity » Kingfisher Gym » 08th October 2015

Psych Soc is proud to host its first Five-A-Side soccer tournament to help raise awareness and funds for Pieta House! The indoor tournament will take place over two days (Wednesday 7th & Thursday 8th) from 14:00-16:00 each day. It is 5-A-Side but we recommend you have 6 to a team in case not every player can play due to lectures or other commitments. There will be 16 teams in the tournament, with the entry fee €20 per team. There will be 4 groups of 4 teams who will all play each other once in the group stage, with 2 teams from each group going through to the quarter finals. The group matches will be completed the Wednesday with each team playing 3 games for 6 mins. The knockout phase will take place on Thursday with the quarter finals up first, the knockout phases will be 12 minute games, with some great prizes to be announced for the winning team! As there is a limited team number, sign ups for the tournament can be completed by coming to the Foyer of the Psychology Building (Arts Millennium Building Extension) between 11 am and 2pm on the 6th of October (a tea and talks event will also be hosted at that time so tea and biscuits will be available while you scout out the competition!). It should be a great two days and we hope to see as many of you there not only playing but supporting the teams! The more you move the better your mood, see you then!

PsychSoc & FemSoc Ultimate Team Up - Quiz!: Charity » College Bar, Back room » 03rd November 2015

FemSoc and PsychSoc are teaming up to bring you a Really Awesome Table Quiz on Tuesday 3rd November at 8pm at the College Bar. This is in aid of commit and act, which provides psychosocial support to areas of low income countries and areas afflicted by conflict. You can find out more about the charity here: <http://commitandact.com/> It's about twenty euro per table, with maximum four people to one. We'll have prizes for first, second, and third place, and there'll be a RAFFLE because who doesn't love raffles. (Answer: silly people don't love raffles. You don't want to hang out with silly people, do you? Oh wait, hang on) So come on down in support of a very good cause, come with your silliest/feminist-themed/psychology-themed names, get a bit too overly competitive (or maybe that's just me who does that), and have a very good time. We're looking forward to seeing you there!

The Crises of Mental Health in Ireland: It's Time for Radical Change - Niall 'Bressie' Breslin & Dr Paul D'Alton: Health & Lifestyle » O'Flaherty Theatre, Arts Concourse, NUI Galway » 24th March 2016

NUI Galway Psychological Society and Psi Chi - National University of Ireland, Galway welcome Niall Bressie Breslin and Dr Paul D'Alton for a discussion on 'The Crises of Mental Health in Ireland: It's Time for Radical Change.' Both Bressie and Dr D'Alton have spoken frequently on the topic of mental health, and have played an important role in challenging and changing attitudes towards mental health issues in Ireland; Dr D'Alton through his work as a Clinical Psychologist, equality campaigner and advocate of mental health reform, and Bressie through his openness and honesty about his own battle with anxiety and depression and through his website www.alustforlife.com. In an impassioned address to the Joint Committee on Health and Children about mental health and wellbeing at a meeting of the Oireachtas, Bressie and Dr D'Alton described mental ill-health as the great epidemic of this generation, and emphasised the necessity of a whole society response to the alarming increase in self-harm and consistently high rates of suicide in Ireland. Together they challenged our government and the people of Ireland to ask themselves, "are we doing enough?" Availability is limited! To secure your place, please register via the Eventbrite page.

5th Annual Psi Chi Research Presentation Night: Seminar » AMBE, Room G065 » 05th April 2016

Undergraduate psychology students are invited to present their research at the 5th Annual Psi Chi Presentation Night, April 5th at 6:00pm in AMBE G065. Presentations may take the form of either a poster or an 8-minute oral presentation, as chosen by the student. This is a fantastic opportunity for first-time speakers to present their research in a laid-back and friendly environment. Academic staff and postgraduate students will be on hand to provide practical presentation advice based on their own experiences. This will allow students the chance to practice and get feedback on their presentations ahead of the PSI Student Congress in Ulster University Coleraine, April 8th & 9th. Plus, presenting at a Psi Chi event will be an excellent addition to your academic CV! This event isn't about judgement – it's about practice, academic development and research dissemination! We will also be serving food and drink throughout the evening. To register (or for more information) please email psichinuig@gmail.com with the title of your presentation, the name of your research supervisor, and your preferred mode of presenting (i.e. poster or oral presentation).

Mission Statement

To expand knowledge of Psychological studies in a fun and interesting way!

Aims, Objectives & Goals

We aim to engage and inform others of the fascinating subject that is Psychology. From engaging talks to interactive workshops we hope to provide a fun way in which to learn.

Society Performance Reflection

Our society did exceptional work this year in trying to promote mental health across the campus. We collaborated with various societies and organisations to host a wide range of events, from quiz nights to football tournaments and many other events. We worked with PsiChi to host a variety of talks from Psychology experts all over Europe which were always very successful. Our most successful event was Mental Health week which involved huge works and collaboration and was a great success in promoting mental health on campus.

We also secured a bid for the 2017 PSI Student Congress which was a great achievement for the society, as it hasn't come to Galway in many years.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We achieved all of our aims, objectives and goals as we made a real effort to keep the campus informed about a variety of mental health issues and the opportunities available to them in a career in psychology. We also boosted the society from being virtually inactive to being a thriving well-known society.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success was definitely Mental Health Week, which went on to win awards like Best Themed Week and be nominated for the BICS Mental Health Award (pending). Many members of the society worked tirelessly to organise many events over the course of the week, all of which were aimed at reducing stigma and encouraging more open discussion of topics like gender based violence, domestic violence, Autism and much more. We also held a mental health info fair which helped inform students of what services were available to them and what they could volunteer with. There was also a careers in psychology talk given during this week to help students get more insight into what they could do with a degree in psychology. Overall Mental Health Week was a huge success as it made our society more widely known around campus and helped in removing any stigma on campus surrounding mental health.

As well as this, bringing the PSI Student Congress to Galway for 2017 was a huge success and means that 2017 will be a very busy but exciting year for Psych Soc.

Greatest Challenge

Probably the biggest challenge for many of our members was time management. It was often difficult to find times for meetings that suited all members or many members couldn't commit to helping with some events due to other commitments, as many of our members are final year students with research projects ongoing. However we were able to overcome this obstacle as many of our member were incredibly enthusiastic and willing to give their all to the society.

We held 6 committee meetings during the year and we have held our AGM. Our total membership stands at 455 members. 15 committee members have completed the end of year survey.

RadioSoc

The Radio Society is the social venue for our college Radio Station Flirt FM. Flirt FM was born from the Radio Society and today the society aims to provide workshops, social events and field trips all radio orientated to ensure all members receive radio experience and can see how fun radio is to be a part of. The society also offers the chance for some fun evenings to ensure all members don't succumb to the stress of a very busy semester by organizing movie nights! The society also takes pride in being a key organizer of the NSRC (National Student Radio Conference) which will take place next academic year. The society is a great way to meet new people, step out of your comfort zone and help you have a great college experience as well as learning a new set of skills.

Mission Statement

To promote and encourage listening of radio for the university.

To support Flirt FM.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

- To foster relationships with other student radio groups
- To increase the visibility and exposure of RadioSoc on campus
- To run at least 4 successful events each semester
- To host a radio show
- To engage more with the student body
- To support another National Student Radio Conference event for NUI Galway

Society Performance Reflection

We are very proud to say that we achieved our goals as a society! During the year we met with various other student radio stations such as DCU FM and Belfield FM among others. We most definitely enhanced our visibility on campus by actively campaigning in aid of Mental Health, as part of our #littlthings event where we asked students directly using FLIRT FM vox pops their opinions on the topic. In addition, we successfully ran more than 4 events per semester, thanks to our creative and determined team. These included: Socs Day 2, our many meetings throughout the year; where pizza was sure to be had, our movie night and many more. There are also plans on the way for another National Student Radio Conference event for NUI thanks to our wonderful team both in the committee and Flirt FM.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

I achieved many personal goals as part of my role as secretary. These included: confidence building when I was relied on to book venues for our events and meetings as well as organisational skills, computer editing skills and financial skills when I needed to sign and deliver checks as well as helping set up our societal bank account. I also debated taking up Journalism after I completed my undergraduate course, when working in the studio!

Greatest Success

Our greatest accomplishment during the year was meeting and working with such a determined team who were set on making Radio Soc a success! We encountered some difficulties throughout the year, but we always put on a great show!

Greatest Challenge

Our greatest challenge during the year was trying to get new members to join our wonderful society; which proved difficult when a lot of people didn't know about us. We tackled this problem by sticking together and putting on events so as to welcome all!

Rock Soc

Rock Society this year functioned in a manner similar to previous years albeit suggestively less intensely with regards to event saturation. We continued our usual policies of having regular screenings, jam sessions and band nights but we also continued with Witless, in it's fifth year of it's format and hosted our first Rock Musical.

Mission Statement

ROCK SOC provides a positive environment for musicians and fans of alternative music and culture. ROCK SOC is dedicated to promoting original student bands and performers, and cover bands too. We want you bands so we can showcase you on NUI Galway's campus and throughout the city. We provide equipment and facilities for these bands to practice and develop their skills and sound. We host gigs in conjunction with established event organizers and performers in venues around Galway city and on campus at NUI Galway, giving our members access to a wide variety of events and styles that are constantly happening. We give our bands and performers a platform for exposure to develop their fan base. We also host special "one-off" events of a varied theme and nature, pertaining to the wishes and desires of our members.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

We hope to bring together musicians throughout the college and give them a friendly environment to jam together and make new friends. Promoting bands, tickets to gigs, trips to festivals, we want to give this to each and every one of our members.

Society Performance Reflection

We achieved our primary goals aptly and expanded the variety of events we wished to undertake. I viewed it as generally successful.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We mainly sought to recreate the standard practices of previous years and we did to that effect. We also meant to undertake a new project that encompassed all committee members i.e. the musical which was completed successfully.

Greatest Success

I personally regard Starboy the Musical as our greatest success this year.

Greatest Challenge

The greatest challenge I believe we faced was finding the personal to implement the aforementioned success.

Individual Committee Members - Hopes & Aspirations (September 2015)

Other Information

We held 10 committee meetings during the year and we have held our AGM. Our total membership stands at 464 members. 2 committee members have completed the end of year survey.

Rover Soc

The Rover Society is the Scout Society in NUIG with the aim of organising outdoor adventure events that are run through the Scouting method. Our members learn about the outdoors and gain new and fulfilling experiences while having fun in a safe and encouraging manner.

Rover Society Events list (22 Individual Events)

Rover Soc Meeting & Social Night: Social » AC201 » 14th September 2015

On Monday 14th September - we're going to have our first "Rover Crew" meeting of the year with free pizza. This will take place in AC201 (On the concourse beside the Bialann stairs) at 7.30pm. The aim of this meeting will be to explain how the Rover Society will work this year and also to plan the year together as a Rover Crew so if you would like to have your say in or would like to be involved in what we do this year as a society - you should come along so we can hear your great ideas! We'll be also be talking about our upcoming camping trip (see the next point!) so if you think you might like to come on that, you should also be there! To mention again: There will be guaranteed free pizza for all at the meeting. Also, we'll be heading to town somewhere afterwards - about 9pm most likely to the Cellar Bar for a bit of a social night!

Camping Trip: Social » Galway, Oranmore, Renville Park » 18th September 2015

We're going to have our first camping trip of the year. We'll be heading out to Renville (just outside Galway City) for the weekend leaving on Friday Night and coming back on Sunday. We'll be deciding the definite details at the meeting on Monday but it will definitely be a weekend of great craic and be very affordable (€10 - €15 probably) for everything including food and transport. You will need to sign online but we'll have more details in an email later in the week - if you don't get it for some reason, please do email us at rovers@socs.nuigalway.ie!-----Updated Details: And now finally, we're going camping this weekend! (That's the 18th - 20th September) We've taken all the ideas to get a fantastic programme together for the weekend so there'll be some great craic in store for all! So, it'll only cost €15 for the weekend, including all your food, which will include supper on Friday evening, breakfast, lunch and dinner on Saturday as well as breakfast on Sunday. We'll be meeting at the Galway Bus Station at 6pm on Friday and will be back Sunday morning about lunchtime. Over the weekend, we'll be doing various activities, including catapult battles, backwoods/bushcraft fire lighting and cooking as well as other games and campfires! It's definitely not to be missed. If you want to sign up, you will be able to do so online at the Socs Box Website, the link is here and you will find it under 'Trips' Link here: http://www.socsbox.nuigalway.ie/index.php?route=product/product&path=60&product_id=54

Rover Soc EGM: Seminar » AC201 » 23rd September 2015

The Rover Society EGM will take place on Wednesday 23rd September at 8pm. We'll be re-electing the entire committee so all positions are up for grabs. If you want to get more involved in the society and help with the running of it, this is the perfect opportunity! Here are the positions available: Auditor, Vice Auditor, Secretary, Treasurer, Quartermaster, PRO, First Year Representative and Ordinary Committee Members (OCMs) There will of course be free pizza and we'll be heading somewhere afterwards too - See you then!

Talk on the Explorer Belt!: Seminar » AC215 » 27th January 2016

Well, to get started on Semester 2, Rover Soc are having a talk on the Explorer Belt Challenge! The Belt is a 10 day expedition that takes place in July each year in Europe. Rover take part in teams of two, and over the course of the 10 days they must cover 200km's by foot while completing a number of projects along the way. They also have to survive on a tiny budget which requires them to rely on the generosity of people they meet en route. Come listen to two of our members - Fionn and Cathal - talk about their experience in Germany last summer and learn how you too could take part in it! After the talk, the plan is to head to one of the member's houses for a party and plenty of craic! ALSO FREE PIZZA, WOW!

Rover Society Campfire: Social » Fisheries Field » 03rd February 2016

Time for another Rover Society Campfire! If the weather stays mild and relatively dry we'll be heading outside for a good old campfire in the Fisheries Field. There will be songs, skits, chants and some marshmallows for everyone so be sure to pop by and join in! We'll be heading somewhere afterwards too for the night so be sure to keep the night free!

Andy Kirkpatrick Talk: Seminar » Galway, Galway City, Town Hall Theatre » 11th February 2016

Andy Kirkpatrick is bringing his show Cold Mountain to Galway! Join Andy as he takes you on an adventure that is at the very boundary of the possible; physically, mentally and emotionally - a climb that laid bare the realities of modern adrenaline sports, as well as friendship. Don't miss the chance to enjoy a riveting nights entertainment and to support your favourite mountain rescue team.

Backwoods Course: Training » Galway, Galway, Backwoods » 12th February 2016

Want to improve or even start to learn some bushcraft skills? Then come join us for our 24 hour craft camp where you can learn these skills from a professional trainer. Check out the website for it at <http://www.westernbushcraftskills.com/>. Tickets are €25 and include the bus and food for the two days. You can sign up here on the socs box website:

http://www.socsbox.nuigalway.ie/index.php?route=product%2Fproduct&path=60&product_id=84 Can people please book their tickets as soon as possible - Monday preferably as we need to know numbers. We look forward to seeing anyone who decides to attend. :)

Ray Mears Screening!: Social » Dillon Theatre » 24th February 2016

Who's the coolest guy around? Some might say woodsman Ray Mears. This Wednesday, we'll be screening some of the best of Ray Mears while sitting indoors eating pizza. It doesn't get much more adventurous than this. There will be free pizza at the talk and we intend on going out afterwards. We hope to see you all there. :)

Inter-varsities prep evening!: Training » Galway, 15-17 Augustine Street, Galway City, 1st Galway Scout Den » 02nd March 2016

We're having an Inter-varsities preparation day this Wednesday to get ready for Cork! The main focus will be on pioneering and general knots etc and everyone is welcome! The evening will start at 7:30pm in the 1st Galway Scout Den in town (Just beside de burgos bar). There will be pizza and tea and biscuits for all so head on down!

Backwoods Overnight: Training » Galway, Galway, Uncleens Woods » 05th March 2016

Never fear, micro-adventures are here! On Saturday night, we're going to head out to Uncleens woods, just outside the city for a quick backwoods overnight. We'll cook over dinner on an open fire backwoods/bushcraft style and then sleep out in Hammocks under tarps. We'll hopefully also cover some skills such as firelighting ahead of the upcoming intervarsities. The only cost will be food and you'll be able to sign up on the Socs Box online store website. Any questions, feel free to send us an email: roversoc@socs.nuigalway.ie

Rover Intervarsities: Other » Cork, Cork, Fota Scout Centre » 11th March 2016

Join us in defending NUIG Rover Soc against the rover societies from other universities in the Rover Intervarsities. It will be a weekend filled with challenges, games and craic. We will be competing in teams of four, so if you want to be in the same team as someone, please mention so. Also mention if you have any specific dietary requirements. The event will be held at Fota Scout Centre in Cork and the price of the event includes travel costs and food. We will be arriving back on Sunday late afternoon.

Rover Soc AGM & BBQ: Seminar » AC216 » 04th April 2016

We'll be hosting our Annual General Meeting for a review on the year we've had and to elect next year's committee on the Monday college resumes after Easter. After this, we'll be heading to one of our member's house for a mighty barbecue with plenty to eat for everyone! If you've been to any of our events during the year, do come along for a great evening.

Help the Homeless: Charity » Various Locations - See Description » 02nd May 2016

Leaving Galway for the Summer? Don't want anything you leave behind to go to waste? Like to help out those in need in Galway? As the Rover Society in NUIG, we're holding a collection of unwanted items that may be of use to Galway's Homeless that might otherwise end up in the bin. We're looking to collect any of the following items that you will no longer need or want after the college year: unopened & Non-Perishable Foods, Clothing, Rain gear, Footwear, Blankets, Duvets, Board Games, Art Material (paints, marker etc.), Guitars, Books, DVDs, Battery Operated Radios. Anything you have from the above list is welcome and will be donated directly to COPE to help them in work they do for the homeless in Galway. Various collection points are available on and off campus - the full details are available here on the Facebook event page, which will be updated with information over the coming weeks: Any questions, you can send us an email - roversoc@socs.nuigalway.ie but please take a look at the Facebook event for all details!

Mission Statement

The aim of the Rover society is to promote the outdoors and adventure with the scouting ethos in NUI Galway.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

For the coming year, we have the following aims:

- To increase our membership
- To hold more regular events
- To recruit more long term members for the long term in the society
- To aim to hold our first international trip

Society Performance Reflection

The Rover Society had some good improvement this year in the events we held and in the new members we have gained. We held more events focused on doing things rather than just learning about them and this really helped in keeping members interested in the society. We held multiple adventurous outings for our members. These were well attended and many of the attendees were new first year students whom we hope will remain with the society for years to come.

We have also increased our community outreach. In September, some of our society members went to the aftermath of Electric Picnic in Stradbally and collected over 1100 sleeping bags for the homeless of Galway. This collection was well received in the University and we were also awarded a Community Celebration Award from Scouting Ireland at their National Youth Achievement Awards Ceremony held in Trinity College Dublin in February.

We also did a collection of unused goods from visiting students heading home just before Christmas for donation to Cope. We plan to do the same collection for all of the students heading home after the summer exams and we expect to gather much more items for donation.

Interacting with others outside of NUIG, we hosted the National Scout Forum here in NUIG. This saw over 80 Rovers come to NUIG for a weekend of discussion and activities organised by a section of our committee. The total attendance was over 250 over the weekend between the Scouts (12 - 15 year olds scouts) and Ventures (16 - 18 year old scouts) who also hosted their Forums in NUIG. We worked closely with all the sections to deliver this event and it was very well reviewed Nationally with Scouting Ireland, us receiving many compliments.

We also attended Rover Intervarsities in Fota, Co. Cork and this year we sent 4 teams, more than any other university and we came away from the weekend with first place in the competition.

We were very happy with how the society did this year and we are looking forward to some summer events including Tent Pitching again at Sea Session music festival (with a collection again afterwards for Cope) and a trip again to Electric Picnic to try and bring back even more sleeping bags for the homeless in Galway.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

One of our main aims this year was to actively create events and plan activities our members actually wanted to do, rather than organising activities that only a select few were interested in. In this regard we achieved our aims as we planned and organised numerous events as suggested by our community, all of which turned out to be huge successes for the society.

Secondly we aimed to increase our involvement with the local community and we achieved this goal too. We worked with COPE Galway (Homeless charity) this year by collecting blankets/ clothes and other supplies from foreign students returning home for Christmas. Upon gathering all the donations we delivered them to COPE, in turn completing one of our main aims for this year.

We managed to increase our number of returning regular members and held more regular events which helped to build this group of members. We hope that many of these members will remain in the society for years to come. We did not host an international trip as was originally planned at the start of the year for the society, but we felt that we did hold an adequate number of events that we didn't need to do it and we focused instead on running good quality events at lower prices. This seemed to be effective although we have not totally forgotten about doing an International trip and it is something we may still hold in the future.

Overall, we were most pleased with how the running of the society turned out this year. We met the main aims we had and we are looking forward to future.

Greatest Success

Overall I would regard Rover Focus as our biggest success this year. Rover Focus is a national event for Rover Scouts aged 18-21 and this year we brought Rover Focus to Galway. Over 80 scouts descended on Galway for a weekend of activities and while our committee only just survived we succeeded in pulling off this huge event with maximum efficiency and great enthusiasm.

Rover Societies are now officially recognised by Scouting Ireland and with our effective planning, the event was a huge success for the society and was very good in demonstrating to Scouting Ireland how much we can contribute to Scouting here in Ireland.

Greatest Challenge

I believe our greatest challenge this academic year was to bring new members into the society and more importantly to keep them with us. The hardest part of managing any society of club is to have an active community base within the club/ society and to keep a fun and alive environment which makes members want to come back for more.

Mission Statement

Shoutout works with secondary schools to make being LGBT in Ireland a little less difficult for kids. We raise awareness of issues relating to the LGBT community and allow for discussion to happen within secondary schools. We work towards an Ireland where we are not needed as young people are fully accepting and aware of the LGBT community in their school.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

To give young people a basic knowledge of LGBT issues

To help young people understand some of the effects of homophobia and transphobia

To build young people's awareness of how to support their LGBT friends

Ógra got off to a slow start this year but as our communication skills improved we succeeded in promoting the party on campus and raising the level of political awareness among students. We participated in campaigns and referenda related to issues relevant to students and also canvassed in the general election campaign for Trevor O'Clochartaigh. Sinn Féin's presence grew in NUI Galway, continuing to promote republicanism among students, providing a platform for students to become involved in left republican political activism

Mission Statement

To promote Sinn Féin and the values of republicanism in NUIG

Aims, Objectives & Goals

To work within Sinn Féin for the creation of a 32 county socialist republic and to participate fully with other societies on campus, and with Sinn Féin nationally

Society Performance Reflection

I feel like we could have done a lot more but for the behaviour of certain membership not to fulfill their duties. Nonetheless, I feel as though we had a successful year.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

The successful resolution of the direct provision campaign, as well as our contribution to Trevor O Clochortaigh's general election campaign are two things I'm very proud of which simply wouldn't have happened without the work of the Sinn Féin Society.

Greatest Success

I believe our greatest success this year to be the result of the Direct Provision referendum. I was uncertain at first about the wisdom of running such a campaign but I became increasingly convinced at the righteousness of such a campaign as it progressed and I like to think the student body did too.

Greatest Challenge

I found the stress and strain of campaigning in the general election to be a tremendous challenge. The constant fighting and bickering of the various political bodies as they jostled for position was one factor but also the very demanding nature of the campaign and having to balance the demands of school with that of canvassing etc.

Skate Soc

The skate society was set up in September 2015. The society promotes different types of skating including longboarding and skateboarding. It brings together those who already have an intermediate/ advanced level of skating as well as those who have never tried it before and want to learn. We organize regular meet ups on campus and invite students to learn how to skate or improve their skate tricks. We have a facebook page to spread the word to people about different events. We organize cruises along the canal and Salthill promenade for long boarders.

Mission Statement

We aim to bring skateboarding as an everyday hobby to as many students as we possible can. It is important for us that skateboarding is brought into mainstay culture with students using boards to get to and from college and other places they need to do on a daily basis (this doesn't include nightclubs of course). However theses things are meaningless to Skate Soc if the environment in which we bring skateboarding to is unsafe and unfriendly.

In short we want people skating safely and happily with friend and foe alike as much as possible

Aims, Objectives & Goals

Our main goal since the moment we started talking about Skate Soc was to bring the hobby to people who have never done it before. We all know those people who say that they will never be able to do something and it's these people we want to get to. We know everyone can skate and we want to bring the hobby to as many people as we possibly can. It is important that we do this in safe and friendly environment where people feel welcome and included regardless of... anything!

To do this we've set ourselves some society goals.

These are:

1) Hold training session - 4 per semester.

- this we hope will give people a good basis for safe skating which will allow them to bring it into everyday life.

2) Organise non-skateboarding meet-ups to allow less confident members to meet other society members.

- create the friendly atmosphere we want as well as a sense of belonging to the society for everyone involved.

3) Improve Millennium Skate Park by working with local activists who are currently lobbying Galway City Council.

- this we feel is our end of year objective and it will make everything worthwhile for us.

Society Performance Reflection

The society did fantastically, considering it was only set up a few months ago. We secured 235 members. We hosted a range of events; from skate workshops to movie nights. We did a collaboration night with the Video Game Society and played skateboarding video games. It was a great night because the skate society members got to mix with those from video game society. We also did a collaboration with Rock society in the college bar. Different bands performed songs and the bar provided free food for the members that came along. Prizes were distributed to best dressed "skater boy" and "skater girl". When the weather permitted, we organized outdoor skate workshops where we taught students how to skate. We had a casual get together, ordered pizza and got to know each other better. The committee members portrayed good communication skills; we met frequently to have meetings and plan future events. A lot of work was put into the society by everyone. The committee members took on different roles and were always sure to help one another out when someone needed a hand.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Yes we did. We organized weekly skateboarding workshops in the area beside Arts Millennium. The committee and members brought along extra skateboards so that those who did not own one had a chance to learn. We supplied food and beverages to hungry skaters as many people stayed and practiced on the board for several hours. We got a great sense of fulfilment as many people who approached us had never stepped on a skateboard before, and they left the session being able to confidently cruise along on it. We succeeded in promoting skating as a hobby as well as a form of transport.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success was achieving to sign-up so many members on societies day and getting recognised as a society. This is because the skate community in Galway and Ireland is considerably small in comparison to other countries. We feared that the society may not draw enough interest. Instead, both male and female students registered to be members and people of all levels; beginner, intermediate and advanced. The society brought together skaters who usually skated alone. They were able to meet other students with a similar interest. A facebook page was set up for the society and it made it easy for skaters to get a group of people together to go for a skate.

Greatest Challenge

The greatest challenge was organizing our end of year skate trip to Limerick skatepark. A lot of work had to be put in by the committee to plan a suitable day and time. The committee aimed to make the trip as affordable as possible for students. This was difficult because a fee to rent the bus was required as well as park entry fee. Unfortunately the trip had to be cancelled because many members who wanted to go had work commitments. Therefore, the cost of the trip would have been too expensive per person.

Sláinte Society is the health promotion society of NUI Galway. We work towards reducing the fear and ideas children have of healthcare by running a Teddy Bear Hospital for almost 1300 primary school children. This year, we also ran many other events, raising awareness and funds for such issues as; cancer (through our Movember campaign), blood donation and positive mental health. Most recently, the committee organised a fundraiser night for the Paediatric Ward in University Hospital Galway.

Overall, we had a very successful session, led by Aoife Murray and Hannah Kielty. Our committee worked very well together to provide a very well run and well received Teddy Bear Hospital, as well as numerous other promotion and fundraising events.

Mission Statement

The society was established in 2005 to promote health in the National University of Ireland Galway amongst staff, students and the wider community. We do this by inviting guest speakers, raising funds for health related charities and organising large scale events such as blood drives, the Teddy Bear Hospital and events supporting Movember. Sláinte has a great impact on the NUIG student body. With Movember we encourage men to be open in discussing their health. Through Teddy Bear Hospital, we give young children from various schools around Galway early exposure to a health environment. Blood drives allow the staff and students a chance to give back to the community by donating blood. In the future we hope to expand our event calendar to include more mental and physical health awareness.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

We aim to instil an awareness of health in the student body

We hope to raise funds for Irish charities such as Movember, and the University Hospital Galway

We wish to increase our number of members and reach a wider audience

We hope to introduce new events to our exciting calendar such as Organ Donation Week, and putting a great influence on positive mental health

Society Performance Reflection

The society had a very successful year, with a cohesive and cooperative committee working to organise several events. Our auditors, Aoife and Hannah led the committee very well and ensured that each committee member had the opportunity to contribute their individual talents to the running of the society. We have cooperated with hundreds of students on campus through our various events and their enthusiastic commitment as volunteers at Teddy Bear Hospital.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We believe that we have achieved our aims and objectives this year.

- Instil an awareness of health in the student body: we successfully raised awareness of Movember, male cancer awareness month and the importance of blood donation and looking after your mental health. Students contributed and benefited to and from these events.
- Raising funds; we achieved this aim by raising money for Movember through Tag Rugby tournaments, Movember moustache sponsorship and a bake sale. We also will be donating a sum of money to the Children's Ward in Galway following a raffle and night out in Electric Club in Galway city.
- Our numbers and the reach through the community and university was definitely increased, with nearly 1300 children attending the Teddy Bear hospital and students from all college courses volunteering and attending our events.

- We promoted positive mental health during the stressful exam period, when we left treats in the reading room to encourage students to "mind yourself and take a break"

Greatest Success

Our greatest success was most definitely the Teddy Bear Hospital. Teachers and parents alike were very complimentary of how the hospital was run this year, with a new set up and even larger volumes of children coming through our doors. The children love each and every minute of the event- from treating their bears, getting xrays and 'pawscriptions' and then of course the ever popular bouncing castles and face painting. Our committee worked tirelessly to organise the logistics of the event and to ensure that the event ran smoothly on the side of the volunteers and visitors.

Greatest Challenge

Our greatest challenge would also have to be the Teddy Bear Hospital and accommodating the volume of children in such a short period of time.

Morning Galwayville: Social » The Cube, Áras na Mac Léinn » 27th January 2016

A morning dance and yoga event before College and work. There is a global awareness of the mental and physical health benefits in early morning dancing. Events are being held all over the world where people get up early and dance before work and it's becoming an extremely popular and common event in big cities. Dancing is a way to exercise, connect to your deepest self, to feel free, to let go of pent up energy and one of the best ways to start a day. We are organising this morning session for those of you who would like to "dance your way into the day" full of health and vitality. It is obviously a sober event and there will be yoga, massage, healthy snacks and drinks and all kinds of wonderful things there. The event starts at 6:30am – 10pm. Costs are 3E for students and 10E for others. DJs are will Softly, a renowned Irish, world music DJ based in Galway and MC Hector Ó hEochagáin. The Secret Garden will do herb teas and healthy snacks. Mission Statement

We plan to run events that promote a culture that involves having fun and being social without needing alcohol or ending up with alcohol.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

We will run a minimum of two Funky Seomra events, which is a sober night club that has great music, massage, herb teas and healthy desserts, chill out areas and much more. We will run a minimum of two pop up theatre events. We will link in with other groups to have tea gatherings, games nights and maybe a fun run.

Society Performance Reflection

We had a range of successful events including several night time dance events, a morning dance and yoga event, pop up theatre, weekly cheap massages for students, two newspaper editorials in the Galway Independent and Connacht Tribune and an overall awareness raised of the potential fun involved in sober activities.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Yes, for our first year, we achieved our aims, objectives and goals through our events, editorials and promotion.

Greatest Success

Awareness raising as a lot of students had fun and gained in many ways from our events.

Greatest Challenge

Students are interested but less inclined to participate in the organisation.

We held 2 committee meetings during the year and we have held our AGM. Our total membership stands at 145 members. All of our committee members have completed the end of year survey.

Social Democrats Society

The Social Democrats Society in its debutante year contributed to a plethora of different events and initiatives to promote student involvement in politics. This is epitomized by the success of the student voter drive where we played an active role in registering upwards of 300 students to register to vote for the upcoming General Election which took place at the end of February. In order to achieve this we made ourselves a familiar face on campus, at Smokies specifically promoting the importance of voting and having a say. These voting drives were concentrated in the early months of the Semester 1 before the deadline for registration to vote in November. Additionally, regular meetings were organised every Thursday at the Hub followed occasionally by some socialising in the Blue Note Pub for those interested in attending. The meetings mostly consisted of discussions regarding how to promote the principles of social democracy and how to engage with the student populous. We discussed the promotion of various policies that we considered important to us e.g. how to promote the Pro-Choice campaign, how to promote refugee rights and how to promote climate change among many other ideas.

The Society's concentration was firmly fixed on the General Election and promoting the party. A Battle of the Parties debate was organised by the society to facilitate discussion about the important issues. Speakers from each of the political societies on campus were invited to speak and talk about their party's aspirations. The aim of this event was to inform students of their political options and to assess who would accurately represent them. Attendance for the event was good and we were optimistic that people enjoyed the event too. During the election campaign we gave our weekly canvassing schedules for people who wanted to get involved in the campaign outside of campus. The committee were also heavily involved in canvassing and promoting the Social Democrats.

As the election approached, we set up a table at Smokies facilitating some of the queries students might have had about voting such as where to vote, how the Proportional System of Voting worked and so on.

Finally, The Social Democrats Society worked in conjunction with Cumann Sinn Fein and others in supporting a SU referendum on ending Direct Provision in Ireland. We made posters and leaflets and distributed them accordingly. This referendum was complementary to our fundamental beliefs as a society and were more than happy to help. The referendum passed overwhelmingly which was pleasing.

As a new society it was difficult for us to accommodate all the events that we had wished to hold. We has aspirations to host movie nights and talk seminars about various political messages that we wanted to broadcast. We had aspirations to collect some clothes for Callias and to participate in Climate Change marches. However, due to the fact that we had obligations to the election, it wasn't feasible time wise for us to initiate such events. Furthermore, these ideas have given us a firm base from which to work on for next year.

Society Performance Reflection

We achieved our goal of promoting and encouraging student involvement in politics and we succeeded in promoting the social democrats. The student body were very supportive by our cause and attendance at our events and the general decorum of the people we talked to was indicative of our success as a society. This was especially impressive considering it was our first year in operation on campus.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Yes, we achieved our goal of establishing a Social Democrat community in Galway. This is shown by the remarkable campaign Niall Ó Tnuthail ran in the General Election. The response to our aims as a party were overwhelmingly positive. We achieved our aim of encouraging intellectual debates about politics with our Battle of Party's event which gave students a platform in general to talk about what mattered to them the most. We achieved our aim of promoting political involvement with our voting drives and our successful role in the Direct Provision referendum.

Greatest Success

Our Greatest success would be the mobilisation of young people to get involved in politics and to get out and be heard. This was epitomised by our Battle of the Party's event which had a respectable attendance and our successful voter drive where we helped register a substantial amount of people to vote in the General Election.

Greatest Challenge

Our greatest challenge was to get people mobilised to get interested in canvassing for the General Election campaign. As a new society it was hard to get people passionate about the party enough to join the campaign outside of campus despite the great reception our policies were receiving. In general, there were a lot of impediments to this. A sizeable proportion of our members were final years/Masters students and would therefore have a limited amount of time to volunteer for the general election. However, the General Election itself is a once in 5 year event so the problems associated with mobilising people to canvass wouldn't be an issue in subsequent years. Additionally, as a new society these difficulties were to be expected because we simply didn't have as visible a presence until this year.

We held 22 committee meetings during the year. We have not held our AGM yet. Our total membership stands at 190 members. We have yet to complete the end of year survey.

Speech and Language

The Speech and Language Therapy society is a small society made up mostly, but not exclusively, of students from the Speech and Language Therapy course in NUIG. Our course is quite an intense one, with a heavy workload. Our events provide students with a way to relax, socialise and make new friends. In addition we try to get involved with any speech and language therapy events happening and to inform our members of these events that could be useful to them. We also organise events to raise both awareness and money for organisations related to speech and language therapy. We also organise and host an annual graduate night in which past SLT students come back to present about their journey from college to the workplace. Although our course and the various placements we all have to complete, our society strives to organise events throughout the year.

Mission Statement

The Speech and Language Therapy (SLT) Society NUIG strives to provide a friendly and welcoming platform of communication for all its members. We aim to raise both awareness and donations through fundraising for SLT related causes.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

- Provide a medium for communication between all year groups of the NUIG Speech and Language Therapy course
- Raise awareness for SLT related causes
- Raise money through fundraising for SLT related causes

Society Performance Reflection

This year the society has had a successful year. We organised and held many events for our members that we believed promoted friendships and helped our members gain useful information. A full committee was elected and our goals were achieved. All first semester was the societies busiest time as in second semester, all member of the society are on placement at some stage of the semester. We held games nights, movie nights, fundraising events, graduate information night and event held a day in which volunteers remained mute to raise awareness for selective mutism. Our events seemed to be successful and at our AGM meeting we successfully elected a new committee for the coming year who are sure to continue this success and help the society develop.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Our main goal was to provide a medium for communication between all year groups of the NUIG Speech and Language Therapy course. In each of our events we had students attending from all years and everyone seemed to bond! This was helped by our different games and movie nights throughout the year. Our other goals involved raising both awareness and money for SLT related causes. In the first semester we raised €314.12 for HADD Ireland and €264.93 for Selective Mutism Information and Research Association.

Greatest Success

This year we held our annual grad night in which past graduates for the SLT course in NUIG travelled from different parts of Ireland to come to talk to us about their journeys from college to the working world. It provided students from all years of the course that there is light at the end of the tunnel and that all the hard work in college pays off in the end! We had 6 graduates attend and provide information from different areas we can work in. The information gained was invaluable and all members who attended seemed to enjoy the night and appreciate the efforts and organising completed by the society. This event have hugely successful and would definitely be regarded as the society's greatest success this year.

Greatest Challenge

The biggest challenge for our society involved the financial aspect of organising and hosting events. We were informed that in managing the society's bank account, the members of the committee should never have to use their own money to pay for events however, unfortunately this was not the case. In regards to our biggest event, the Grad night, despite best efforts of the committee, including various visits to the Socs Box, 3 members of the committee were left in a position of having to fund €350 on the night to ensure that the event went ahead. There have been other examples of this occurring as well however that was the largest amount of money. We are a very small society looking for relatively small amounts of money and perhaps a better way to organise funding needs to be in place to ensure that this does not continue to happen.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

- This year in SVP we aim to have a more active presence on campus. We aim to spread the word about SVP and how we try to give back to our community.
- To branch out from typical fundraising activities.
- We hope to get the students of this university and particularly young people interested in volunteering.
- Mainly, we hope to help out as much as we can with regard to supporting the less fortunate in our society.

Society Performance Reflection

I believe the society of Saint Vincent de Paul did very well in providing awareness of the situation of Irish poverty and the requirements through which to combat this problem. For the upcoming academic year I believe the society can strive to do a few more events throughout the year.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

From the proposed events at the beginning of the year the SVP society have thus achieved all of our aims, objectives and goals with successful results.

Greatest Success

I would regard the food collection organised with the help of the NUI Galway chapel as the greatest success in the year since it saw a huge amount of donations that was warmly welcomed by the main office of SVP in Galway.

Greatest Challenge

I would regard the organising of events as the greatest challenge as it required having everyone available at certain times to partake and oversee certain necessities. Also worth mentioning is that everyone had many ideas on what we could do throughout the year but the society had only a limited time in which to achieve a large amount.

Students for Health Equality

Students for Health Equality is a society in NUI Galway, dedicated to creating awareness of inequalities in health care provision among persons of differing backgrounds such as race, gender, sexuality or age. We aim to educate the student body and staff of NUI Galway on equality in provision and access to healthcare, both abroad and in Ireland, through a combination of campaigns, debates, speakers and panel discussions. We aim to work together with other NUI Galway societies and campus groups in matters that are of mutual concern. The NUI Galway chapter of Universities Allied for Essential Medicines (UAEM) is a student group on campus which functions as a branch of Students for Health Equality. UAEM is an international non-profit organisation that promotes access to medicines and medical innovations in low- and middle-income countries by campaigning for change in norms and practices regarding academic patenting and licensing.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

We hope to host events that inform and challenge NUI Galway students to think about matters of equality in health care service and provision. We hope to raise the profile of Students for Health Equality on campus through improved promotion of events and collaboration with other societies and groups.

Society Performance Reflection

Students For Health Equality is a small Society within NUIG who aspires to throw light on Health issues and the inequalities at both a local and global level. The committee this year comprises of mainly medical students in their clinical years of training. An aim during the year was to engage more pre-clinical year medical students and non-medical students with the society. This was successfully achieved to some degree and we were very fortunate to have a very enthusiastic PRO from the Arts Faculty who was able to help us achieve this.

While the society remains among one of the smaller on the campus there is definitely a space for it. It provided a space for thought-provoking and attitude-challenging discussion for all members of the NUIG community. Going forward the society will hopefully flourish, as a stand alone society and in conjunction with others, our UAEM connection being very important.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

A number of events were hosted during semester 1 and 2 with an emphasis on Healthcare equality issues, but not limited to this. We held small discussion groups and while attendance remained small the topics we touched on were relevant and engaging.

Greatest Success

Auditor, Sonja Moore, spearheaded the idea of 'Tea and Chats' and this was very successful for the society. Hopefully this will be built on next year as it's a great opportunity for people to get together in a relaxed environment and discuss healthcare and societal inequality topics that might otherwise be furiously debated in another setting

Greatest Challenge

The challenge for SFHE still remains in growing its membership base and attracting more NUIG community members. Our aim is to continue to try and overcome this by attracting more pre-clinical medicine and non-medicine students. Also we find it very difficult to coordinate a successful socs day due to time constraints during the day for members in clinical medical years.

Mission Statement

Students for Sensible Drug Policy is an international grassroots network of students who are concerned about the impact drug abuse has on our communities, but who also know that the War on Drugs is failing our generation and our society.

SSDP mobilizes and empowers young people to participate in the political process, pushing for sensible policies to achieve a safer and more just future, while fighting back against counterproductive Drug War policies, particularly those that directly harm students and youth.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

SSDP neither condones nor condemns drug use, rather we respect the right of individuals to make decisions about their own health and well-being. We encourage honest conversation about the realities of the drug war. We promote youth civic engagement as a critical tool in reforming drug policy. SSDP respects the diverse experiences and identities of our constituents. We develop leaders who advocate for policy changes based on justice, liberty, compassion and reason.

Goals for the year include:

- Setting up task force for for March 2015's referendum that passed
- Introducing a new referendum in March 2016 for the decriminalization of drugs
- Bringing a number of committee members to New York for the UN General assembly in April 2016

Society Performance Reflection

We achieved our biggest goal and achieved others that were not thought up at the start of the college year.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We introduced the decriminalisation of drugs referendum in March.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success was the introduction of the referendum. Shortly after, the USI adopted a similar approach on a national level. We as a committee feel NUIG's position on this matter influenced the USI decision.

Greatest Challenge

The greatest challenge for the committee this year was getting making sure that the students in NUIG were knowledgeable enough on the issue of decriminalisation in order to cast an educated vote.

Mission Statement

Our society welcomes anyone with an interest in style, fashion, photography, writing, make-up and event organization. Our society is all about creativity and we welcome any ideas on events, our blog or any suggestion for the society in general. We are always looking for members to get involved as with this society the more ideas generated results in the more events we have to organize.

Everyone is welcome!!

Aims, Objectives & Goals

- Organize events which are of interest to our members.
- Raise money for charity.
- Encourage creativity with regard to events, blog posts and social media.
- To become more well known as a fun creative society around college.

Society Performance Reflection

This year we expanded the Society to incorporate a new element. After being approached by Sarah Naughton who wanted to set up her own makeup society we decided to be clever and use the resources our two societies would have and to collaborate. This expansion meant that we had a bigger committee and an increased fan-base because before that we mainly focused on style.

It was a hard year for stye soc. On the plus side, we are thrilled with our new friendships with other societies eg. dance soc, photosoc and ccafs to name a few. This was mainly done through collaborating with them, communicating more and getting involved more with their events, whether it be through our society work or just for pleasure.

However due to the rough start in September and larger committee this year as opposed to last year we felt that not every was committed as they should be. This made it harder for the society to take on wide scale events and follow through on ideas.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

- Joined up with The Make-up Society.
- Expanded our committee.
- Collaborated with another Society.
- Became more known and credible as a society throughout college.

Greatest Success

So far our greatest success this semester would be getting our name more out there. Incorporating the idea of makeup into our society was a huge success and opened up our society to a lot of possibilities. Sarah our vice auditor, who is also a qualified makeup artist, helped out at any events that societies needed regarding makeup. Societies would tell us all the time how hard it is to find a makeup artist to volunteer to do makeup and how nice it finally was to have someone within the college they could rely on.

We decided to use our social media to draw more attention to our society. We posted regular posts and competitions such as a fifty euro voucher for Brown Thomas. Our facebook page had more than 70 likes in two days just from this competition.

We liked that we got to know our fellow societies better. This is not only good because it's important to have a strong relationship with our societies but also to help our future committee members who will take over and these connections will already be established for them. We collaborated with CCAFS for the Swap Shop, helped Photosoc out with their workshop and assisted dance soc with their strictly come dancing event. We particularly liked collaborating with CCAFS. We collaborated with the CCAFS in organizing a Swap Shop where people could come and swap clothes in order to raise awareness of unethical manufacturing of clothing. We particularly liked this event because it had a different perspective and taught us the importance of getting more involved and helping other societies where we can.

Greatest Challenge

Last year we had a small but very strong committee. This year our committee is much bigger and unfortunately not everyone is equally interested in giving it their all as oppose to the rare few who do. We can only hope that future committee members will be more selective in who they decide to represent their society and that each society role is explained thoroughly at elections so that the committee member can act on their own intuition.

Mission Statement

To educate, engage and inspire the students of NUIG and the children involved in our programmes

Aims, Objectives & Goals

- To provide opportunities for NUIG students to learn about global issues through our global issues course and our 8 x 8 festival
- To encourage NUIG students to volunteer
- To enhance the education of children struggling with literacy in Ireland and India
- To raise money for our programmes

Society Performance Reflection

The society managed to educate many people on global issues at the 8x8 festival. As a society we also managed to gather many volunteers from the university (NUIG) who aided in enhancing the education of children struggling with literacy in Ireland. Throughout both semesters volunteers were in primary schools in the Claddagh N.S and in Tirellan. These volunteers gave their time to help children, who were struggling with literacy, to complete their required reading for school and also their homework.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We achieved most of our aims, objectives and goals this year, including providing opportunities for NUIG students to learn about global issues at the 8x8 festival. We also managed to gain many people in the society to volunteer in national primary schools in the local area. We did not, however, manage to send anyone to India this year to aid children struggling with literacy, nor did we raise any monies.

Greatest Success

Convincing many NUIG students of the fantastic opportunity that is helping children with literacy difficulties to read etc. We had many volunteers, especially in the first semester, who went to the local national schools and helped primary school aged children with their reading and homework.

Greatest Challenge

Fundraising monies for the Suas charity.

Surgical Society

NUIG Surgical society this year has been active in a number of projects and events. In Semester 1 it undertook nearly weekly sessions where it taught students Suturing and knot tying skills in collaboration with surgeons from NUHG, this continued on into weekly meetings on a Monday for the committee to discuss the week ahead and weekly Wednesday sessions in Semester 2 where students' skills were honed for their potential future careers. It has also represented NUIG medical school at a community level through mini med school, where TY students were taught basic surgical skills. The society is also in preparation at the moment to compete in the national RCSI surgical competition once students from the college have been selected. The society has also promoted surgery and encouraged social interaction between its members not only at the weekly events but also at much larger occasions such as the EGM, Surgical Specialities night it held where surgeons were brought in to discuss their roles followed by a society night out. There has also been keen interest in research within the society and at the moment the committee and a number of other members are partaking in an Explore research project with one of the Surgeons from NUHG. The society's hopes to continue on, not only representing NUIG at a local and national level but to endeavour to provide a higher service to its members for the rest of the semester as well as for the years to come.

Overall the Committee Led by Tingyi Koh and Paul Choi worked hard and well together, and have enjoyed the short session to promote knowledge of Surgery in Nuig.

Mission Statement

The NUIG Surgical Society aims to represent Medical Students of NUI Galway in their endeavor to improve their hands-on surgical experience

Aims, Objectives & Goals

Aims & Objectives

- To represent Students of Medicine to the surgical field in NUIG and NUHG.
- To advocate for the interests of Students of Medicine in the field of Surgery.
- To ensure representation of NUI, Galway at surgical competitions between students of Medicine nationally and internationally.
- To encourage interaction between its members and staff of NUIG and NUHG.
- To provide opportunities for members to engage in activities that enrich their learning experience in NUIG
- To encourage and organise social interaction between its members.
- To promote surgical research opportunities in NUIG

Goals for the year

- Carry out at least 12 Surgical Skills workshop for the year
- Organise at least 4 laparoscopy workshops
- Organise Inter-college Joint events.
- USMLE Talk
- Surgical Specialties night

Society Performance Reflection

As our first year as an independent society, the surgical society were very successful. Hosting nearly weekly events which our members would come too and helping to promote surgery in the medical school of NUIG as well as collaborating with doctors from NUHG. We have participated in a number of intercollegiate events and our Auditor Tingyi Koh and vice Auditor, Paul Choi, helped bring the best out in our committee so that we were all working together as a coherent team.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

- To represent students of medicine to the surgical field in NUIG and NUHG: We feel we achieved this by collaborating with members of the surgical department in NUHG and acting as the face of the student body when organising events like the USMLE talk or Surgical specialities night.
- To advocate for the interests of students of medicine in the field of surgery: We feel we achieved this objective by helping supplement our courses curriculum and broadening it by teaching vital things for our future career to those interested in the surgical skills workshop. We also helped students see what the field of surgery was like by promoting collaboration and discussion between the staff of the surgical department and students as well as providing research opportunities.
- To ensure representation of NUIG at surgical competitions between students of Medicine Nationally and internationally: On the 23rd of March, around thirty students partook in the regional heats of the RCSI surgical skills competition where two of the students with the highest points were selected and sent to represent NUIG up at the national event in RCSI. There was also a Surgical case Competition held earlier this year where the student with the most interesting case was sent forward to represent NUIG at a national level also toward the end of the year.
- To encourage interaction between its members and staff of NUHG: This was achieved through the surgical skills workshops which allowed a relaxed atmosphere for students to engage with each other and surgeons from the hospital. Our two large nights of the year, the USMLE talk and the surgical specialities night allowed students to engage on a much larger level and even go out afterwards with each other.
- To provide opportunities for members to engage in activities that enrich their learning experience in NUIG: Again as I've spoken of earlier, students could partake in the weekly workshops that would provide them with a deeper insight in to surgery as well as a fun social outlet in which to do so or else engage in one of our various research projects which were headed up by our Vice Auditor Paul Choi. Our collaboration with Cancer soc for the mini med school also provided our members with the ability to volunteer and help out in the community.
- To encourage and organise social interaction between its members: As I've said before we believe the surgical society provided a holistic experience for all its members not being solely focused on academic endeavours, we promoted social interactions by organising outings for our members after such events as the Surgical specialities night and provided an area for like minded people to meet and talk in our workshops.
- To provide surgical research opportunities in NUIG: Our society was engaged in a number of research projects that our members could participate in (EXPLORE- a research project involving the skills achieved on DIY laparoscopic simulators where students could learn and test out their abilities against people trained on proper Laparoscopic simulators- still awaiting results)(A questionnaire involving every single one of our members) Our vice Auditor Paul Choi also headed up a research project which our members could apply for and were then selected based on their merit.
- Carry out 12 surgical skills workshops for the year.: The society nearly switched complete ownership from first semester to second semester with the majority of the committee changing but on record we have completed 6 surgical skills workshop in the first semester and 18 in the second, far surpassing our goal.
- Organise at least 4 laparoscopic simulator workshops.: Toward the end of the second semester we began incorporating the Laparoscopic workshops into our surgical skills workshops and managed to achieve more than five.
- Organise intercollege joint events: We have collaborated with RCSI to participate in the RCSI surgical skills competition.
- USMLE talk. : The Doctors in Training USMLE talk went ahead in the first semester.
- Surgical Specialities Night.: This went ahead in the second semester.

Greatest Success

In my opinion our greatest success would have to have been the surgical specialities night. It received relentless positive feedback from those who attended allowed a lot the society members a chance to relax afterwards and have a good time with each other. Strengthening the bonds of the society.

Greatest Challenge

Taking over from the first semester committee with nearly an entirely new group of people was a formidable challenge in itself as it made the first few weeks of college very stressful as we had to try and find our footing as well as our balance as a society and a team. While it was a struggle to get to know all the rules and regulations as a team and to learn how to work together I think that we overcame this to become as solid and cohesive group of people who knew what they had to do and how to do it.

Mission Statement

Our Mission is to promote the cult sci-fi show "Doctor Who" and provide an enjoyable and safe environment in which people can make friendships over their common love for the show

Aims, Objectives & Goals

Our Aims and Objectives for the year are as follows:

- Provide a safe and enjoyable space in which members can enjoy Doctor Who and make friendships, at least 20 times per semester.
- We hope to organise a trip to Cardiff to the Doctor Who Experience, so that our members can enjoy the sets and props from the show. We feel that this experience would benefit our members by improving their social skills, and it would benefit the committee by improving our organising skills.
- We hope to win awards at the Socs awards ceremony in Semester 2, as this would reflect well on the society and hopefully get more people to join in future.
- We want to retain the number of members we have, and hopefully not let it drop below 200 students.

Society Performance Reflection

This year our society maintained a strong base and brought in a lot of new members. We also expanded the range of events to appeal to a bigger range of people.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We were able to achieve our goals of providing a safe and enjoyable space for our members and retaining the number of members that we have. However, due to time restraints we were unable achieve our aim of organising a trip to Cardiff to the Doctor Who Experience.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success this year would be our events that a lot of people turned out to, which was the table quiz and the treasure hunt that were both held in semester one. This events brought in many members and also students who were not yet members of the society.

Greatest Challenge

Our greatest challenge this year was to get our members to keep going to events on a regular basis.

We held 22 committee meetings during the year and we have held our AGM. Our total membership stands at 243 members. All of our committee members have completed the end of year survey.

Trad Soc

Tradsoc is a community in which traditional musicians and singers can express themselves in an open and welcoming environment all musicians and singers of all abilities and backgrounds are more than welcome to take part in our sessions. Our weekly sessions in the Crane Bar (Sea Road, Galway) always welcome newcomers and are a great way to meet people with strong similar interests. Galway's great heritage of traditional Irish music means that Trad Soc's events are always a blast for those who want to play or just to enjoy the music and atmosphere. Over the year we will be hosting a number of events including our annual trip, music lessons, music practice, concerts and social outings to traditional Irish festivals in Galway and further afield. As a society we are dedicated to the love of traditional Irish music and song, for musicians, singers and listeners alike. We are about bringing people together with a common interest, making friends and having the craic!!

Mission Statement

Trad Soc is to promote culture and heritage through irish music and song.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

Trad soc aims to

- 1) maintain our weekly events such as our music session in the Crane Bar and Singing session/ Teach a tune.
- 2) To work together with the help of our members to form new and creative ideas for the society
- 3) For members to learn new skills and qualities from their involvement with the society.

Society Performance Reflection

Our Society fared very well this year. We built on previous success to hone our regular events to the expectations of our membership. We also collaborated with several other societies, including Cumann Staire for the Arts Ball, Cumann Gaelach for Bál na Gaeilge, and Cancer Soc for Relay for Life. We've maintained our reputation for being a welcoming society to all students, as is evidenced by our active membership among Erasmus Students.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

The aims we set for the society at the start of the year were clear and attainable. We ensured a presence both on and off campus with our regular Session at the Crane Bar, and our Singing Sessions/Teach a Tune on campus. We also canvassed input from our membership to see what they would like the Society to do, and put on some additional social events as a result. Through our musical and choral endeavours, we've assisted in fostering musicianship and greater choral sensibility amongst our members, whilst providing a social and fun atmosphere.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success lies in our committed membership and their dedication to Traditional music and song. They have ensured that Trad Soc remains a significant cultural player on NUIG campus, and have sustained its reputation.

Greatest Challenge

As with all Societies, motivating a team made up of volunteers can be a challenge, particularly as the academic year goes on and academic obligations take precedence. As a society, we've always tried to make meetings as efficient and effective as possible, so that people aren't disincenitised from turning up. We've also ensured that the Committee were empowered to undertake initiatives where possible, so that they have a sense of ownership over the direction of the Society.

Mission Statement

To bring the knowledge of the Victorian Era to a modern day perspective. With movies, literature and other artistic forms we will showcase the society and our love of the 19th century to NUIG.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

Providing a friendly environment for others to learn more about the wonders of the Victorian Era. Host a number of activities throughout the year, such as the Victorian Fun Fair, to bring in other societies from NUIG for co-op nights. Promote Victorian culture and history across campus.

Society Performance Reflection

Very good. Being a small society we did not expect such an amount of people coming to some of our events. The committee was also very efficient and hard-working, everyone helped running the society.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Yes, absolutely. We grew in numbers as many people joined the society this year. We were able to organise weekly events which people attended regularly and gave them a better knowledge of the Victorian Period, culture and history.

Greatest Success

The Victorian Funfair. As our main event of the year, we focused a lot energy into it, and quite a crowd came to it and engaged in the games we had prepared and bought tickets for the raffle at the end of the evening.

Greatest Challenge

Also the Victorian Funfair. As our main event of the year, it involved dealing with Muscailt's organisers, the venue booking, contacting all the societies that might be interested in participating, and finding external supporters that would help us to set the fair or bring something interesting to it. I must praise the good job of the committee, since teamwork was essential for the success of the event. Everyone helped with the preparation and organisation, and attended the event.

Mission Statement

To encourage and support the growing video gaming community and promote Video Gaming culture as a social and artistic medium within NUIG and Galway City.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

To promote a healthy, positive and expanding community of video gamers.

To facilitate a location and means for video game activities within the Galway area.

To obtain and collect equipment pertaining to Video Games.

To source transportation to video gaming events near and far.

Society Performance Reflection

The society did very well considering this is our first full year as a new society, two years in the running now so we have some experience plus the ever helpful hand of the SocsBox is always there if we can't manage on our own. The biggest challenge we faced throughout the year is the reduction in turn ups for events, not just for us, but every society. We have observed that this is due to the fact that the university is giving more assignment / projects to students and they in turn have no time for societies. At least we managed to make different, new and interesting events and the committee had always a barrage of ideas waiting to be picked.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We have had a running issue with our treasurer for the last couples of years so that has stopped us from moving on with our goals, which included the obtaining new equipment towards the society however next year's committee remains the same var some changes that have been done so that will facilitate some faster interesting change (since some of it has already been approved in the AGMs). On the positive side, we have maintained a healthy, positive and expanding community of video gamers, it becomes quite apparent the happy atmosphere of friendship in the events – no one is left out. The same applies with providing a location and means for video gaming in Galway.

Greatest Success

In my opinion our greatest success was to make events more interesting while facing with decreasing turn up to events but, with the aid of eye catching posters done by our P.R.O Kathleen and the ideas cranked together at the regular meetings. We have done quite well over all and this is what I consider a success.

Greatest Challenge

As mentioned before this year was difficult to us because people needed to concentrate in assignments so turn ups were really bad comparing to the past year, so the challenge we faced was to make interesting well themed events, like, "The Phoenix wright night" which was a collab event with Anime and Manga soc which helped to increase numbers

Voluntary Services Abroad Soc

VSA had a busy year in the 2015/2016 time period with successful fundraising and enjoyable events throughout.

Events started with Traveller's Tales in September in which returned volunteers spoke to the new committee and those considering volunteering in the future about their adventures. Pizza was provided to all who attended.

We then had the VSA Table Quiz, which was as always a huge success both financially and entertainment wise. We had a full house in The Quays and we carried out all the usual Table Quiz traditions with all of our members.

Next up was NUIG's 'Hottest Ticket' Student Race Day in partnership with Rugby Soc. It was NUIG's biggest student event of the year, selling over 7,000 tickets and was a complete success.

We held our annual christmas concert in November during which all of the medical school get to showcase their talents to their peers and teachers. It was great fun and a nice break from all the christmas exam study.

Then, along with Medsoc, we helped organise the glamorous Masquerade Ball in Kilonan Castle. The night included a silent auction and raffle in aid of VSA.

From one ball to another, Swing Ball was a huge success. Hosted by the excellent Meyrick Hotel. It was a night we will always remember and raised much needed funds for our charity.

Along with all of these events, we had regular committee meetings discussing what was approaching and possible progressive changes we could make to the society. This led us to becoming a signatory of Chomhlamh. This allowed us to develop necessary forms for our volunteers and forms for our local partners to help develop the society even further.

Overall, this year has been a complete success for us. We have paved the way for future positive changes to the management of volunteers and society members and have hopefully set the standard for our annual events.

Mission Statement

Medical Aid for the Developing World. Our goal is to provide much needed medical supplies and related skills to healthcare facilities in developing countries and to fundraise to achieve that goal. To facilitate students in National University of Ireland Galway in give back to local and international communities.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

The aim of the Voluntary Services Abroad Committee for 2015/2016 is to move the charity forward and make it more sustainable and recognised. We aim to do this by becoming a signatory of Comhlamh. We also aim to have more formalised dealings with our local partners in the developing world to ensure full and lasting relationships.

We hope to facilitate anyone wishing to volunteer with us this year in their fundraising and have some events that everyone enjoys and helps raise funds for hospitals in the developing world.

Society Performance Reflection

Our society did well this year. We had many successful events and worked towards our aim of making the society and the volunteering programme more sustainable for the years to come.

Our committee worked extremely well together. We helped each other with various tasks and had regular meetings with effective communication.

We had a record number of members join us at Societies Day in September and our events were enjoyed by all.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

The aim of the Voluntary Services Abroad Committee for 2015/2016 is to move the charity forward and become more sustainable. We aim to do this by becoming a signatory of Comhlamh. We have this year become a formal signatory of Comhlamh and this has been a huge benefit to us and showed us how to move forward as a society and charity in the future.

One aim was to have more formalised dealings with our local partners in the developing world to ensure full and lasting relationships. . We have done this by developing forms which can be sent to our local partners to help improve the society in the future.

We have also become more sustainable.

We have facilitated anyone wishing to volunteer with us this year in their fundraising and have some events that everyone enjoys and helps raise funds for hospitals in the developing world. We have also provided extra training for them this year with the help of comhlamh and the school of medicine.

Greatest Success

We had two huge successes this year as a society.

The first was becoming a signatory of comhlamh. This was a huge effort by the committee with the help of Lorraine Tansey we managed to get it done and submitted in a timely manner. All of this work will help guide the society in the future as it highlights areas that need to be improved in the future. So that the society can continue to improve and grow as a whole.

Our second greatest achievement was NUIG student race day. This was the biggest student event of the year and was attended by over 4,500 from across Galway and Ireland as a whole. We had

Greatest Challenge

Our greatest challenge was working towards creating a more sustainable society and volunteering opportunity for all those who wish to do so. This involved us having frequent meetings and discussions in relation to what we could do and undertaking the extensive comhlamh application. This took a lot of time and energy, something that was particularly challenging in a busy college semester. We had meetings with Ms Lorraine Tansey and Dr Diarmuid O'Donovan who helped us bring together our ideas and structure what we were trying to do. We have changed the constitution and set in motion many different things for the committees of the future to carry on.

Other Information

We held 15 committee meetings during the year and we have held our AGM. Our total membership stands at 1003 members. 4 committee members have completed the end of year survey.

Writers' Soc

This year the Writers' Society set out to provide a safe and friendly environment to encourage writing. Not only did we encourage friendly discussion of writing, we wanted to stimulate a fun and welcoming environment for students to make new friends who have similar interests. The level or experience in writing was not important to us as society, we wanted to stimulate a friendly atmosphere for students to enjoy writing and become involved.

We did so by holding our weekly writers' meetings, which involved a writing prompt at the beginning of each meeting, allowing members to get inspired and write for 10 minutes. Afterwards, we offered members the chance to read out their writing and receive feedback. Within our meetings we also play writing games and discuss our favorite pieces of writing with each other. We also provided tea and biscuits at our meetings!

We organized our 2nd Annual Writers' Convention in January 31st. We invited various speakers to come speak at the convention. We also held and promoted a flurry of different writing events that took place outside the general meeting place. This included, The Rab Fulton storytelling event in the Crane bar, Our word game in the blue note pub, and also our publication launch in the Secret Garden Cafe. We also collaborated with various societies, this includes our screening of 'Dead poets society', our Writing workshop with gig soc, and the speed dating event with bake soc, anime and manga, potter soc, and skate soc. Our society also released a booklet publication, which allowed members to publish their work. This was both online and in print. We released 2 publications.

Mission Statement

The mission of this society is to provide a welcoming space in which student writers can interact, showcase their skills, hone their craft and contribute creatively to the society in a friendly atmosphere of like minded people.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

The aims of the Society shall be to provide a safe environment for students with an interest in writing; to foster creativity and encourage the exchanging of ideas to better our members as writers; to provide good, honest feedback to members during open readings in our meetings; to publish students' compositions through our seasonal publications and our online blog; to work positively with other societies at NUIG through collaborations, such as workshops, culture nights, open mics, themed weeks.

Society Performance Reflection

Overall, our society proved to be highly successful this year. We managed to encourage a friendly atmosphere within each of our meetings. We organized an array of writing inspired events, including our word game night and our open mike night. We also brought our meetings to various locations so which to provide a refreshing new environment for writers. This includes our meeting at the Blue Note pub and our publication launch at the secret garden cafe. We also held our second annual Writers' Convention which we would regard as our greatest success.

As a committee we worked well as team. We were aware of what needed to be done and knew how to communicate within the group to ensure success within the society. We were all valued for our individual roles in the society but thrived on working with each other in order to run the society. For example, our PRO, publisher and secretary worked well together as they needed to communicate the various details of our meeting events. Our Auditor and Vice auditor worked together to run our weekly meetings, however the writing prompts were provided by each member of the committee through a rota system.

We worked hard to offer better feedback during our meeting. This was one the main goals we set out. It's important that members get given good feedback when they read out at our meetings. We worked on a 3 comment tactic, where we made sure at least 3 people gave out feedback to the person who had read out. This sped up feedback time and allowed for more people to read out and receive feedback.

Due to unforeseen circumstances various members had to leave the committee, this meant other committee members had to take up extra jobs for a short period of time until they were filled. This was difficult at times, but we managed to pull together and run the society successfully despite this bump in the road.

We managed to release two publications, which highly encouraged people to get involved with the society by submitting their work, in any format. These were made available in print and online. Due to the quality of our publication, we won an award at the socs awards 2016.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

We achieved a variety of our goals we set out for the year. We helped encourage writing within the university by providing a safe space for students to meet each week and meet people with similar interest and share their work.

1. OUR PUBLICATION: We aimed to also offered a platform for which students could publish their works. Our seasonal publication encouraged students to flourish and to get actively involved with the Writers' Society. We published, in print and online, two booklets of our members' writing and showcased their talents. We also combined with other societies to create other publication, such as with GIG Soc, to develop others interest in writing and spread our message of providing a safe environment. This was one of our main goals of the year.
2. MEETINGS:One of our other main aims for the year was to strive and provide better feedback to our members who read out their writing. We worked on various tactics on how to provide constructive criticism and faster feedback time so that members could improve his/her writing, but also to make sure that each and every one of our members get a chance to read out their work. We used 3 comment tactic in order to improve feedback time and quality. This involved making sure each person on the committee was ready to offer some kind of feedback on our members writing, once 3 people had commented on a single piece of writing we would open the floor for other people to read out. >Additionally, we wanted to introduce a warmer environment within each meeting. We introduced a discussion session at the beginning of each meeting, where it provided members with a chance to engage with everyone by having a discussion about topics of interest such as literary muses and favourite novels, poems, and plays.> We also introduced group work which involved working together to create a piece of writing. This offered members a chance to engage with other styles of writing and teamwork.
3. EVENTS: We aimed to host a range of writing themed events so to encourage writing within the university. We held 27 different events, which includes our weekly meetings. We held Word game nights, our annual convention, and promoted our publication by holding publication launch nights. We also held our Annual Writers' Convention which invited students and indeed members of the community to get actively involved with writing.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success as a society was organizing our 2nd annual Writers' convention, which was held on the 31st of January. This was by far our biggest event of the year and involved a significant amount of energy and teamwork from our committee members and our sub-committee.. The committee worked well together as a team and were valued for the role on the team. Each were assigned different jobs for the convention, for example we created the 'Poster squad' for the group who were in charge of publicizing the event along with the PRO. We managed to work well as team in order to run the convention.

We invited various accomplished writers, playwrights, and bloggers to come speak at the event. It allowed for attendees to get an insight into each of the various formats of writing and possible careers that can come from writing. We also provided members with a chance to share their works with everyone. By the various wonderful comments left by attendees in our guestbook, it seems as if it was success. Everyone really enjoyed the day, which is why we would regard this as one of our greatest success.

Greatest Challenge

> At the beginning of the year it proved to be difficult to explain the concept of Writers' Society to potential members and other committee members of other societies. Many people found the idea of Writers' Soc difficult to grasp. For instance, people thought we helped with academic essays. This meant each member had to be fully equipt on society day to explain the concept of the society to everyone and let other societies know that we were capable of collaborating.

>Due to unforeseen circumstances various committee members were unable to fulfill their duties and had to leave the committee. This posed some challenges to the committee. (Our events manager, PRO, and OCM.)This meant each existing member had to take up extra responsibilities until each position had been filled. At times it was difficult to work as a team during this period.

>Another one of the challenges we faced was with advertising our society. It was difficult to spread the word of the society, with having to compete with various bigger societies.

Other Information

We held 24 committee meetings during the year and we have held our AGM. Our total membership stands at 473 members. All of our committee members have completed the end of year survey.

Young Fine Gael Soc

The Young Fine Gael Society this year was mostly focused on the general election which was in February of this year. We had plenty of events in the first semester, and had some social gatherings to get to know our new society members. In second semester we spent a lot of evenings out canvassing for the different fine Gael candidates. Overall I think the committee members and the dedicated ordinary committee members enjoyed a great year full of activities and election focused events.

Mission Statement

To proudly present an outlet for members of the student and staff bodies of NUI Galway to interact over a shared interest in Fine Gael, while maintaining the longstanding reputation of the society over previous generations.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

To promote Young Fine Gael on campus.

To encourage our members to actively participate in the society.
 To recruit new like minded members.
 To assist the party achieve an overall majority during the upcoming general election.

Society Performance Reflection

The society did very well this year. We achieved our goals when it came to the general election by electing two Fine Gael TD's. The number of students who signed up was also high so overall we were pleased.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Yes we achieved most of our goals, however we had intended on paying a visit to Dail Eireann but that never happened as society members were tied up with different things when we approached them with dates.

Greatest Success

Our greatest success was probably playing a role in electing the two Fine Gael TD's. Most evenings we had high numbers of members out helping canvassing.

Greatest Challenge

Our greatest challenge was providing the society members with different events and activities to keep everybody interested. It was no problem in the second semester as we were election focused.

Mission Statement

NUIG Zen Society exists in order to provide an opportunity for students and staff to practice zazen (seated meditation) in the Soto Zen tradition.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

NUIG Zen Society aims to provide a weekly drop-in meditation session for students and the broader University community. We would like to develop a self-sustaining group of students and staff who can practice zazen together on a regular basis, and we hope to achieve this through regular meditation sessions and by providing an opportunity to learn more about zen and zazen through talks, workshops and participation in longer retreats (sessin).

Society Performance Reflection

We feel that this second year of our existence as a society was fairly successful since we were able to sustain weekly meetings for meditation throughout both semesters as well as one or two other events.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

NUIG Zen Society was able to provide a weekly drop-in meditation session for students and staff from the beginning of the first semester through the final week of exams in semester 2 with an average of about 10-12 people at each session. These groups always included beginners there to find out about zazen and students who practiced every with ZenSoc. The committee for next year was elected from among this group. Some Zen Soc members attended a regular weekly introductory workshop organised in conjunction with the Galway Zen Dojo during the first semester group from Zen oc and another group were able to attend a 3-day retreat in Athenry together in the second semester. We were also able to invite an outside speaker for a talk and sushi evening! In this sense, we feel that we have met most of our objectives. We feel that this s

Greatest Success

Weekly zazen with between 2 and 25 members (average 10-12) would be our greatest success. Members and non-members know that we are there every week, meditating together. We also managed to eat a large amount of sushi at one sitting again this year.

Greatest Challenge

As Zen Society is completely member run and driven with no outside teachers, the difficulty will be to keep our regular and consistent meditation sessions going as members come and go.

Individual Committee Members - Hopes & Aspirations (September 2015)

Completed by 5 committee members.

Individual Committee Members - End of Year Reflection (April 2016)

Completed by 5 committee members.

Other Information

We held 4 committee meetings during the year. We have not held our AGM yet. Our total membership stands at 300 members. 4 committee members have completed the end of year survey.

Zoo Soc

This year Zoo Soc's main focus was to have one seminar per month going, which in a way did work out besides a winter break and the last period. In the beginning of the year we held a meeting and everyone put down ideas in small groups, which were gathered and the topics were tried to be oriented around the ideas and animals of interest. Then a trip to the Aquarium was planned, followed by a movie screening of a documentary about the ecosystem of Maerl Beds in Ireland and Co. Galway in particular. Also presentations from NUIG PhD students such as Keith Browne were given as well as showing discussing and presenting opportunities such as Turtle Volunteering for the summer or after college. All the time the events were spiced up with practical specimens such as stuffed real sea turtles, bee hives with honey and mead tasting etc. We always have an incredible turnout of 20-150 people at our events, of which we are really proud and also would like to thank socsbox for all the support.

Zoo Society Events list (10 Individual Events)

Zoo Soc AGM: Training » The Space Aras Na Mac Léinn » 14th September 2015

Come on 512 EcoSoc members - we need you! We are looking for people interested to fulfill committee positions and members who want to actively engage in the society. So come along and join us! We will talk about what to do this year, maybe new hoodies etc. We will probably head over to the college bar or the scholars rest (which now has a new name I can't remember) after! We are all looking forward seeing you!

ZooBic Night Out: Social » Galway, Galway City, The Skeff » 23rd September 2015

All are welcome - bring friends, flatmates, college mates and break the ice with your new zoological friends. Have free food, win one of our cool new hoodies and have a great time! We look forward seeing you there

Maerl Film Screening with director and presenter Siddhi Joshi: Seminar » MRI 201 » 14th October 2015

Come and be drawn into the unique underwater world of the Irish Coast with its unique Maerl beds threatened by ocean acidification. Siddhi - a final year PhD student of NUI Galway will present her own documentary of the coralline maerl algae (<https://vimeo.com/114066818>). On the day we hope to present you with some maerl specimens, a short intro talk, the documentary, popcorn and refreshments after. All welcome!

What is bugging Irish honey bees?: Seminar » MRI 201 » 04th November 2015

Seminar by Keith Browne: Native Irish honey bees are subjected to habitat depletion, the deleterious effects of pesticides, genetic dilution through the use of imported honey bees and a debilitating attack from an invading parasite. This talk looks at the biology of Irish honey bees, current and future threats to their existence and the new research that has been initiated in NUI Galway to help redress the balance in favour of an insect that is essential in placing one out of every three mouthfuls of food on your plate. On the day we will also display an empty beehive, beekeeping equipment and have a honey and honey-beverage-tasting on.

From Catch to Plate - A perspective on Tuna Fishing and Consumption: Seminar » MRI 201 » 25th November 2015

November Seminar from ZooS in collaboration with the Zoology Department: From Catch to Plate - A perspective on Tuna Fishing and Consumption By Bernadette O'Neill, Stellenbosch University, South Africa All Welcome!

Zoo Soc Seminar Exotic Animals: Seminar » MRI Annex Lecture Hall » 24th February 2016

Zoo Soc is delighted to announce that we will be hosting two seminars on exotic animals in the MRI Annex seminar room! Adjunct lecturer and founder of Eco-Explorers Dr. Michel Dugon returns to tell us about his work with giant centipedes and Collie Ennis from Trinity college and owner of The Critter cave will be talking about taking care of a variety of amazing exotic creatures. Followed by Reception with snacks and beverages and an ANIMAL PETTING SESSION (Tarantulas, Snakes, Scorpions, Lizards).

Sea Turtle Talk: Seminar » MRI Annex Lecture Hall » 03rd March 2016

Seaturtle Ecology conservation seminar with Zoo Soc, Sylvan Benaksas and Goncalo Lourenco will be speaking about the great work that the charity does. So don't miss out!

Turtle Conservation Volunteering Talk: Seminar » MRI Annex Lecture Hall » 03rd March 2016

For over 30 years ARCHELON, the Sea Turtle Protection Society of Greece, has been conducting conservation projects on all major loggerhead areas in Greece. This Thursday two volunteers and team leaders will give a presentation on the program and volunteering options and you will be able to ask them questions and get more info. Well worth going to especially if you don't have any plans for the summer yet.

Mission Statement

Our mission is to bring together people with interest in animals and the study of animals. We promote awareness about animal wildlife and threatened species on a national and international scale, support animal sanctuaries and the learning of the students in NUI Galway in a practical manner.

Aims, Objectives & Goals

We want to:

- 1) Host Monthly Seminars
- 2) Have at least 4 nights out to socialise
- 3) a photography competition
- 5) stranding course with IWDG
- 6) movie screenings
- 7) trip to Atlantaquarium, Natural History Museum and Dublin Zoo

Society Performance Reflection

We did well on the seminars, only had 2 social nights out, did not do the stranding course, but did a movie screening and a trip including a squid dissection in the Aquarium. We also organised hoodies for everyone.

Did You Achieve Any of Your Aims, Objectives & Goals?

Yes, see above.

Greatest Success

The Aquarium trip as well as the exotic animal seminar.

Greatest Challenge

Keeping people in committee positions and fulfilling their role. As an auditor filling out the secretary's report right now I always have to cover things people do not do including tidying up after an event etc.

The background of the poster is a vibrant, abstract painting. It features a central figure, possibly a woman, wearing a gold chain necklace with a rainbow flag pendant. The colors are a mix of blues, purples, pinks, and greens, with some floral and leaf-like motifs. The overall style is artistic and celebratory.

RAG by Kevin Murphy

An Taibhdhearc, 8:30PM

RAG is an original play written and directed by Kevin Murphy. RAG tells a tale full of drunken debauchery about 5 students over 5 days of Rag week in Galway. Brian is planning on making this the most exciting week ever for his merry band. Tensions arise as the week progresses and the perfect night becomes nothing more than a fantasy for the group. It tackles such issues as: academic life, social status and the affects of alcohol abuse. The play is relatable to all types of students. RAG is written by a student, for students. "This city of culture, of art and of music is laying down and begging us to go rampant over the week. A week where college empties and night clubs burst. We are going to conquer Galway city! CHEERS!"

19th/March

SOMEONE WHO'LL WATCH OVER ME by Conor McPherson

The Mick Lally Theatre, Druid Land, 8:30PM

An Irishman, an Englishman and an American are being held hostage by terrorists in a Lebanese cell. However, while the ever-present possibility of death looms over them, it becomes clear that the men's true trial is to support and endure one another, through whatever reality presents itself. Featuring last year's ISDA Best Actor award winner Dylan McCormack, Someone Who'll Watch Over Me challenges our idea of coping with trauma and the ethics of how we do so with joy, despair and black humour.

21st/March

THE BEAUTY QUEEN OF LEENANE by Martin McDonagh

Bank of Ireland Theatre, 4:00PM

The Beauty Queen of Leenane', written by Martin McDonagh, tells the story of Maureen, a plain, lonely, middle-aged woman, who lives with her elderly mother, Mag. Maureen's sisters have flown the nest, escaping the drab family home, leaving Maureen trapped in a dysfunctional relationship with her mother. Maureen wishes to escape to a new life. So, when Ray brings news that his brother Pato is home from England, Maureen realises she may have found her escape route but, with her mother Mag adamant on her remaining in Leenane, can Maureen really find a way to leave?

NUI Galway Societies 2016 Spring Programme and 2015 Yearbook Launch

WELCOME TO THE LAUNCH of the NUI Galway Societies Spring Programme and Year Book launch. With 115 societies there is always something to do, membership of societies is open to students and staff of the college but a large number of their events are open to the public. This Spring we are throwing open the doors of the campus and inviting Galway and beyond to join us. Last year Societies organised 4133 events.

As part of the Spring Programme The Societies are presenting the Midterm Festival an event filled week to promote involvement in the social and cultural life of the campus. In its first year the Festival will celebrate the arrival of Spring and the glorious array of activities the societies provide to bring colour and joy to university life, the perfect lead up to Valentine's Day. The Highlight of the week include the much anticipated production of the "Addams Family", the Musical Society (GUMS) annual musical in the Black Box from February 9th – 13th at 8pm.

Spring Programme

Other major upcoming events this Semester include a list of conventions, conferences: Writer's Soc, Writers Convention 30th of January, Fansci 'Itzacon XII' a Fantasy and Science Fiction Convention 2016 Convention 19th-21st February, Cumann Staire Irish History Students Association, 66th Conference, 19th – 21st February, Dramsoc host the National Student Awards (ISDA) with 25 productions in 5 theatres. 14th-23rd March. Pottersoc present PotterFest Galway the family friendly weekend for lovers of Harry Potter March 12th-13th The Choral Soc host the National Choral Intervarsity 2nd April, An Cumann Gaelach host the Association of Celtic Students of Ireland and Britain Conference on April 8th – 9th and the Juggling Society present JugglingCon Galway 2016 27th-29th of June. Other events to watch out for include, GigSoc (LGBT) Rainbow Week 15th-19th of February. Mental Health Week Feb 29th – March 4th. Dansoc 'Strictly Come Dancing' 9th of March, African Caribbean Society Afrofest 10th March, The societies will also feature in Muscailt, The University Arts Festival, March 6th – 9th. Major charity events include The Malaysian Soc Futsal For Charity, 6th of February, Cancer Soc Relay for Life 9th -10th of March, 6pm-6am and Friends of MSF Refugee Awareness Event 10th March,

Community Outreach

Most people are familiar with the very popular Teddy Bear Hospital organised by the Slainte Society but through the year the societies engage in numerous outreach and schools programmes, for example the Literary and Debating Society organise a school debating competition, the Musical Society organise the Schools Musical Awards. Suas Society facilitate homework clubs in local schools and the Bike Gang Society promote cycling and sustainable transport with schools and youth groups. Societies work with community groups throughout the world and fundraise extensively for charity. For example VSA send 5th year medical students throughout the world and Draiocht work in Nepal and Tanzania. Last year Societies they raised a staggering €224,381 for charity.

Leadership & Learning through Societies

In addition to significantly contributing to the social, cultural and community life of the campus and the wider community the societies also play a vital role in educating and preparing their members, and in particular their committee members, to fully realise their potential as engaged contributing members of society, ensuring they receive an holistic education and graduate as skilled leaders with integrity, creativity, vision and passion for life.

Last year the Societies launched the new leadership programme which aims to instil positive leadership qualities and train the society committee members in the necessary skills to run successful societies which deliver a quality experience for their members and target communities. The programme also aims to explore how people learn and the role of experimental learning through student led extra-curricular activities. The outcomes of the initial pilot programme have been very positive showing a clear correlation between skill 'shortfalls' as identified by employers and the skills the committee members identified they had learnt such as communication, problem solving, confidence and team work. Of the 935 students on committees 670 completed the leadership survey at the end of the year. 57% of these felt societies would help them find a job and 11% even changed their career path due to involvement in societies. The participants also identified learning other important skills such as empathy, an awareness of global issues, conflict resolution and setting and achieving goals. 74% said they had learnt a new skill. Over 85% of the committee members surveyed said that both they and their society had either fully or to a significant degree achieved the goals they set at the start of the year.

Societies it emerged also play a major role in students completing their education 58% cited that they had at some stage contemplated leaving college due to personal and academic pressures but found the necessary support through societies to remain and complete their year. Societies also help create a more inclusive campus by promoting the establishment small of supportive communities based on shared interest. In the survey 16% of the students surveyed identified themselves as members of a minority group who found a sense of belonging through societies, 44% surveyed made their best friends through societies and 36% found that their involvement in societies kept them focused and helped in all aspects of their life. The other interesting outcome was the contribution societies make to campus loyalty and a sense of belonging 57% agreed that as a graduate they will have great memories of their time in college and 56% stated they felt a strong sense of belonging to the university thanks to their society experiences and 32% even cited their knowledge of societies prior to enrolling had some influence on their choice of university.

With an annual turnover in excess of one million euro, over 4000 events, almost 9,000 student members with over 900 on committees and 80,854 man hours volunteered, as identified by participants of the ALIVE Certificate, it is small wonder that Societies not only play a major role in campus life but in the wider community.

Galway marks Festival of Lights

MORE than 350 people - members of the Indian ex-pat community and friends - will come together to celebrate Diwali - the traditional festival of lights - in Bailey Allen Hall, NUI Galway this Saturday from 4pm.

Organised by the Indian Cultural and Sports Community in Galway in conjunction with IndiasOC NUI Galway, this is first event of its kind in the city and there are also contributions from Indian communities in Loughrea, Ennis and Tuam expecting more than 350 people to take part.

Special guests include the Minister of State for Equality Aodhán O'Riordan; Galway City's Deputy Mayor Cllr Niall McNeillis and Galway West Deputy Derek Nolan for the official unveiling at 5pm.

The festival coincides with the Hindu New Year and normally occurs sometime in late October through mid-November.

For most participants, Diwali is celebrated on Day 3 of the five-day event - hence this year's festival will take place on Saturday and Irish of Indian descent celebrates across the country.

"It's one of the most colourful and significant festivals in Indian culture taking place in family homes and temples of worship," said Praveen Thyarala, one of the event organisers.

Diwali is a time where traditional foods and sweets are shared among family and friends. Homes are often decorated in colourful lights and candles, followed by an evening display of fireworks.

"The name Diwali is itself a contraction of the Sanskrit word Deepavali, which translates as 'row of lamps'. Diwali involves the lighting of small clay lamps filled with oil to signify the triumph of good over evil," added Praveen.

The event includes full Indian vegetarian meal along with plenty of Indian Bollywood music, dance and children/adult/student performances.

Tickets for Diwali are now on sale from Praveen Thyarala on (086) 335 3111 or email icscgalway@gmail.com

Students helping the homeless

Rebecca Maher

news@galwayindependent.com

As thousands of students leave NUI Galway for the summer months, a university society is collecting their unwanted items and distributing them to homeless charity COPE Galway.

Project manager Fionn Delahunty, a final year psychology student at NUI Galway, explains that "charitable work and giving back to society is a core feature of the Rover Society".

At the end of term around 18,000 students will leave Galway, potentially leaving behind a "phenomenal amount of waste", according to Mr Delahunty.

A number of American universities invite departing students to donate unwanted items, which is then distributed to the homeless. After running a small pilot scheme last semester the NUI Galway Rover Society decided to go "all out" this semester, according to Mr Delahunty.

The society have allocated various collection points around the college campus as well as teaming up with student residencies.

"We have collection points on campus, drop off locations. We also have collection points in some of the larger residencies and then we're doing drive-arounds once a week too for those smaller residencies that it's not viable to have a collection point there 24/7."

The group are collecting old linen, duvets, blankets, clothes, coats and non-perishable foods.

To date the society have

Mr Delahunty said they are "absolutely flat out".

"We spent about four hours this morning going around and we had done a collection yesterday and people are just donating so much that we're completely flat out trying to get around and collect it all."

According to Mr Delahunty they are the first society in a university to roll out such a scheme and he said it is "completely unprecedented". He is hopeful of expanding it across the country in the future.

He praised the students and staff at NUI Galway who have supported the initiative.

"Students are really promoting it themselves and they're delighted to see this too. They don't like to dump these things either, especially the international students who have come over and bought so much for our weather to survive in our climate, and they can't take anything home so they're dumping all these things so students are really delighted that they're benefiting the community in a very tangible and feasible way."

This is not the first time the society have done their bit to help the homeless.

Last September they teamed up with a glamping company and collected 1,300 sleeping bags festival goers had left behind at Electric Picnic and donated them to COPE.

The Rover Society will continue to collect unwanted items until 27 May. For more information or to check out their collection and drop off points visit their Facebook page - www.facebook.com/NUIGRoverSoc

Harry Potter Festival returns

NUI Galway's Harry Potter Society will hold their annual convention, PotterFest Galway, on 12-13 March 2016. Two special guests have already been announced, members of TeamStarkid, Brian Holden and Meredith Stepien, who will be travelling from Los Angeles to visit Galway for the weekend.

TeamStarkid is a Chicago-based musical theatre company best known for A Very Potter Musical, a parody of the Harry Potter series. The musical was a viral hit, inspiring two sequels and clocking up 12 million views on YouTube. The troupe produces musical-comedies inspired by pop culture, with original scripts, songs, and music. Darren Criss, who is now widely known for his role as Blaine in Glee, co-founded the company and started his career playing Harry Potter in the musicals.

Brian Holden (Starkid co-founder, who plays Remus Lupin, Hagrid and the Basilisk) and Meredith Stepien (Hermione Granger) will be taking part in an exclusive panel, and will be available for autographs and photographs with visitors. There will also be sing-a-long over the course of the weekend, featuring Harry Potter-inspired hits including "Goin' Back to Hogwarts", "Granger Danger" and "Harry Freakin' Potter".

Tickets for Potterfest are on sale online at www.socsbox.nuigalway.ie and at the Socs Box in Áras na MacLéim. Tickets will also be available at the door during the weekend of the convention. Weekend tickets cost 30 euro for adults and 20 euro for children.

PotterFest Galway is Ireland's only Harry Potter convention. Visitors of all ages will have the chance to experience the magic of the Wizarding World when NUI Galway is transformed into Hogwarts for a weekend of magical fun, with a huge variety of events such as Potter-themed games, cosplay competitions, panels, classes, role-playing workshops and guest speakers on everything Potter.

Visitors will be sorted into their perfect Hogwarts House and attend classes in all of Harry's favourite subjects, from Potions, Transfiguration and Herbology to Defence Against the Dark Arts. There will also be a chance to learn how to play Quidditch with the Galway Grindylows, Ireland's first Muggle University team.

This year the event is being held in aid of Jigsaw Galway, a free, non-judgmental and confidential support service for young people (15-25) living in Galway city and county. The drop-in centre in Galway City provides guidance and support for young people who are going through a difficult or distressing time. They also provide advice and guidance for anyone is concerned about a young person in their life or work.

A feast of student drama

The Irish Student Drama Association Festival, hosted by NUI Galway's Drama Society, will run in Galway from March 14 - 23. The 10-day festival will hold 18 productions in five venues throughout the city including The Mick Lally Theatre, An Taibhdhearc, and The Bank of Ireland Theatre NUI Galway.

The programme features a variety of productions, including such classics as Someone Who'll Watch Over Me and The Beauty Queen of Leenane from the NUI Galway Drama Society and Misterman from Queens University's QU Players.

Over the years, the ISDA has acted as the starting point in the careers of such theatre heavyweights as Michael Colgan, Conor McPherson, Fiona Shaw, Cian O'Brien and Druid director Garry Hynes, as well as other well-known names like actress Pauline McLynn and comedian Chris O'Dowd.

The week will also include panel discussions, movie screenings workshops, murder mystery, and a host of drama related entertainment all wrapping up with the gala awards ceremony on Wednesday, March 23, where the much coveted awards will be announced.

Festival director Oryana Farrell Hickey said that NUI Galway Dramsoc was delighted to host the national awards. "We hope that Galway, with its international reputation for excellent theatre, will join in a feast of drama over the duration of the festival where enthusiasts will get the opportunity to see future dramatists in the making. NUI Galway's Centre for Drama, Theatre and Performance is one of the leading international centres for the study of Irish theatre and offers students and researchers a range of courses in the area of drama and theatre, at undergraduate and postgraduate levels."

Mental Health Week at NUI Galway to challenge stigma

By Jacqueline Hogge

OPENING up the conversation about mental health is the focus of a week-long event taking place in NUI Galway this week.

Mental Health Week kicked off on Monday and runs until Sunday where the university's Psychological Society is leading an extensive programme of events to promote wellness on campus.

Guest speakers, workshops, activities and an information fair are among the highlights of the programme organised by NUI Galway's Societies Office.

Those behind the event are hoping to challenge the stigma associated with mental health and to inspire a student-led shift in campus ethos.

"We hope that the Galway community will come on to campus and join us to help bring about positive change and support our groundswell movement," said Soraya Matthews, NUI Galway student and member of the Psychological Society.

Among the workshops scheduled are mindfulness, coping with stress, and domestic violence while the Film Society have organised a number of screenings on the themes of adolescent loneliness and introversion.

A wellness and mental health fair will also be held, featuring stands from various support and counselling services with a Towards a Mentally Healthy Campus panel discussion which features a presentation from Teresa Hannify from Please Talk and a panel of experts including Emer Connaughton of Mental Health Ireland, Gillian Karwig of Reach Out Ireland and NUI Galway professionals working in the field.

For further details on NUI Galway's Mental Health Week log on to www.nuigstudents.ie or call the SocsBox on 091 492852.

'Funky Seomra's' sober socialising attracted up to 100 students to debut Galway event.

THIRST FOR SOBER FUN

■ 'Funky Seomra' brings sober socialising to Galway students

BY STEPHEN CORRIGAN

SOBER socialising arrived in Galway last Saturday night with David Mooney, creator of Dublin's well-known 'Funky Seomra' dancing event, performing at NUI Galway's Bank of Ireland Theatre - in conjunction with the college's Sober Society.

According to David, the idea for this came about when he lost interest in drinking but still wanted to 'go out' at the weekends, only to find there was nowhere for him to go.

"We started seven years ago in Dublin when there was virtually nowhere in the city centre to go socialising outside clubbing; I love going out to clubs but I found the less I drank, the less fun I had - then I had this idea to set up a nightclub where there was no alcohol," he explained.

'Funky Seomra' - described as a mini festival by those involved with the event - brings together the music and dancing of standard clubs with an organic café with food provided by the famed Wicklow brothers at the 'Happy Pear', a coffee and juice bar, and a combination of live music and multiple DJs.

"We didn't want to lose that sense of going out on a Saturday night," said David.

In an attempt to get more young people experiencing sober socialising, contact was made with NUI Galway and together with the Sober Society, the event was organised for students and anybody else who may be intrigued by the idea of partying without alcohol.

According to Aisling Reidy, Secretary of Sober Soc, the night was a huge success with at least 80-100 students and Galway people in attendance.

Sober Society was set up in the last year as a response to a large number of students looking for other means of socialising, without feeling the pressure to drink.

Aisling believed the idea that drink must be consumed to have fun is slowly fading, with events like this becoming hugely popular in cities like Dublin and London.

She pointed out that these events are not just for people who don't drink but also for those who want a good night out without consuming alcohol.

"It's a lot of fun, it's playful, it's not as loud as a normal nightclub and there's a lot of dancing - and there are some great dancers in Galway," she exclaimed.

Aisling admitted that people who associate drinking as a key factor to a night out may be nervous at first, but she claimed that those nerves go and everyone enjoys the night, and more importantly, suffers less the morning after.

"You wake up the next day with no hangover, you remember what you said and you remember who you were talking to, and they remember you too," said Alice.

Funky Seomra will be back in Galway in April or May for those who missed it this time around. More details can be found on the website dancefree.ie

Dancing to start the day

BY KERNAN ANDREWS

HECTOR Ó hEOCHAGÁIN will MC Morning Galwayville - a new, dance based, initiative to help people to stay in good mental and physical health - which takes place in the Cube, Áras na Mac Léinn, NUI Galway.

The first Morning Galwayville is on Wednesday January 27, from 6.30am to 10am, with music from world music DJ Will Softly. Dance is a way to exercise, feel free, let go of pent up energy, and a fun way to start the day. There will also be yoga (with Paul Hardiman from 7am to 8.30am), massage, healthy snacks and drinks.

Admission is €3 for students and €10 for others.

BY JESSICA THOMPSON

THERE'S something for everyone in NUI Galway's Dance Society, according to the society's auditor, Ryan McCarthy, who has extended an invitation to students and graduates of the university to join one of its fastest-growing societies.

Run in accordance with NUI Galway's Society Office, DanSoc aims to provide a safe and creative space for students and graduates to learn how to dance, exercise or just meet new people while taking part in various dance classes, including Hip Hop, Irish Dancing, Contemporary Dance, Ballet and Jazz.

"As a student society, DanSoc thrives on an influx of fresh, new faces and new talent. If you have a good ear for music, a good eye for design or you pride yourself on your moves, then we have a place for you," said Ryan, who has been part of the society for four years now.

Ryan himself never envisioned himself joining DanSoc when he started college. But when he went to the Societies Day, the friendliness of the society members and the great music coming from their stand was too much to resist.

He went to one of the classes "as a joke" and "never looked back". They were so welcoming, he said, and it didn't matter that he wasn't a dancer. Four years later, he's the auditor of the society.

"We have dancers that have been dancing ballet and contemporary since they were four and people who have never danced before. It's one of those societies that's just very open to all standards and all walks of life," he said.

"No matter who you are, you're going to be welcomed with open arms. And that's something that we've held near and dear for the last few years, and this year, we want to expand it a little bit more.

"We're thinking of holding workshops for kids and bringing them in and just teaching them a couple of eight-counts and getting them active - getting the brains working a little bit and get that creative side flowing."

DanSoc has a core group of 40 or 50 dancers who get on really well. But there are several other society members who come to the showcases and events, and show their support at the national competitions.

"It's a community and that's what I loved about the society when I first came into it. It was that immediate sense of community.

"It changed my whole perspective on college and the college experience. And it changed my whole attitude towards fitness as well. Fitness does not at all have to be going to the gym and lifting weights and going for a half an hour run and trying to beat 5k or your personal best. It's fun and you meet some great people."

Because the society has such a variety of classes - from ballet to jazz, hip hop to Zumba - the society meets seven or eight times a week, with many of its members enjoying the society so much that they go to every class.

And then there are those who don't dance at all. Surprisingly, you don't have to dance to be a member of DanSoc. While there are many dancers in the society, who love to perform on stage and compete in the intervarsities, there are many who bring other skills to the table.

"People have this misconception that you have to be a dancer to join the Dance Society. Whereas last year we had people who were DJs, people who were interested in making costumes, people who were interested in doing makeup or hair," said Mr McCarthy.

"So, this year we're trying to take advantage of the few people we have at the moment and have them hold workshops, so if you're not interested in dancing or you don't want to perform, you can end up doing our DJ workshop, which will probably end up being in collaboration with the DJ Society.

"We're going to try and get Style Soc in and we hope to do a fashion show that will get them involved. So, we have big plans for getting people involved who aren't dancers. Because I didn't think I was a dancer. I ended up fitting into the dance side of things, but I'm very interested in music production, so that's a route that I'm hoping to go down this year."

The society has been growing from strength to strength over the last number of years. Two years ago DanSoc had around 700 members. Last year that number was upward of 1,000 members. This year, the DanSoc committee are hoping to increase that number again.

Those interested in dancing, mixing music, having fun or even competing at a national level in one of the six styles of dance can get more information on the DanSoc Facebook page or by emailing dansoc@gmail.com.

Appendix 11: ALIVE Report

The total number of students receiving ALIVE certs for volunteering through the societies is 560.

The total number of hours volunteered by society ALIVE participants is 104445 which is the equivalent of 60 full time workers and only represents a percentage of the total number of students on committees.

This year to date Societies have posted 2631 events to the society calendar.

The Societies Leadership Programme is now in its second year, it requires societies to set goals, attend training, achieve a certain level of activity and membership and fulfill set criterion. This year we integrated the Society Leadership award with the ALIVE Certificate as an add on to the Cert the students will receive for other volunteering opportunities.

As of going to print 239 committee members are eligible for their Leadership Award.

We increased the amount of training this year and ran training opportunities throughout the year.

As part of the national societies organisation BICS Train your trainer weekend hosted by NUI Galway we trained 6 new society trainers to roll out additional training during the year.
